OUTING PARTIES

Number of Lowell People Had a Grand Time

Today was a gala day for thousands of Lowell people and residents of the surrounding towns. There were trolley trips, outings, fishing parties and various other forms of amusement enjoyed.

Knights of Columbus
The Knights of Columbus held an outing at their well appointed summer grounds, the Genoa club, the members of the Highland club are having their annual outing at the Martha Luther camp, "up the river," several fishing parties went off this morning and there are parties being held at Canobie Lake park and Willow Dale.

Highland Club Outing
This is the day of the annual outing of the Highland club, and more than 100 of its members are making merry at the Martha Luther grounds in Tyngsboro. The pleasures of the outing proper were preceded by a sail up the river on the steamer Gov. Allen. The steamer left the Vesper club wharf shortly after 1 o'clock. Lunch was served immediately upon the arrival of the boat at the grounds and then the boys prepared for the sports, the ball game being the piece de resistance. Dinner was served at four o'clock and the outing, as a whole, was one of the most successful in the history of the club.

A Midnight Trip

At 12:15 o'clock this morning a party of fishermen headed by Daniel D. Fox of Dracut left Merrimack square for Salem. The trip was made to the City of Witches in about two hours and no time was wasted in boarding the schooner for the fishing grounds. The party is made up of old followers of Isaac Walton, and it is expected that it will be necessary to engage a special train to bring the catch back to Lowell.

Went to Swampscott

Another party of Lowell people who are skilled in fishing left Merrimack square at 6:15 o'clock for Swampscott. The party was under the supervision of Charles A. West, the well known sportsman of the Christian Hill-Powtucketville line of the Boston & Northern and it is said that whenever "Charley" goes off there is plenty doing for his knows where to find the fish.

At Canobie Lake Park

The members of the Chelmsford Centre Methodist church are enjoying an outing at Canobie Lake park today. A large car bearing the party left Chelmsford at 9:05 o'clock this morning and passing through Merrimack square made its way to the park, where a fine list of sports was carried out, and dinner was served.

Outing at Willow Dale

A very pleasant outing held today was that conducted by the members of the Methodist church at West Chelmsford at Willow Dale. The party left West Chelmsford at 8:30 o'clock this morning and enjoyed a trolley ride to Lakeview park, where the steamer was awaiting them, and after enjoying a ride around the lake they were landed at Willow Dale, where the day was spent in a pleasant manner.

Off to Revere

The semi-weekly excursion to Revere beach, held under the auspices of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, was well patronized today. Three special cars well filled with men, women and children, left Merrimack square at 8:15 o'clock for the return trip to and from Revere beach on the evening.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

Passenger Service Restored But Freight is Tied Up

BOSTON, July 21.—With the passenger service restored on practically every line in New England the officials of the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads are today turning their attention to the moving of freight trains and the relieving of the congestion which the tieup has caused at terminal and junction points.

Already the tying up of the freight service on the Central Vermont road has caused the closing down of one mill, a big worsted and woolen establishment in Monson and other establishments are in danger of being compelled to close for lack of supplies.

The congestion in Portland was as serious as at any point on the Grand Trunk system. Portland and its neighboring suburbs depend on the Grand Trunk to haul their beef supply from Chicago and the west and the stopping of the freight trains threatened a beef famine. A hurry call for help was sent to Chicago and the packers were making preparations to send a trainload by some other road when it was announced from Montreal that a beef train would be sent through over the Grand Trunk system. The train left Montreal at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon arriving at Island Pond, Vt., last evening. There the train was delayed for re-loading and was due to start again for Portland this morning.

Because of the strike the German steamship Rheingard will sail from Myrtle wharf this morning with only a portion of the cargo which was booked. Ten carloads of soaked oats, 12,000 bushels, which were to have made up a part of their cargo, are stalled at White River Junction, Vt., and will not arrive in Boston at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Reports of desertion on the part of some of the imported strikebreakers are being received from some points but more are arriving to fill their places and the railroads claim that they have more applicants for positions than they can care for.

THE FREIGHT SITUATION

MONTREAL, July 21.—"Freight" continued to be the slogan and the problem in the Grand Trunk railroad strike today.

The five thousand striking conductors and trainmen continued to be absent from public view. Their leaders, speaking for them, reaffirmed that all are quietly awaiting an expected time when the railroad will find resumption of its freight business impossible.

At company headquarters, however, there was optimistic persistence in high pressure work in freight crew construction, freight yard clearance and betterment of the local suburban passenger service partially resumed yesterday and it was stated that the strikers had been eliminated wholly from the situation. A bird's eye view from the Grand Trunk's four thousand mile system from Portland, Me., to Detroit and in New England showed distinct improvement in conditions. It was said, with the freight problem, however, admittedly slow in solution.

From the viewpoint of many cities and towns affected the freight situation is increasingly serious. Ice companies are unable to get ice. The Canadian Pacific is avoiding possible trouble by refusing to run ice cars on Grand Trunk sidings. Much perishable freight in yards and on sidings seems doomed to destruction. At Stratford, Ont., 200 men have been thrown out of work by the closing down of packing and milling companies.

secretary of the committee on fuel supply of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and it was as a result of this conversation that Mr. Greenleaf issued the good showing made by the Lowell Electric Light company in the test that included public service corporations in Boston and New York.

The committee secretary told Mr. Greenleaf that the committee would like to encourage him in his work and to assist him in any way. Mr. Greenleaf was given a smoke abatement report which includes a copy of the chart prepared by the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Plotting Out Chimneys
Mr. Woodworth of the A. L. Brooks Co., corner of Dutton and Fletcher streets, called at the city hall this forenoon to talk with Smoke Inspector Greenleaf. Mr. Woodworth climbed the city hall tower with the smoke inspector and they spent two hours there plotting out chimneys.

Immediately upon receipt of the smoke nuisance ordinance sent him by the smoke inspector, Mr. Woodworth and the company's engineer got busy on designs for grates to reduce the smoke from their plant and he says they have succeeded admirably. Mr. Greenleaf visited the plant yesterday and found that the grates are a perfect pattern had been installed and he found, too, that the smoke had been very perceptibly reduced.

Letter to Mr. Southworth
Mr. Greenleaf received a letter from Mr. Southworth of the Massachusetts mills in which it was stated that the mills must smoke as they are doing for some months or shut down, and to this letter Mr. Greenleaf has made the following reply:

July 19, 1910.
Mr. W. S. Southworth, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of July 18th I wish to say that while I have not marked your company as a heavy offender I have records of certain violations which are rather excessive, note of which I enclose, and to which I invite your attention.

As I have already explained to Mr. Wadleigh of the Merrimack, it is not the desire of the police of this city to persistently hound any corporation or concern, but to insist upon the observance of the smoke laws, by reasonable methods, within a reasonable period of time; nor is there any wish to resort to legal measures, though in the event of wilful and flagrant disregard of the requirements prosecution will follow.

In regard to your statement that you must either smoke as you are doing for some months to come or shut down your mills, I can only say that the elimination of smoke would prove a valuable asset to your company rather than a cause for any such extreme action as you suggest, for it is a well established fact that smoke represents an absolute loss of from 5 to 20 per cent of the heat energy of a boiler; therefore, you will realize that the enforcement of the smoke law is at the same time a considerable service to you.

Very truly yours,
Roy W. Greenleaf, Inspector.

HAD LARGE FAMILY

Charles Lajoie Had 19 Children and 16 Are Alive

Charles Lajoie, 53 years old, and the father of 19 children, was busily engaged in making coal bags out of great long strips of canvas when a reporter for The Sun dropped in at his coal office, 230 Lincoln street, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Lajoie has been in the coal business in Lowell for several years and he owns 8000 square feet of land in the vicinity of the Lincoln street crossing where his office is located. He has been very successful in the coal business, but he will have to move his office as a portion of his land is needed by the railroad in connection with the grade crossing work that is going on in Lincoln street. The front of his lot will be included in the grade work, while a track will extend through the side portion of his lot.

The man who is attending to land damages for the railroad called on Mr. Lajoie a few days ago and asked him how much he would ask for a certain number of feet front and a certain number of feet side. "If you wanted to buy my horse's head, I would ask just as much for the head as for the whole horse," was Mr. Lajoie's answer, and when told that the railroad would not think of buying the whole lot, our friend Lajoie gave a characteristic shrug of the shoulders and said: "We will see."

It was not for the purpose of learning what effect the grade crossing work would have upon his business, however, that the reporter called on Mr. Lajoie. The Roosevelt instinct had taken possession of the scribe, and he wanted to query Mr. Lajoie about his family.

The reporter learned that 16 of the

Young Man And Two Girls Arrested in Vacant Shed

Constable John J. Condy of Tyngsboro made three arrests not far from Mountain Rock this morning when he found two young girls and a young man occupying a shed belonging to the Boston & Northern street railway company. The trio were sent to the station and gave their names as Paul Merrill, Leah King and Eunice King. They were charged with occupying a building that they had been ordered to keep away from. They were also charged with disorderly conduct.

The man was sentenced to two months in jail, and the two young women were sentenced to a term in the women's prison at Sherborn. Most of the testimony was of such a character that it could not be published, but according to Constable Condy there has been too many irregularities in the vicinity of Mountain Rock and Lakeview, and he and the other authorities are desirous that these people must keep away from the towns of Tyngsboro and Dracut.

Other Cases

Judge Pickman presided over the session of the police court this morning, and found awaiting his attention several domestic difficulties which he quickly and satisfactorily adjusted. Francis R. McMahon, found guilty of non-support of his wife at Wednesday's session of the court, was before Judge Fisher and fined $50. He appealed from this sentence, and was held in $200 for the superior criminal court.

GOING IN PRISON WOMAN MURDERED

Counterfeiters Said to be at Work in the State Prison

A Boston paper had the following story this morning:

An outfit for making counterfeit money and a lot of bogus half dollars ready for "showing" have been discovered in the Charlestown state prison. Amazed by the impudent daring of the gang of convicts who had set up their plant and were making and circulating the spurious money under the very noses of the prison officials, Warden Benjamin W. Bridges is having every inch of the prison buildings carefully searched. The material for making the alloy, the moulds and a number of the bogus coins have already been discovered.

When seen by a reporter last night the warden was much surprised to learn that any inkling of the startling state of affairs had leaked outside the prison walls, but he refused to discuss the case in any way. Frederick G. Pettigrove, chairman of the prison commission, declared over the telephone from his home in 677 Dudley street, Roxbury, that it was "the height of impudence" to mention the matter to him, but finally admitted an investigation was being made, and that he expected a report from Warden Bridges.

Never before in the memory of the oldest officials of the Charlestown state prison have convicts serving time for various offenses against the law had the nerve to turn counterfeiters and start the manufacture of bad money in the very last place that a sensible man would ever think of looking for.

If any had the nerve it is not on record that any before have ever succeeded in smuggling the necessary outfit past the guards and starting operations in their cells.

How many, if any, of the spurious coins have passed the prison walls, and how long the counterfeiting has been going on, is unknown. No report has yet been made in the United States treasury officials. The chairman of the prison commission, it is understood, gave orders that a thorough investigation was to be made and the plot exposed in all its ramifications before the secret service should be notified or the news become public.

How many convicts were mixed up in the scheme, or the possibility of confederates outside the prison walls, or among the employees, inside, is still a mystery.

A bet on the regular Saturday afternoon baseball game in the prison quadrangle exposed the counterfeiting. The loser paid his bet with a bad half-dollar. The winner didn't like the looks of his winnings. He bit the coin, sounded it and then made a complaint. One of the guards happened to hear the conversation and investigated. Amazed to find a counterfeit coin in the possession of a prisoner he investigated still further. Finally he found a small pasteboard box full of bits of tin, zinc and a number of empty metal vials, such as you pass in a tin. The box was concealed in a prisoner's cell. Plaster of paris moulds for casting half dollars and an outfit of crudely made apparatus for minting the coins from the alloy were also discovered. The inmates of the cell or cells where the stuff was found deny having seen it or knowing anything about it. The most rigid and persistent questioning has not broken down their denials.

In their chagrin over the curious state of affairs the prison officials refused to talk about their discoveries, but it is known that they have not yet succeeded in securing sufficient incriminating evidence to convict any of the prisoners of counterfeiting.

POLICE GUARD

FOR DELEGATES WHO DISCUSSED CHANGING NAME OF TOWN

EVARTS, Vt., July 21.—This village was thrown into no little excitement when it was learned that George Brothers, G. P. Eastman, D. K. Daley, J. H. Dunbar, A. G. Eastman, L. W. Gee, F. L. Gardner and E. W. Haley had quickly left town for Hanover, N. H., to consult President Nichols and Professor Worthen of Dartmouth college, who were appointed arbitrators to settle the controversy over changing the name of this village from North Hartford to Everts.

The delegation returned from Hanover last night under escort of the second constable, as it was feared a hostile movement would occur. However, as far as can be learned, no violence has been shown.

A meeting was held in the village hall last night and the case is still waiting the decision of President Nichols and Professor Worthen. At that time the North Hartford advocates admitted a large majority were in favor of retaining the name Everts, but said the "better element" desired to restore the old name.

At present the name of village, railway station, express, telegraph and postoffice is Everts, and it remains to be seen whether the arbitrators will overrule the majority, public service commission and the postmaster general in approving the change.

It was through the North Hartford people that Congressman Plumley appointed Professor Worthen as an arbitrator.

AEROPLANE LAWYERS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In the development of the professions marching on with the progress of invention, the aeroplane lawyer is about to appear. At the present rate of productivity in aeronautics the volume of litigation will be incalculable. There are now more than 140 applications for patents relating to automatic balance for air craft and hundreds for patents for motor, planes, propellers, skids and other essentials.

"From the present outlook," a patent lawyer said here today, "we will soon have in this country a new crop of aeroplane lawyers, who specialize in the law of the air, who will keep track of the aeroplane patents."

NEW YORK, July 21.—There is something more than a police mystery in the death of Mrs. John Hertelich, found brutally murdered in a house at 6 Norman place, Brooklyn, for the identification of the body by her husband revealed the fact that she had left a home of luxury in Piermont, N. Y., to plunge into the squalor and wretchedness of the surroundings, in which her body was found on Tuesday morning.

In many ways the case resembles that of Elsie Segal, who also came of a prominent family and a good home. Her husband almost faintly with the horror of the shock he received when the body of his wife was shown to him in the Brooklyn morgue. His wife had left her home a year ago, but there was nothing in her previous life to give any indication that she would drop headlong into the life she appeared to have been living just prior to her death.

In Piermont she had been known as a woman of high ideals, of a devoted literary turn of thought, and apparently devoted to her husband, her two children and to her church.

In Norman place she was the associate of Greek street peddlers and others of the lowest social status, and was murdered by one of them, according to the theory of the police, in an outburst of jealous rage.

The body of the woman was found on Tuesday morning, but there was no one in the place who could tell anything concerning her. She was known in the house at 6 Norman place, and also as May Faulkner, but as those in the neighborhood are almost wholly foreigners of the poorer class, no attempt ever had been made to learn who or what she was.

The newspaper accounts of the murder, however, brought to New York her husband, John Hertelich, who has been searching incessantly for his wife since her disappearance a year ago.

As soon as he had recovered from his collapse Mr. Hertelich told the police the story of his wife's strange lapse from the prim and precise life of the wife of a merchant in the country town to the squalid existence of Norman place.

His wife never had shown any inclination for life in New York city, he said, but about a year ago she started from home for a shopping trip to this city. As she kissed her two children good-bye she told them she would return that evening.

She never returned. A short time before Mr. Hertelich had sold a house and had hankered the proceeds in his wife's name. There was in all nearly $10,000, all of which she took with her when she left.

Just what course she followed after that can only be surmised. No one could be found who could remember how long she had lived at 6 Norman place, some asserting that she had been there nearly a year.

That she had spent all the money she had taken from Piermont was evident from the fact that many pawn tickets for pieces of jewelry and clothing were found in the room. The clothing worn by the woman, although in poor condition, was excellent in material and make.

Several Greeks in the neighborhood had been in the habit of calling upon the woman frequently, and one of them, Stevis Polimnatis, a peanut vender, was arrested as a material witness.

It was he who discovered the murder and informed the police.

CIRCUS POSTER

Was the Means of Uniting Lovers

MONTPELIER, July 21.—When the advertising car of the Forepaugh & Wells Bros. circus was in Montpelier yesterday a romance developed from an ordinary circus poster, which today will be the means of uniting at Cleveland, O., a pair of lovers who have been separated 10 years.

In the posting crew was Dick Simpson of Paola, Kan. Ten years ago he and Miss Jennie E. Harris were sweethearts at Paola. They were engaged to be married, but she became jealous of him and they parted.

Later he learned that the parents of the girl had met with reverses and had moved to Cleveland, where Miss Harris, forced to earn her own living, had obtained employment with the Morgan Lithograph company. Simpson said he would never return to her until she sent for him, but carried in his watch her faded picture.

While he was posting bills in this city, in opening a poster he came across this message in the handwriting he knew so well:

"Dick, come back. It was all my fault. Jennie E. Harris, 317 East 3d street, Cleveland, O."

How the girl had learned that Simpson was on this car and how she smuggled her message on the poster which she hoped he would handle, Simpson did not stop to inquire. Dropping his poster brushes, he hurried to obtain from Harry B. Graham, the manager, a leave of absence, which was granted at once.

Simpson took the evening train for Cleveland, and said that before the sun went down on the day of his arrival there would be a wedding in which he and Miss Harris would be the central figures.

The 30 other billposters on the car gave Simpson a rousing sendoff and contributed a handsome sum to help him on his way.

APPEAL TO COURT

To Compel a Woman to Sell Him Ice

BOSTON, July 2.—A bill of complaint was filed in the office of the clerk of courts at Cambridge yesterday by Edward Carr, a lawyer in Hingham, against Mrs. Almira Woods of the same town, asking for an injunction restraining her from refusing to sell him ice from any of the teams of the company of which she is proprietor. Carr claims that the men in the employ of Mrs. Woods have repeatedly refused to sell him any ice, even when they have been requested by him in person and after he has written letters of complaint to Mrs. Woods. He also claims that they have repeatedly hurried past his home when they have been signalled to stop, and have not come to a stop within 75 feet of his house. As the ice company owned by Mrs. Woods is the only one in the town, this greatly inconveniences him.

With the bill is included a letter from Carr to Mrs. Woods, stating that if her employees refused to deliver him ice any longer and that if he did not receive any before July 13, he would take legal action. Action was brought in the district court and is now pending. Carr asks for twenty-five pounds of ice every other day.

A fine program of sports was carried out and an excellent dinner was enjoyed.

Hires

Means Health and Purity

Two questions alone are vital in the use of any beverage—Is it pure? Is it healthful?

The ingredients used in the manufacture of Hires are personally selected by its inventor, every one possessing a known health value. Many of them could be had at less than half their cost, but they would be less than half as good. The flavor—by which you judge—would be there, but the quality—by which we judge—would not.

Hires could not be made in cleaner vessels by cleaner methods—the tanks are glass-lined, the pipes are solid block tin, the water distilled and the workmen are clean—all under the constant supervision of a practical chemist—a graduate and formerly a professor in one of our foremost technical colleges.

Hires is pre-eminent in healthfulness and purity. It aids digestion and relieves indigestion. Without a trace of false stimulants or irritants such as soap bark, etc.

But don't ask for rootbeer—ask for Hires and thus be sure to get the only genuine rootbeer.

ANOTHER DROWNING

GORDON WILBUR MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING

Gordon N. Wilbur Formerly of Lowell Drowned Near Lawrence

Gordon N. Wilbur, a clerk employed by the Hall Paint & Hardware company, 381 Essex street, Lawrence, was drowned in the Merrimack river about 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Cox's landing, about half a mile west of Glen Forest.

Wilbur and a companion were spending the half holiday at a camp. They hired a boat and rowed out into the stream. After rowing around a while they decided to go in for a swim and returned to the shore. Wilbur, who could not swim, was in and stepped into a hole and sank from sight.

Wilbur's companion, who remained in the boat, saw him come up once but could not reach him in time to save him.

The Methuen police were immediately notified and Harry Nimmo, Leavitt, J. T. Dugdale, Arthur Connors and Harry Dowding hurried to the scene.

They sought for the body with the aid of grappling hooks and a net but without avail. At 8.30 o'clock the search was given up for the day but it was renewed this morning.

The deceased went to Lawrence from Lowell about a year ago. He is survived by his grandmother and an aunt in Lowell. He made his home in this city but had a room on Essex street, Lawrence, near his place of employment. He was about 25 years old. He came to Lowell from Amherst, N. B.

Mrs. Nell McPhail of this city is the grandmother of Gordon Wilbur, the young man who was drowned near Glen Forest yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McPhail is housekeeper for Dr. Bass in Tyler street, and it was but yesterday that she received a postal card from him, asking her to meet him in Lawrence today. Mrs. McPhail took a great interest in her grandson, and assisted him in many ways. The news of his sad and sudden death was a great shock to her. Mr. Edward Spaulding went to Lawrence this forenoon to arrange for the forwarding of the body to this city.

L. E. H. ALUMNI

The Lowell Evening High school Alumni held its annual midsummer dancing party at Willow Dale last evening and it was made clear that the association is very popular for about three hundred were present to enjoy the evening's program.

The decorations were composed of bunting and lanterns making the place picturesque. The music for dancing was furnished by Hubbard's orchestra and during the evening Mr. John Manchester, the popular baritone, favored the party with pleasing selections.

The success of the affair was due to the energetic work of the following officers:

Ernest P. Parsons, president; Elliot F. Wood, chairman of the dance committee; Anna F. Conley, vice president; Madeline F. Flinders, financial secretary; Lilian Hobbs, secretary; dance committee, Elliot F. Wood, Anna A. Conley, Ernest P. Parsons, William Queenan, Madeline F. Flinders, John L. McDermott, John H. Shea, Katherine Minnehan, Marjette Shea, Mary Burns, Lulu A. Hart, Kittie M. Conley.

Painter Hurt

Alfred Barrett, a painter residing at 108 C street, while at work on a house at 93 Mt. Vernon street this morning, fell and sustained an injury to one of his eyes. He was removed in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital where the wound was dressed after which he went to his home.

SUIT SETTLED

Defendant Asked For Sum of $10,000

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., July 21.—The $10,000 damage suit arising from an automobile accident of Luther H. Barber of Brattleboro against James N. White of the Wilcox & White company, musical instrument manufacturers of Groton, Conn., which opened before the U. S. district court at New-Haven, Conn. yesterday morning, came to a sudden termination in the afternoon when counsel announced that a settlement had been effected whereby judgment would be ordered for the defendant with costs.

It is understood the insurance company in which the defendant carried a liability policy was to be made a co-defendant, and that the settlement was satisfactory to the company. No intimation is given of the amount.

Testimony was introduced at the morning session to show the condition of the automobile in which the plaintiff was riding with the defendant and Mrs. Burnett of Dummerston, Vt., on May 10, 1909, when the accident occurred, near Berlin, Conn., in which Mr. Burnett was killed by the car turning over and Mr. Barber severely injured, including the puncturing of his left leg.

Mr. White, called as a witness by the plaintiff, testified that he had business dealings with Mr. Barber and that Mr. Barber went to Meriden, Conn., the day before the accident. He explained that he was taking Mr. Barber and Mr. Burnett on an automobile ride to Hartford, Conn., when the accident occurred.

Mr. White testified regarding the condition of his automobile and the steering gear, which the plaintiff declared was defective.

The defendant acknowledged that his son-in-law had charge of repairing the machine and told him that he would have the steering gear repaired.

Witness said his chauffeur, Edward Ives, was about 21 or 22 years old. He knew him two years before the accident and had employed him about three months at that time.

Mr. White told of doing all that he could for the welfare of Mr. Barber while he was in the quarry at Berlin, Conn., from May 12 to May 30.

Recess was then taken and no more witnesses were called, the settlement followed reassembling in the afternoon.

MAN KILLED

HE WAS CRUSHED BY TONS OF ROCK

RUTLAND, Vt., July 21.—Ira Baker, 19 years old, unmarried, was killed last night at the quarry of the Greenland Marble company, West Rutland, and the two men who were working with him, Elmer Powers and Edward Gurry, were injured.

The men were working in the pit, when without warning 25 tons of rock fell from the side of the quarry. Baker was caught under the mass of stone, but the others got out of the way, and escaped with slight injuries.

The manager of the quarry put 25 men on to remove the mass of stone under which Baker's body lies.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR IN HONOR OF MISS MEVIS

Miss Gladys W. Mevis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mevis of 38 Methuen street, was 15 years old yesterday and the event was delightfully observed. The birthday observance took on the appearance of a lawn party and the scene was a very charming one. There was dancing on the green, games were indulged in, refreshments were served and the good time continued during the afternoon and evening. Miss Gladys was the recipient of many beautiful birthday gifts, including an elegant gold watch from her brother George.

Among those present were Misses A. Lina Owen and Anna E. Rhyer of Chelmsford, Marion G. Giff, Marie J. C. O'Donnell, Helen E. Hickey, Irene Ward, Lucie Witham and Margaret E. Cutting of Lowell and Miss Alice A. Sheehan of Fitchburg, Mass.

BOY IS DYING

He Was Hanged for Robber in Wild West Play

BOSTON, July 21.—Edward Trainor, aged 13, of 165 Bridge street, Cambridge, is believed to be dying at the Massachusetts General hospital as a result of hanging himself while playing "Wild West" near his home yesterday afternoon.

Trainor was playing in the yard in the rear of 123 Bridge street with a number of boys of his age. All the exciting adventures of the "Wild West" were tried out. Some one suggested that a "robber" be hung, at a time when the play dragged, and Young Trainor volunteered for the part of the robber. Standing upon a stone under a high crossbar in the back yard, he allowed his companions to tie him to the bar under his armpits with pieces of strong twine. Thinking this was not realistic enough, he tied the string around his neck too.

While the boys were dancing around the captive in glee the stone rolled from under Trainor's feet and he was suspended in air. The weight of his body broke the string under his armpits but that around his neck held, and he swung too and from before the gaze of his frightened companions.

Their clamor called to the scene Mrs. Mary Sullivan. She thought the children were only playing, but when she saw Trainor hanging by his neck from the bar, she rushed to the spot and cut the string.

Trainor dropped apparently lifeless to the ground. An ambulance was summoned, and the boy was taken to the hospital. He was still unconscious at midnight.

BOARD OF TRADE

CONTINUES TO ADD TO ITS MEMBERSHIP

The board of trade is doing great work as was evidenced at the regular weekly meeting of the membership committee held at the Park hotel yesterday noon, when seven new names were added to the already large list of an up to date and flourishing membership. The total number added to the membership since the committee began work a few weeks ago is 60. It is purposed to finish up the summer campaign for new members before the annual outing Aug. 1, so that a new work is necessary to bring the membership up to the number purposed at the beginning of the campaign before the date of the outing. Several members of the committee who have not attended the committee meetings, offered excuses for being absent, were dropped from the committee and new names substituted. It was felt that this step was necessary in justice to those members of the committee who were doing the work. Each member of the committee will be urged to bring in at least two new names, at each weekly meeting from now on. Following is a list of the names submitted yesterday:

D. Smith, 411 Middlesex street; Geo. L. Cady, Jr., 150 Mt. Vernon street; Wm. T. Wiggin, M. D., 615 Wymann's Exchange; Haven G. Hill, Esq., 11 Hill-garth building; H. C. McCosker, 123 Central street; H. E. Adams, Coffey Bros.; John H. Burke, 32 Coburn street.

CHINA'S REPLY A PEPPERELL WOMAN

To the Russo-Japanese Convention is Announced

PEKING, July 21.—China's reply to the announcement of the recently concluded Russo-Japanese convention was delivered at the legations of these two countries today. As had been expected the Peking government does not fail to point out its satisfaction at the expressed purpose upon the part of Russia and Japan to adhere to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty and over the mutual pledge for the maintenance in Manchuria of the status quo and the principle of the open door for commercial development. In this connection China lays special emphasis upon article III of the Portsmouth treaty which reads as follows:

(1) to evacuate completely and simultaneously Manchuria except the territory affected by the lease of the Liou-Tung peninsula in conformity with the provisions of additional article I annexed to this treaty, and (2) to restore entirely and completely to the exclusive administration of China all portions of Manchuria now in the occupation or under the control of the Japanese or Russian troops with the exception of the territory above mentioned. The government of Russia declares that it has not in Manchuria any territorial advantages or preferential or exclusive concessions in impairment of China's sovereignty or inconsistent with the principle of equal opportunity.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two Men and Two Women Were Nearly Killed

MADISON, Wis., July 21.—Two men and two young women, the latter of New York city, had narrow escapes from death early today when the automobile in which they were returning to Guilford from a ride through the country struck the west abutment of the Hammond river bridge and landed bottom side up in shallow water. One of the men was carried down in the car and seriously hurt. The others either jumped or were thrown out and suffered only minor injuries. The party included Miss Elizabeth Harvey and her sister, Miss Ellen Harvey of New York, who are spending the summer with their parents at a cottage at Mulberry Point, Guilford, Robert Butler of Guilford and Burgess Starr, chauffeur for Frank Gerish of New York, owner of the automobile. Butler, who fell with the car and was pinned under it, was the most seriously injured. His leg was broken and he suffered severe bruises about the head and body.

Was Ordered Held for the Grand Jury

SANFORD, Me., July 21.—Mrs. Loretta Kimball, wife of William Kimball of East Pepperell, Mass., was before the municipal court here yesterday, charged with attempting to introduce a luskaw into Alfred jail for the purpose of adding Albert E. Bailey of Pepperell to escape.

Bailey is held at Alfred for the September term of the supreme court charged with breaking and entering and larceny at South Herwick. Sheriff Charles O. Emery, who is also jailer, suspected from the correspondence between Bailey and Mrs. Kimball that a saw would be sent to Bailey in a newspaper. Last Thursday, in a parcel addressed to Bailey, a saw was found wrapped in a newspaper. The writing on the parcel and the letter which followed were similar.

The sheriff procured a warrant from Judge Hanson of the Sanford court, and when Mrs. Kimball appeared he placed her under arrest and she was held for a hearing yesterday. Mrs. Kimball retained Ruggles S. Higgins as counsel, and in court admitted the authorship of the letter and also said that she sent the newspaper depositing it in the rural free delivery box at her home, but that it was in a different wrapper from that exhibited in court, and she denied all knowledge of the saw.

Mrs. Kimball said she was married and had six children, the oldest 25 and the youngest 10 years old, and that she had known Bailey since he was a child. She said he had been at her home frequently in the past three years and that he had got into trouble through drink. Mrs. Kimball said she had taken an interest in the young man through sympathy and came here to cheer him up. She said that since he had written to her that he was in trouble, she had written him once a week.

Judge Hanson found probable cause and held her for the grand jury at the September term of the supreme court for the sum of $500. It is understood from Mrs. Kimball's counsel that bail will be furnished.

FALL RIVER MILLS

Sold Back $400,000 Worth of Raw Cotton to the Market

FALL RIVER, July 21.—It is stated that Fall River mills have sold and shipped to New York over 5000 bales of cotton within the past few days and that the receipts from these sales will exceed $400,000. This move is unprecedented in the history of the industry in this city, and only an unusual combination of circumstances could have made the disposal of so large an amount possible.

There were a number of mills which had purchased cotton bales to run their plants for the season, but at a price which averaged low in comparison with present quotations. This cotton was not bought in a speculative way or in excess of the requirements of the mills, but for actual use in the intervening months, but prices for goods ruled so low that it became necessary to curtail the output of cloth, and as a consequence the consumption of cotton was proportionately reduced.

Under normal conditions this cotton would have still been kept in the storehouses and used at a later time, but when the opportunity came to sell this cotton for spot cash at a profit of 2 cents a pound, there was no hesitation in taking advantage of the situation and selling as much as could be let out without the necessity of immediate buying to replace it.

Those mills which were in a position to do this have procured a handsome profit and at the same time have a sufficient supply of cotton on hand to meet their requirements, which still shows on their books at an average price per pound of 2 to 3 cents below the present market. In other words, they have lost none of the benefits of the purchases made in the spring, and have at the same time an unexpected and very acceptable profit, which offsets in a large measure the losses in manufacturing.

JAPANESE FORCES BUSY

VICTORIA, B. C., July 21.—Further advances of the little war Japanese are being against Formosan aborigines were brought out by the steamer Awa Maru yesterday. The Japanese forces are now building 307 miles of entrenched lines with blockhouses. The fighting is mostly in thick forests and mountainsides. The Japanese forces went into action at thirty yards, the natives throwing themselves on the bayonets unaware what bayonets were and surprised that they could be placed on rifles. The natives used bullets of wood tipped with lead.

No arrests were made.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

BROOKLINE, July 21.—The fourth day's play in the 20th annual Longwood Cricket club lawn tennis tournament was started today with several leading players of the country meeting in matches that brought the singles to the semi-final stages. One of the most interesting matches this morning was between G. F. Touchard of New York and M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco. No upsets like that of yesterday, when William A. Larned, national singles champion, and W. C. Vreem fell before Beals Wright and Raymond Little, were expected in the eastern doubles championship matches today.

POLICE DROP INVESTIGATION

CHICAGO, July 21.—The Chicago police have dropped the investigation into the death of Ira Rawn, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville railroad (Union). Herma Schuetz, acting chief of police, said today that he was satisfied that Mr. Rawn had committed suicide. He announced his decision after a long conference with the detectives, who had investigated the Winnetka tragedy. The details point to suicide, according to the detectives.

Despite the withdrawal of the Chicago police, the private detectives employed by the Rawn family continued their investigation and steadfastly declared that Mr. Rawn was killed by a burglar.

The suicide theory is believed to have been strengthened by the results of an investigation of Coroner Hoffman. While Mr. Hoffman has not announced his theory of Mr. Rawn's death it is said he tends toward the suicide theory. The bullet hole in Mr. Rawn's night garment has been carefully examined by the police and they said its appearance leads to the suicide belief. The hole is surrounded by bloodstains in which there are several particles thought to be powder marks. If they prove to be powder marks the police think there would be little doubt that Mr. Rawn killed himself.

JUVENILE COURT

Tomorrow morning there will be a special session of the juvenile court in the rooms of the second session. The court will come in at 9 o'clock, and will be presided over by His Honor, Judge John J. These various complaints will be considered by the court and most of them will either be placed in the hands of the probation officer or allowed to go in charge of the state officials.

THE CITIZEN WHO STANDS AGAINST PROGRESS

The citizen who has no real live active interest in the city in which he lives is a clog upon the wheels of progress.

How often have we seen some laudable movement started for the benefit of the city only to be blocked by some kicker or some obstructionist who for selfish reasons stands out in opposition.

The first thing to be determined in such a case is, whether the object is one that will benefit the city as a whole, whether it will benefit the people of the entire city or even of a particular part of it.

We cannot afford to be sectional in such matters. Because a proposed public park would benefit one part of the city more than any other the city council defeated it. That action is sectional and unprogressive.

Let each section be provided for in turn. It is impossible to provide for all at the same time, but the member of the city council who defeats a good proposition for that purpose is injuring, rather than helping the city. There are too many of our city officials ready to pursue a policy of this kind to the detriment of the city. If they have any other good reason of a personal nature they should make it known. We understand the members of the common council urge an excuse for their action the over officious conduct of a certain alderman. If they had any such reason they should have made it known to the public so that their action might not be misjudged.

The proposed auto races is another matter on which there seems to be unnecessary cavilling on some points. To those who go outside of Lowell it is plain that the auto races do Lowell more good than is generally supposed. There are citizens, however, standing upon technical rights who, it seems, should be satisfied if they be secured against all damages as a result of the races.

It would be a great boon to our city if all citizens could work together for the common good once they find a movement in progress that promises to help our city in any form.

The auto races of last year were not a great financial success because a vast amount was spent in improving roads, building bridges, fences and grandstands; but the city was greatly benefited by the reputation it gained outside, and if races are held this year the people will expect something almost as good as they saw last year. Thus the prestige established last year will help the races this year. These are some of the reasons why we regret that there is any opposition as it militates directly against Lowell in tending to spoil an opportunity to keep her name to the front and give her a reputation that she never could attain in any other way.

We stand greatly in need of a little public spirit and local pride that will shame the chronic growlers into support of a policy that will benefit the city as a whole and extend her good name at home and abroad.

SLEEPING IN THE OPEN AIR

The habit of sleeping outdoors is becoming quite common with physicians and others who understand its health preserving and curative qualities. We have many physicians in Lowell, including some of the oldest men in the profession, who sleep on their verandas at night. In this they set a good example, for it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the benefits to be derived from sleeping in the open air are very great.

What is known as the "open air treatment" has been found to be the only treatment that can be relied upon to check or cure tuberculosis in the early stages.

The benefits derived by the patients who are treated in the tuberculosis camp of the Lowell General hospital illustrate the advantages of sleeping in the open air. Of course the patients receive a general dietetic treatment at the same time; but this treatment given under other conditions would not have the beneficial effects shown when the patients sleep in the open air.

Sleeping outdoors is recommended by some of the best health authorities in the country. It is resorted to by those in good health in order that they may escape disease and by those who are sick that they may get well.

Dr. Carrington of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis says: "Outdoor sleeping is not a fad nor is it to be considered only as a means of curing disease. Thousands of healthy families have their sleeping porches in connection with their bed-rooms."

Many other eminent physicians give similar testimony to the health giving effects of outdoor sleeping. The people have not yet become sufficiently accustomed to it. In summer there are few difficulties connected with outdoor sleeping. All that is needed under a veranda roof is a little protection for the head and a fly netting. Many do not mind the netting, having no dread of bugs or moths. It is easy to rig up a bed outdoors. The cot bed is a favorite, the same clothing being used or a little heavier than would be required indoors. Those who have no piazza and who live in flats might use the roof of the house for this purpose in summer.

It is plain that this idea of sleeping outdoors will lead to a modification in the construction of our dwellings so as to make ample provision for sleeping outdoors in privacy and security.

The task in winter offers more difficulties as it is not entirely safe to sleep outdoors in all kinds of weather. There might be danger of freezing in bed, but this is avoided by sleeping indoors near an open window so that the full benefit of the fresh air can be obtained. There is a window tent which while it excludes the severity of the weather admits the fresh air about the head of the person who sleeps there, so that the advantages of the outer air are fully enjoyed without the cold, the rain or the blast. Women, owing to their heavier head protection, can risk the rigors of cold weather by sleeping at an open window even better than men.

Altogether this habit of sleeping in the open air is one that is to be encouraged as calculated to do good. Those who reside in the congested districts and cannot avail themselves of the advantages derived from this reversion to the natural condition of living will at least realize more forcibly the value and the necessity of fresh air as one of the first elements of life and health and may at least be expected to pay far greater attention to the important question of ventilation which in many cases has been woefully neglected.

SEEN AND HEARD

A CHANGE OF BAIT

A sun-burned kid, with a tattered lid and a coat a size too large, With a piece of twine for a fishing line, Sits fishing on a large, That's tied to a stake at the edge of the lake.

Where the wavelets gently lap, It's a kind of a sin, but I sit and grin As I watch the little chap Transfix a worm that will wiggle and gurgle.

On the end of his fishing hook, Or a small green frog that he caught in the bog On the other side of the brook.

He's proud of the job of the floating That he's tied to his line with care; There's a sudden wish as he lands his fish From the depths of his hidden lair; It is proudly viewed, and the bait renewed From the can where he keeps his store.

Then he lets it drop with a sudden plop In his eager quest for more, And he gets them, too, for they come to view In the twinkling of an eye; And I'm clean outside for never a one Will come where I'm sitting by.

For, much as I wish, there's never a fish Will rise to my tempting fly, And my brand-new reel, on my rod of steel I've never a chance to try.

For they pass my place to the freckled face Of the lad in the anchored punt—Keep swimming past as I make my cast In my vain and useless hunt.

For a fish that will try to grab my fly And be tempted to its fate, So I go to the spot where the fish are caught, And fish with a silver bait.

Patrons of the Royal Dairy Lunch were much amused one day last week, says the Salem News, to hear the comments of some Outcasts over the bill of fare and their guesses as to what this or that dish on the card was. "New England boiled dinner" attracted the eye of several, and it was most amusing to hear them, guess as to what it would be like when served. One man, when he saw corned beef, cabbage, beans, parsnips, etc., hardly knew what to think of it and was quite astonished to see the whole thing served to him on one dish. Those who sat nearby smiled at the thought of seeing a boiled dinner served with eight or ten small dishes each.

The Oldman enjoyed the meal, was quite appeased by the condition of his plate when time was called. He was one of those attending the big teachers' convention in Boston, and no doubt will remember that cabbage dinner as one of the surprises of his Salem trip.

A young husband entered a department store and at last found the counter where woman's handwear was displayed, and, approaching rather hesitatingly, remarked, "I want a pair of gloves."

"How long do you want them?" inquired the businesslike clerk.

"I don't want to rent them; I want to buy them," answered the young fellow.

And then the question arose as to whether the joke was on the young hubby or on the clerk.

THE EARTH, THE MOON, THE COMET

The old Earth was sleepy, and rolled into bed, And the clouds were the pillows under his head; While the Moon, his old wife, stood by with her light, And tucked him up snugly and bade him "good-night."

But neither the Earth nor the Moon was aware There was coming a Star with a singular glare, And a terrible fall, across their track, That wasn't set down in their almanac.

But the Moon soon awoke and discovered this Star Plunging along through the night from afar, And she nudged her husband, and bade him look out, For a dery monster was roaming about!

And nearer and nearer the Comet came, With his blazing head and tail of flame, Some millions of miles in length they say, And the poor Earth trembled in sore dismay.

For the Comet was robed in fire and mist, And growled and glared and doubled his fist, 'Till the Earth's round face grew long with affright, And the Moon in her terror let fall her light!

But all of a sudden their terror was gone, For the Comet wheeled by on his way to the sun; And they laughed to see him go bearing his hair For away in the distance in rage and despair.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the Earth, and "Ho, ho!" cried the Moon, "I don't think you'll scare us again very soon. You make a great show in the sky as you pass, But astronomers say you are nothing but gas!"

RIGHTS OF PITTMAN

(Brockton Times.) William Pittman, the Bostonian, captured by the Madrid forces while operating in the Nicaraguan hostilities, has been a checkered time of his life, but as this been more fortunate than Groce and Cannon, the Americans who lost their lives through execution after capture. It was this act and the American indignation it caused, which led to the flight of Zelaya, and is the cause of his being an exile today. It is apparently the desire of those responsible as Zelaya's successors, and also those identified with Nicaraguan affairs in any way, to be more careful how they conduct themselves before critical American eyes.

Immediately upon Pittman's capture, warnings were given that the United States would not tolerate the ordering of anything likely to lead to a repetition of the Groce and Cannon case. More recently, when it was found that Pittman was being neglected in captivity, subjected to hunger, unwholesome surroundings and other hardships, notice was immediately given that the wrongs complained of be righted, and it is understood, under the surveillance of the American consul on the ground, prompt head has been given to Uncle Sam's demands. It is not more than right, whatever the status of the American under the laws of war as later to be found. Americans certainly don't want discoveries of rights of their fellow citizens to be availed of. Safeguarding them, Pittman, until his proper status can be justly and regularly established, is simply an ordinary act of prudence and justice, to be backed to the limit of American resources.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT—AND WHY

(Johnstown Democrat.) That there is a system in this country and that the republican powers in Washington are faithful servants of it has been borne out by facts for several years, but if the insurgents and Democrats control the next congress, as now seems assured, some relief from its criminal operations may confidently be expected. One thing may come in the postoffice department, where conditions are a disgrace to civilization.

We have before us the latest issue of La Follette's Weekly in which Herman B. Walker, a noted Washington correspondent, has a lengthy article entitled "Why We Have a Postal Deficit." Mr. Walker finds that last year the United States postoffice did business at a loss of about $17,500,000.

Keep those figures in mind. On American railroads today, mail and express cars are loaded in the same trains, and the government pays the railroads anywhere from three to five times as much for hauling the mail cars as the express companies pay for hauling express cars. This is not mere assertion. It is a notorious fact. It is a long-standing scandal.

Thus it is easy to account for the $17,500,000 deficit. The Wells-Fargo Express company last year divided profits of $3,800,000 among its stockholders. In addition to paying an annual 10 per cent dividend of $800,000, the Wells-Fargo company, in 1909, paid an extra dividend of 300 per cent out of its surplus profits. This is the company's own report. It is official.

It is another fact: We carry magazines from New York to Chicago, by mail, for one cent a pound, and pay the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transportation. The express companies carry magazines the same distance, at the same rate, and pay a pound—and pay the railroads less than half a cent a pound for transportation. To put it in another way, the railroads carry magazines for the express companies for less than half a cent a pound, but when magazines are sent by mail the railroads charge the government four and a half cents a pound for the same service!

The railroads make large profits in hauling magazines for express companies at less than half a cent a pound and the express companies, which carry an even cent a pound for hauling magazines, pay the government dividends to their stockholders. Yet in spite of all this the postoffice department pays the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transporting magazines! Thus a fraction more than four cents for every pound of such mail transported represents pure graft. The railroads get it and the sweet-scented government at Washington is content!

It is not any wonder that there is an enormous postal deficit. And it is apparent that the deficit is the deliberate aim of the postal authorities, many of whom no doubt, hold office through the influence of the railroad corporations and therefore are careful not to do anything to hurt the railroads.

Postal deficits are unknown in other great countries. Last year Great Britain cleared up a profit of $22,000,000 in its postal business. Germany made $15,000,000. Russia, the most despised monarchy in the world, also made a profit of $15,000,000 and France turned a profit to its account of $14,000,000. It is estimated by experts that the United States, if it should pay the railroads the same rate the express companies do for transportation, could very materially reduce postal rates and find itself at the close of each year from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 to the good. But this would mean that much less for the railroad interests—and there's the rub.

NEW MEN AND NEW METHODS DEMANDED

[Lawrence American] For many years we have urged the importance of a new system of municipal government for the city of Lowell, calling attention to some of the inherent weaknesses of the present system, and the obsolete methods prescribed by the ancient city charter. It has been urged by men who have apparently been opposed to innovations, that the present system is not at fault, but that it was the men and not the system that were responsible for all the shortcomings registered against the city government. It is true that the human element enters into any system. It may be recent to their trusts, then the best system of municipal government which could be devised would be no safeguard against graft and corruption. But, under a modern and up-to-date city charter, with the referendum and recall, there would be remedies which the citizens of Lawrence do not now possess.

In every case where modern city charters have replaced the old forms, improvement in the personnel of the city governments has been noticed. It is recognized by good citizens generally, the necessity for a radical change in the methods of conducting the city's business.

Better methods will mean better men. Civic spirit must be aroused, for without it, nothing can be accomplished.

LIEUT. FLETCHER

IS THE MARVEL OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The medical officers at the Presidio were astounded yesterday when it developed during the annual physical examination of officers that a new army record had been established by a young lieutenant of the 8th infantry. Violating all laws of physical growth, Lieut. Robert R. Fletcher has in a single year added four inches to his height and 45 pounds to his weight.

A year ago Lieut. Fletcher, at the age of 25, weighed 165 pounds, measured 31 inches around the waist and extended upward to an altitude of six feet. At this time his weight is 210 pounds, his waist measurement is 42 inches and the crown of his head extends to the ambitious elevation of six feet four inches.

Though the men of medicine and science are frankly puzzled, a number of reasons have been ascribed as a possible cause. One officer states that it is possible that a new army ration is responsible.

LAWN PARTY

One of the prettiest lawn parties of the season was held last evening on the grounds of Miss Bessie Dent, 1275 Bridge street, by the Spindle City Lodge, I. O. G. T. The grounds were adorned by Japanese lanterns, artistically strung from tree to tree, and there were other decorations which made the grounds very attractive.

There was music for dancing on the green by hurdy gurdy and games were played by the younger people, all present having a most enjoyable time. Another affair will probably be held some time in the middle of August for the benefit of the lodge. The committee in charge were Miss Edith Young, Miss Jennie Mack, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, Miss Alice McLean, Merton Davis, Fred Osgood, Stephen Taylor and R. Roberts.

TYPHOID FEVER

State Health Boards Take Steps to Suppress Its Ravages

BOSTON, July 21.—"The Importance of Contact Infection" and "Modern Methods of Quarantine" were discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Massachusetts association of boards of health at Gallups Island yesterday afternoon. A committee of five members of the association was appointed to consider steps toward the stamping out of typhoid fever as one of the diseases spread by contact infection.

Shortly after 12:30 the health boat Vigilant left the foot of State street and carried the members directly to Gallups Island, where dinner was in readiness. There were 84 at table. At the business meeting Dr. Henry P. Wiggott presided.

Dr. Charles V. Chapin of Providence was unable to be present, but his paper upon "The Importance of Contact Infection" was read by Dr. Stack. Dr. Chapin pointed out that the term contact infection is somewhat hard to define, as it is not always absolutely direct contact, but by infection of that sort is meant cases where the person transmitting the disease must be close to or have been in contact with someone which later reaches the second person.

Many such cases of typhoid have had apparently no connection with other cases, but close investigation usually shows that there has been "contact." Much of the disease, like others, is spread by contact with cases of a very mild form, which do not become known for some time. Through their ignorance and disregard of sanitation children, like rats and mosquitoes, are great disease spreaders.

Importance of Cleanliness

Dr. Chapin quoted the case of the New York hospital, where a certain disease became widely spread in a mysterious manner, despite all precautions, or supposedly all precautions. It was afterwards found that the trouble was caused by the nurses going from patient to patient without cleansing the hands after having finished with the first one.

The Providence health official laid great stress upon the importance of cleanliness, not only in the hospital, but in the home, hotels, restaurants and among individuals. He gave most convincing evidence of the disease spread by the habit of wetting a pen with the mouth, of moistening the finger to turn the pages of a book, etc., urging the lesson of personal cleanliness as the best-known preventive of the spread of disease.

In dealing with typhoid fever, Dr. Chapin said that about 60 per cent of the cases during the Spanish war were caused by contact infection. He quoted a number of physicians of world-wide fame as practically saying that "the theory of water, air or fly contagion might be excluded and contact infection alone be guarded against in typhoid fever. He said many persons are self-inoculated in typhoid fever by the use of a finger to turn the pages of a book, etc., urging the lesson of personal cleanliness as the best-known preventive of the spread of disease.

Women More Liable

He pointed out that there is nothing to show that tuberculosis is spread solely by the air and said that women are three times as liable to get diphtheria as men because the women are more in contact with it in nursing, etc. Well-washed hands, he said, are far preferable to a wet sheet at the chamber door of a patient. There is urgent need, he concluded, of a propaganda of cleanliness in many of the contagious diseases.

The discussion of the paper was opened by Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, who said he approved of all that the paper contained and that he had personally made studies of the subject with especial reference to mouth spray. His experiments proved, he said, that in such cases the air pollution is not intensive and is confined to the immediate vicinity of the person.

Dr. Jordan of St. Louis said that his personal investigations had caused him years ago to doubt if eruptive diseases, especially smallpox, are spread by direct contact. He gave illustrations coming under his own knowledge to prove his statements and he concluded by telling of the campaign St. Louis is waging against the public drinking cup and the exposure of food unless it is screened against flies.

Relic of the Dark Ages

Dr. G. T. Schwartz of Rhode Island told of the conditions which permit a body having died of one disease to be shipped in a metallic casket by rail to any point for burial, while in other cases none of the precautions will receive the body at all no matter how carefully it is prepared for shipment. Such conditions are relics of the dark ages, he said.

Dr. George Denney of Brookline said

that typhoid fever is recognized as a preventable disease and "it should be the business of the medical profession, not that of the layman, to see that it is stamped out. He made a motion that the association appoint a committee of five of its members to act for it in the matter of taking the proper steps and making such efforts as may be necessary to endeavor to stamp out typhoid fever in this state. Drs. Charles V. Chapin of Providence, George Denney of Brookline, David D. Brough of Boston, Davis of Boston and Tobey of Clinton were appointed.

Dr. Brough of Boston said that he believed smallpox can be conveyed other than by direct contact, but he laid great stress upon the attention which should be given to mild cases of contagious diseases.

Quarantine Practice

Prof. Milton J. Rosenau of Boston spoke upon "Modern Methods of Quarantine," speaking from his experience in such work in both temperate and tropical zones and tracing the growth of the quarantine idea down to the present time. At present, he said, we have only six diseases—yellow fever, cholera, typhoid fever, plague, smallpox and leprosy—against which we enforce a quarantine, and then for a limited number of days instead of forty days or more as used to be the case.

He referred to the old-time fear regarding fever caused, and only recently it had been received in one of the hospitals without objection. He told of what modern science has shown of the work of rats and of mosquitoes in spreading diseases. He told briefly of the quarantines of various sorts and in different countries, and said he believed one of the most effective preventives of diseases is the foreign inspection service, whereby passengers to this country are looked over by physicians before leaving foreign ports. He regretted that this valuable inspection is not so general as it was some years ago.

Old and New Methods

The quarantine officer he likened to a coast defence, although his work is against an invisible foe, the simple having birth in his mind, he said, because of the reports of the gun at Fort Warren, where the coast artillery was at practice with the small guns. In a clean city there can be no grave danger of serious outbreaks of disease, he claimed, and therefore the aim should be to keep the cities clean, so that long restrictive quarantines will become a thing of the past.

Dr. Samuel H. Duran told of the history of the quarantine work in Boston from 1864, when he began the work, up to the present, illustrating the difference in methods then and now by pointing out the uses for which the shed, in which the dinner was served, had been built. After the meeting the whole party steamed across the harbor to view the U. S. S. Chicago, on which the naval reserves are having their summer service work.

LARGE INCREASE

IN OUR FOREIGN COMMERCE DURING LAST TEN YEARS

Fruits and nuts valued at 468 million dollars have passed through ports of the United States during the last ten years. Of that amount, 285 million represents the value of fruits and nuts from foreign countries, 186 million exports to foreign countries, 12 million receipts from noncontiguous territories of the United States, and 5 million shipments to those territories.

The value of fruits and nuts imported into the United States from the country in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1910, was in round terms 85 million dollars, of which about one-third represented exports. A compilation made by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor states the value of fruits and nuts at 86 million and exports at 19 million dollars.

A study of the commercial movements during the last decade or two develops the fact that domestic production is rapidly supplementing certain classes of fruits, formerly imported in large quantities. This applies especially to raisins, prunes, and oranges. Certain other lines, in which local production is still insufficient to meet home consumption, continue to increase in value of imports; notably bananas, figs, walnuts, coconuts and almonds. Comparing the imports of the year just ended with those of one and two decades ago, imports of fruits and nuts as a whole have increased from 21 million dollars in 1890 and 19 million in 1900 to about 38 million dollars in 1910. Oranges, which in 1890 showed a total importation of 2 million dollars, had by 1900 decreased to 1 million and by 1910 to less than 100 thousand dollars in value. Raisins in 1890 were valued at 2 million dollars. Prunes showed in 1890 an importation of 14 million dollars; in 1900, 13 thousand dollars, and in 1910, an even less value. Lemons were imported in 1890 to the value of 3 1-2 million dollars; in 1900 were 3 2-3 million, but in 1900 decreased to 3 million, or less than the figures of 1890. On the other hand, bananas, valued at 2 1-2 million in 1890, increased to 4 million in 1900, and nearly 12 million in 1910. Almonds, valued at less than 1 million dollars in 1890 and 1900, showed in 1910 imports to the value of more than 3 million dollars. Coconuts, in 1890 were imported to the value of 600 thousand dollars; in 1900, 700 thousand, and in 1910 were about 1 1-3 million dollars. Walnuts, first separately enumerated in 1903, have increased in value of imports from a little over 1 million dollars in that year to 3 1/2 million in 1910.

On the export side a far more rapid growth has occurred since 1890. In that year the total value of all fruits and nuts exported from the country was but 4 million dollars; in 1900 the total had increased to nearly 12 million, and in 1910, about 19 million dollars. The principal articles contributing to this growth are apples, prunes, oranges, raisins, apricots, canned fruits, and nuts. Exports of dried apples have increased from 1 million dollars' value in 1890 to 21 1/2 million in 1900 and a little over 2 million in 1910; apples, green or ripe, from less than 1 1/4 million in 1890 to 11 1/2 million in 1900 and 3 million in 1910; apples as a whole, then, having increased from 2 1/4 to over 5 million in 20 years. Oranges of domestic production increased in value of exports from a quarter million dollars in 1900 to over 2 million in 1910; dried apricots, from 78 thousand dollars in 1902, the earliest year in which shown, to 1 million in 1910; prunes, from 1 1/2 million dollars in 1900 to 4 million in 1910, and less than 3 million in 1900. The exports of nuts were $28,000 in 1890, and in 1900 were stated at only 186 thousand dollars, compared with about 400 thousand dollars in the year just ended. Of the latter class peanuts is the chief factor, the exports in the last five years having amounted to nearly 1 million pounds, valued at 1 1/3 dollars. Of foreign fruits consumed in the United States, bananas supply about one-third. The imported bananas come chiefly from Costa Rica, Honduras, and Panama in Central America; and the British West Indies, and Cuba.

Italy supplies practically all the lemons imported into the country. Of current, the Xante variety, produced in Greece, supplies most of the imports. Raisins, formerly coming in at the rate of 2 million dollars per annum, chiefly from Spain and Turkey in Asia, have practically disappeared as an article of importation, and, as above indicated, are now becoming an important article of export.

WOMEN BARRED

NOT WANTED BY GOVERNMENT AS STENOGRAPHERS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Women stenographers apparently no longer are wanted in the government service.

This announcement was made yesterday at the civil service commission in an effort to put a stop to a steadily increasing flood of letters from women throughout the country who seek information about an examination for stenographers to be held Tuesday in all the states and territories.

The examination is for the purpose of recruiting only men stenographers and typists, the demand for whom the civil service commission has been unable to meet. Practically all the various departments of the government are seeking to replace women stenographers with men, on the ground that the latter are more amenable to discipline, are more easily transferred to places where their services are needed and can more readily be drafted into other kinds of work.

COMMERCIAL LAW LEAGUE

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., July 21.—Only one session was held today by the Commercial Law League of America which is holding its 16th annual convention here today. After the regular forenoon meeting the delegates boarded a boat and sailed up the bay where one of the clamcakes for which the state is famous was prepared for them. The morning session was a brief one. A paper by N. W. Littlefield of Providence on "Commerce and the Bankruptcy Act" was read by Chester W. Burrows, his associate, the author being unable to attend because of illness. "Corporations as commercial collection agencies" was the subject of an address by Frederick Denham of New York and E. M. Sloman of Detroit.

spoke on the topic "Lawyers' Clubs."

Tomorrow the convention will close with the election of officers and the selection of a place for the next convention. A close contest is expected for the office of president between A. V. Cannon and J. Howard Reber of Philadelphia. President Henry Deutsch is not a candidate for re-election.

MAYOR OF LAWRENCE

Question Whether Statute Bars Jordan's Election

LAWRENCE, July 21.—The conduct of municipal affairs, so far as a chief executive is concerned, continues to be a matter of some interest to the board of aldermen, pending City Solicitor Murphy's opinion on the question of who is mayor. The legal aspect of the situation resulting from the commitment of Mayor William F. White to the house of correction for conspiracy to bribe is seeking to oust Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton, of the fire department is by no means an easy one to solve.

In its order requesting an opinion from the city's legal adviser the board of aldermen did not simply ask if the mayor had a right to continue to serve. They wanted to know upon whom the duties of chief executive devolved and, if upon the president of the board of aldermen, what were the extent and scope of his duties.

Provision is made that in event of death, resignation or inability of the mayor to serve, the president of the board of aldermen becomes acting mayor. This is only a temporary expedient, it would seem, as permanent appointive power is denied the acting mayor.

The city charter says that any member of the city council may be elected mayor when a vacancy may occur. In conflict with this, however, is section 36, chapter 26 of the public statutes which sets forth that no member of the city council shall, during the term for which he is chosen, either by appointment or election of the city council, be eligible to any office, the salary of which is payable by the city.

This latter enactment was passed in 1886, many years subsequent to the adoption of the city charter. It is claimed that where the public statutes and the city charter are in conflict the former supercedes, and should this be the case in the present emergency it would seem to indicate that Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen is barred from being chosen mayor, should it be decided that Mayor White cannot continue. Jordan's friends are anxious to see him fill out the remainder of the term and they feel that he is the logical candidate, if the legal issue does not preclude.

"BLUE SKY CITY"

That's What Pittsburg Will Be

PITTSBURG, July 21.—On the roof of one of Pittsburg's skyscrapers these summer days is the chief smoke inspector, J. M. Searle. Searle's job is to locate and tabulate by means of a telescope he has with him every smoke-stack of Greater Pittsburg from which he sees a column of smoke issuing. Pittsburg is determined to make itself a "Blue Sky City." Every smoke-stack Searle finds with smoke coming out of it offensively, he starts machinery in motion which results in the owner being fined. Baltimore and Ohio firemen who let smoke belch out of their engines in the city limits are suspended by their master mechanic for thirty days.

NEGRO PROPHET

Said to Have Deluded Girls by Divine Claims

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A curious case of fanaticism has come to light in the arrest of a negro preacher calling himself Rev. Jonah Sturdivant and the stubbornness of his white women followers is still believing in his divine powers.

Sturdivant came here last March from the south with four young white women who had made themselves believe that he was a prophet and that it was their duty to obey his commands. The four young women are Addie Coddling of Boston, Frederica Nightingale, a West Indian girl; Gertrude Mosen and Hilda Johnston, both Norwegian girls.

Gertrude Mosen is in a hospital here, believed to be dying from pellagra, brought on by fasting and the nervous excitement under which she has lived. Hilda Johnston is the mother of a child of which Sturdivant is the father. The two other girls are still praying for the release of their leader.

Hilda Johnston appears to have been made a victim. A Jewish girl whose name is unknown and who has since disappeared, but who was at that time a member of the band, received a manifestation that Hilda must marry the prophet. This the girl did not want to do, but finally she was persuaded to become his wife as a sign of her humility and her love of God. She was married to the man and is still in the hospital, her child having been born only a few days.

After the Jewish girl had revealed her manifestations, she and the prophet had a disagreement and he proceeded to batter her up. For this he was arrested and sentenced to three years in prison for assault. It now turns out that he already had a black wife, and when he has served his sentence he will be tried for bigamy.

Mrs. Mary Barrett of Nantucket came to Washington in search of Gertrude Mosen. She found her in the hospital in a serious condition. She found Miss Coddling in a negro home and took her away and implored her to return to Boston. She refused to go. She said she was waiting a call to go to Africa.

She has been doing missionary work among the negroes of Washington and has been practically destitute. Her baggage as well as that of the other girls was held at the station as the charges were not paid. Miss Coddling still professes to believe in Sturdivant and that the prison doors will fly open to him. She says she is going to Africa as a missionary and that in due time the means will be provided.

Agents of the board of charities who argued with her to leave Washington were unable to shake her determination to remain here until the "call" comes.

20 ROUND BOUT

VALLEJO, Cal., July 21.—Spider McCool of the cruiser Maryland and Battling Robinson, the colored prize of the California, have signed articles for a 20 round battle on Aug. 8 for the middleweight championship of the bay. The fight will occur on board either the California or Maryland, which are in drydock here. McCool won the championship from Robinson in seven rounds about two months ago.

SUICIDE STORY

In Case of Ira Rawn is Doubt

CHICAGO, July 21.—The rumor late yesterday that Ira Rawn, late president of the Monon railroad, found fatally shot in his home here early yesterday morning was, not killed by a burglar, as at first reported, but committed suicide is apparently contradicted by the last letter Mr. Rawn wrote. It was addressed to W. A. Gardner, vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern, asking him to handle his private car between Chicago and Clevelake next Saturday. Mr. Rawn's friends say that this letter is proof that he had no idea of taking his own life.

Monday afternoon a friend of Mr. Rawn related a long conversation with the late president of the road which bore upon the theory that Mr. Rawn was in splendid spirits.

"The talk was largely personal," said this friend, "and Mr. Rawn disclosed that he and Mrs. Rawn were arranging a 'honeymoon trip' to Europe late this fall and were keeping it a secret. He told me that when he was married he was too poor to take a wedding trip and that ever since his marriage he had been too busy to take one. Although Mrs. Rawn and I have had great opportunity for making trips," he said to me, "it dawned upon us suddenly that we had in reality never had a trip all alone. It seemed that on every occasion we had a guest or two and that we never had an old-fashioned trip together. We agreed that it was about time that we had our honeymoon trip and decided to take it after all these years. So we have planned to steal away later in the fall after I have got the road in good shape, take a steamer in New York and go to Europe to wander around for a while with no one to molest us."

TAFT AT BAR HARBOR

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 21.—Another day of ideal weather called the president early ashore from the Mayflower this morning and before 9 o'clock he was on his way to the golf links of the Kebo valley club. Mr. Taft made a low score, 99, for the 18 holes in his first trial yesterday afternoon, but expected to lower his record today. Today's luncheon engagement for the Taft party was with the Nicholas Andersons of Washington. Mr. Taft will also hold a reception for the summer colony at the club this afternoon. Some time before nightfall he expects to have a conference with Chairman Emery of the tariff commission.

The regular residents of the island here are keenly disappointed over the evident intention of the president to devote the three days' stay to the fashionable cottages from New York. First Selectman Bunker, head of the town government, wired to Eastport the other day asking Mr. Taft if he would not consent to make a little speech to the townspeople.

GREAT LAWN FETE

of the Sacred Heart Parish on the Church Grounds

Slide for Life the Thriller of Evening and General Amusements Were Provided to Meet the Tastes of All

There was a great outpouring of the members and friends of the Sacred Heart parish at the lawn fete on the church grounds yesterday afternoon and evening. Anybody who attended could see that the most elaborate arrangements had been made for the success of the event and the attendance was probably the largest seen at any gathering of the kind in the history of the parish.

Very few who were unacquainted with the environment of the church grounds realized that there is such a large and beautiful park in the rear of the church. It is almost as large as Columbus park in Baldivere, but it has the disadvantage of being in the rear of the church instead of in front. It is, nevertheless, a very attractive and has abundant and flower beds that indicate the skill and attention of some devotee of flower culture.

The decorations last evening were quite elaborate and consisted of lines of electric lights from the school building on the north side of Moore street crossing the street and then extending from the church down the avenue to the grounds. There were varicolored lights so mingled that they produced a striking effect and the lines of Japanese lanterns and other decorations on the grounds added greatly to the brilliancy of the scene. In one corner of the grounds a dancing pavilion had been constructed and the waxed floor was as smooth as that of any hall in Lowell. Music for dancing was furnished by the Colonial orchestra. In another corner, was located an auto merry-go-round in which the young people took great delight. Its up and down evidently appealing to their love of excitement. In a third corner was constructed an open-air theatre and here John X. Payne conducted a minstrel show with features of his own creation that were well worth the price of admission. Payne's talent as an entertainer is well known and the program he presented in the afternoon and evening, while of a lighter vein than the ordinary, was still highly entertaining and enjoyed to the utmost by all who attended.

Arranged at suitable intervals on the grounds were the various tables providing ice cream and other refreshments. There was a candy table, a tonic and lemonade table, together with several games that assisted the people in keeping up a continual round of amusement.

The main attraction in the line of excitement was the aerial feat, or slide for life, by Prof. Hoshizawa. A strong rope had been suspended from the highest portion of the school building on Moore street and extended to the rear of the church, near the dancing pavilion. On this rope the performer swung, first holding some kind of a pulley by his teeth and afterwards turning head downwards and swinging by his feet, the pulley passing very rapidly along the rope. During his descent he carried a light that swung around him and made him appear much like a mass of flames. The act is a perilous one but it was performed in the afternoon and again in the evening without any serious mishap.

A feature of Mr. Payne's minstrel show was a boxing match given by Joseph Stowell and Charles Gallagher.

Health and Beauty Notes

G. O. I. Many women, particularly at this season of the year, have the same trouble that now vexes you—the thin, ordinary complexion. The cause is lack of the complexion loss instead of gains from their use. Make this cream jelly yourself at home. It will be a great help to your troubles. It is from your drugist one ounce of almond, put it in a fruit jar, add one-half pint of glycerine, stir briskly for a few minutes and let stand overnight. This satisfactory cream is used for massaging the face and neck. It gives a clear, fresh and soft skin, because it removes every particle of dirt and dirt from every pore. It removes blackheads and by making large pores small prevents their return. It is a face cream that will cause a growth of hair. It prevents freckles, tan and sunburn.

Miss New York: You cannot be too careful in caring for your hair. Yes, take a shampoo every week. If it is necessary to use hair soap, use it. It takes the hair many soaps, and are harmful, as they leave the hair dry and brittle and cause streaks. For a quick drying home shampoo, there is nothing so good as plain castile soap. Dissolve in a cup of hot water one ounce of soap, then wash the hair and rub well, just as you would with any other shampoo. This is a simple and harmless remedy that thoroughly cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff, relieves itching and irritation, and it is so easily dressed.

P. F. F. Your eyes are weak and need a strengthening course. You can get a strengthening course of eye drops in a pint of water. Drop one or two drops in each eye whenever you are tired, red or inflamed. This eye tonic helps wonderfully in keeping the eyes bright and clear and does away with that lack-lustre and expressionless look that so detracts from an otherwise attractive girl's appearance.

T. E. To remove the superfluous hairs from your face and forehead, mix a little dilute solution of borax with water to form a paste, cover the skin on which the superfluous hairs appear and let it remain two or three minutes; then wash off the paste and wash the skin with warm water. Get the dilute solution of borax from the chemist's. It retards the growth of the hair and it is said in one-half hour it will be gone. It is said that it will be gone in one-half hour.

Country Girl: Isn't it your own fault that your sweetheart always is late? You are the cause of it. If other girls take pains to make themselves attractive to him, instead of pouting and rebelling, you should be the same. You should put yourself on an equal footing with them. To clear your complexion and keep it rose and fresh, follow the advice given above to G. O. I. and apply to your face, neck and arms daily a lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spunk in a half pint of water. This is a simple and harmless remedy that thoroughly cleanses the skin and keeps it soft and smooth. It is a simple and harmless remedy that thoroughly cleanses the skin and keeps it soft and smooth. WOMEN MADE BALD

By Taking Too Many Trips in Automobiles

According to a dispatch in the New York Journal on July 19, a distinguished dermatologist says: Among other things, that motoring is bad for women's hair, and that they must either cut down the number of auto trips, or run the awful chances of becoming bald. The quantity of dust, dirt and disease germs that settle upon the head of a hair while riding in automobiles is something dreadful, as every rider knows. There is really but one thing to do, and that is, to wash the scalp and hair thoroughly. Don't use ordinary soaps or shampoos, because they often contain too much alkali and that makes the hair fall out. Use Bird's Nest Wash for cleansing the head, and use it just as often as you please; for it is the finest and best preparation known for this purpose. It is made of Refined Soap, Boric Acid, Coconut Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. Not only removes every vestige of dirt, dust and germs, but stimulates the scalp, removes dandruff, and leaves a glossy, silky sheen on the hair. You have no idea how refreshing and delectably clean the scalp feels after Bird's Nest Wash. It is now put up in 25c tubes for the accommodation of automobilists and travellers, as well as in the regular 50c jars. At all druggists.

A. O. H. DELEGATES

Send Messages to Pope and President

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—The New England delegation to the A. O. H. convention is in a fever of enthusiasm. They led the mighty burst of applause that greeted the plea for Irish unity made by President Matthew Cummings in his report, and expressed a conviction that the pronouncement will go far toward uniting the Irish of all countries and bring nearer the ideals of a world-wide Hibernianism and the ultimate independence of Ireland.

They gave particular approval of the president's words:

"I believe that 95 per cent of the membership of our organization are sick and tired of the bickering and squabbling going on continually between certain leaders of Irish societies. The whole race has been humiliated and scandalized before the world by the constant newspaper warfare that has continued for years by certain Irishmen on both sides of the Atlantic. We have wasted and practically destroyed our influence here in America, by such methods. Instead of fighting England, our only enemy, we have spent all our time fighting one another."

It is conceded that President Cummings' official recommendation that a commission be appointed to confer with the United Irish league and Clon Na Gael leaders with a view to affiliating all organizations will be adopted. It is also conceded that the report will have the effect of clinching Cummings' re-election, that he may superintend the working out of his projects for unification and race liberty.

The New Englanders are having the time of their lives. Many former New England people have called upon them and the whole town has united in their entertainment. They are leaders in the convention spirit and yet are not letting time slip by for personal enjoyment.

Among the prominent Massachusetts delegates to the convention is Adm. Gen. McCarthy of the Hibernian uniform rank in America. He is easily one of the most popular men here. Massachusetts also boasts the two youngest delegates in her representation of 53. These are James P. Crosson and John T. McCarthy, aged 18 and 19, both from Fall River.

The convention yesterday ordered that telegrams of devotion to the flag and institutions of the United States be sent to President Taft and telegrams of love and fealty to the pope.

PRISON SYSTEM

Mr. Churchill Outlines Sweeping Reforms

LONDON, July 21.—In the house of commons last night Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, outlined sweeping reforms in the prison system, which are to be inaugurated partly by administrative order and partly by new bills in parliament.

His object, Mr. Churchill explained, was to substitute discipline for the present method of punishment, to treat the prisoners with more humanitarian methods and, as far as possible, to avoid their degradation by prison life.

Briefly, he wished to give longer time for the payment of fines and to prevent imprisonment for their nonpayment. He wished to substitute disciplinary and curative methods for imprisonment in the case of youthful and minor offenders, to allow political offenders, like passive resisters and suffragettes, various privileges, such as for convic-

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Some one said "Master and Man" should be popular. It is popular since it tells a thrilling heart story with more than ordinary dramatic strength and ability and is further enhanced by picturesque settings. The crowds have steadily increased and the play this week is perhaps the best liked bill of the season so far.

Mr. James Thatcher plays the part of "O'Neil," and plays it far above harsh criticism, as does Miss Florence Farr, who has the role of "O'Neil's" sweetheart and plays the part so as to quench any doubt as to her ability to portray any role she may be called upon to enact in a capable manner.

The play itself is a dainty little love story of beauty and charm, and brings back to us all the memory of the days when we were sweet eighteen and brave and twenty-one and life had a kiss waiting for us somewhere at the close of the long summer day.

NINE ARE DEAD

As Result of Blowing of a Breech Block in Gun

FORT MONROE, Va., July 21.—Nine men are dead and a number of others seriously injured, including two officers, as the result of the blowing out of a breech block in a 12-inch gun at the Derussy battery during the coast artillery practice here today.

The accident occurred while student officers were endeavoring to sink a fleet of towed targets representing an imaginary hostile fleet proceeding to Washington. The battery was under the immediate command of Sergeant Harry Haas of the sixty-ninth company, United States coast artillery. The known dead are:

Sergeant Harry G. Haas; Corporals Charles Adams and Albert Bradford; Privates Roy Dabney, John W. Chadwick, Cleve W. King, Alfred Smith, Andy J. Sullivan, James H. Turner and H. Adey.

Probably fatally injured: Arley Adey, Judd E. Hogan.

Slightly injured: Second Lieut. George L. Van Deusen; Privates Oleville T. Rainey, Ellisworth Hoffman, Charles E. Parks and William C. Sulzberger.

The report says the explosion was probably due to the premature ignition of a powder charge in which the breech block and powder were blown to the rear. A board of officers is investigating.

Many prominent officers were present to witness what was to be the greatest target practice ever attempted. It was more horrible for the reason that wives and children of several of the men killed, were danger being anticipated, were permitted to see the target practice. A number of them witnessed the accident.

The accident occurred at 10.40 o'clock. The bodies of the dead artillerymen were terribly mangled. The wounded were rushed to the fort hospital. The disaster was witnessed by a number of prominent officers of the army and navy who were here to see the battle practice. The wives and children of several of the men killed were present and saw them meet a terrible death.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The accident is supposed to have occurred in connection with coast artillery target practice in which shore batteries fired upon a fleet of targets towed by Hampton Roads in such manner as to be comparable to battleships. The shore guns were to be engaged in battle practice with the moving fleet, which was towed by Hampton Roads about four miles out and supposed to represent a hostile fleet sailing up the Potomac to attack Washington.

According to officials of the coast artillery the firing tests were to be conducted on a larger scale than had ever been attempted anywhere. It was planned to have five batteries of 12-inch guns concentrate fire on the target fleet and demolish it as quickly as possible. It was intended also to bring the mortars into place. Ships of the coast artillery were to low the target. Each was thirty feet high and sixty feet long and represented a section of the battle line. The officers were to be in charge of the tests.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

Passenger Service Restored But Freight is Tied Up

BOSTON, July 21.—With the passenger service restored on practically every line in New England the officials of the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads are today turning their attention to the moving of freight trains and the relieving of the congestion which the tieup has caused at terminal and junction points.

One freight train of twenty cars loaded with coal on its way to Portland and other trains are being made up at various points ready to start out as soon as the crews can be got together. The railroad officials declare that with the strikebreakers and the men who remained with them they will have little or no difficulty in manning such trains as they desire to start out today. No effort will be made to run freight trains on the customary schedule, but several through trains will probably be started out before the day is over.

Already the tying up of the freight business on the Central Vermont road has caused the closing down of one mill, a big worsted and woolen establishment in Monson and other establishments are in danger of being compelled to close for lack of supplies.

The condition in Portland was as serious as at any point on the Grand Trunk system. Portland and its neighboring suburbs depend on the Grand Trunk to haul their beef supply from Chicago and the west and the stopping of the freight trains threatened a beef famine. A hurry call for help was sent to Chicago and the packers were making preparations to send a trainload by some other road when it was announced from Montreal that a beef train would be sent through over the Grand Trunk system. The train left Montreal at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon arriving at Island Pond, Vt., last evening. There the train was delayed for re-loading and was due to start again for Portland this morning.

Because of the strike the German steamship Rheingraf, which sailed from Mystic wharf this morning with only a portion of the cargo which was booked. Ten carloads of soaked oats, 12,000 bushels, which were to have made up a part of their cargo, are stalled at White River Junction, Vt., and will not arrive in Boston for a day or two at least.

Reports of desertion on the part of some of the imported strikebreakers are being received from some points but more are arriving to fill their places and the railroads claim that they have more applicants for positions than they can care for.

MONTREAL, July 21.—Freight continued to be the slogan and the problem in the Grand Trunk railroad strike today.

The five thousand striking conductors and trainmen continued to be absent from public view. Their leaders, speaking for them, reaffirmed that all are quietly awaiting an expected time when the railroad will find resumption of its freight business impossible.

At company headquarters, however, there was optimistic persistence. In high pressure work in freight car construction, freight yard clearance and betterment of the local suburban passenger service partially resumed yesterday and it was stated that the strikers had been eliminated wholly from the situation. A bird's eye view from the Grand Trunk's four thousand mile system from Portland, Me., to Detroit and in New England showed distinct improvement in conditions. It was said, with the freight problem, however, admittedly slow in solution.

From the viewpoint of many cities and towns affected the freight situation is increasingly serious. Ice companies are unable to get ice. The Canadian Pacific is avoiding possible trouble by refusing to run ice cars on Grand Trunk sidings. Much perishable freight in yards and on sidings seems doomed to destruction. At Stratford, Ont., 200 men have been thrown out of work by the closing down of packing and milling companies.

NO FREIGHT HANDLED

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., July 21.—No freight was handled over the Central Vermont railroad in White River Junction today. A number of freight cars some containing perishable goods are standing on the tracks here.

Passenger service continued with the trains running on schedule time. The strikers on the train that arrived from New London last night was hit on the head by a small object, thought to have been thrown by a strike sympathizer. He was only slightly hurt. The train yesterday was a little behind their schedule.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS SATISFIED

ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 21.—From the point of view of the officials of the Central Vermont railroad, today was the most satisfactory day since the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads declared a strike. Five way freight trains left St. Albans today. Three of these freight trains, one went to Rouses Point and the other to St. John, Que., where it is to be turned over to the Grand Trunk main line. Another freight that started from White River Junction to St. Albans today reached Montpelier Junction and was started from that point on its way to this city.

At the general manager's office a statement was issued today saying that there was no indication that any of the freight would be stalled at any point along the line.

STRIKEBREAKERS RETURN

BRAintreeboro, Vt., July 21.—Several strikebreakers that arrived here yesterday afternoon returned to New London today without having attempted to operate the trains or yards of the Central Vermont railroad. The company today stated that trains would be running between here and New London.

The strikers on the train that arrived from New London last night was hit on the head by a small object, thought to have been thrown by a strike sympathizer. He was only slightly hurt. The train yesterday was a little behind their schedule.

LOSS IS $30,000

HAD LARGE FAMILY

Charles Lajoie Had 19 Children and 16 Are Alive

Charles Lajoie, 53 years old, and the father of 19 children, was busy engaged in making coal bags out of great long strips of canvas when a reporter for The Sun dropped in at his coal office, 290 Lincoln street, yesterday afternoon.

HAD LARGE FAMILY

Mr. Lajoie has been in the coal business in Lowell for several years and he owns $800 square feet of land in the vicinity of the Lincoln street crossing where his office is located. He has been very successful in the coal business, but he will have to move his office as a portion of his land is needed by the railroad in connection with the grade crossing work that is going on in Lincoln street. The front of his lot will be included in the grade work, while a track will extend through the side portion of his lot.

The man who is attending to land dealings for the railroad called on Mr. Lajoie a few days ago and asked him how much he would ask for a certain number of feet front and a certain number of feet side. "If you wanted to buy my horse's head, I would ask just as much for the head as for the whole horse," was Mr. Lajoie's answer, and when told that the railroad would not think of buying the whole lot, our friend Lajoie gave a characteristic shrug of the shoulders and said: "We will see."

It was not for the purpose of learning what effect the grade crossing would have upon his business, however, that the reporter called on Mr. Lajoie. The reporter's instinct had taken possession of the scribe, and he wanted to query Mr. Lajoie about his family.

The reporter learned that 16 of the 19 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lajoie are living. The Lajoies live in Gardner street and although he distributes more than 5000 tons of coal a year, Mr. Lajoie does not have to go outside his family for assistance in the distribution of the black diamonds. There are eight boys in the family and the four oldest, assisted Mr. Lajoie in the coal business. The oldest of the family is pursuing his third birthday and the youngest is three years old. "I guess I have the largest family in Lowell," said Mr. Lajoie, "but I don't think I had to work any harder for them than some fathers do for families of three or four."

Mr. Lajoie came to Lowell from Fargo, North Dakota, 15 years ago, where he owned and managed a big farm in the Red river valley. He said he did not have very good luck in Dakota. "My brother-in-law," he said, "has a large farm in Red river valley and he is a rich man. I tried as hard as he did but he had better luck. Some men get rich there while others go broke. I have a nice business here in Lowell and we are all very happy. I am 53 years old and my wife is 52. We enjoy good health and things seem just as bright to us as they did 30 years ago. I make these coal bags for myself, and other dealers buy from me. The making of the bags is a side issue but it nets me a nice little income."

Of the 19 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Lajoie, four are still living. Four of the children married and Mr. Lajoie boasts of eight grandchildren. Two of his daughters are Sisters of Providence in Montreal, and the youngest members of the family are at home.

Letter to Mr. Southworth

Mr. Greenleaf received a letter from Agent Southworth of the Massachusetts militia in which it was stated that the mills must smoke as they are doing for some months or shut down, and to this letter Mr. Greenleaf has made the following reply:

July 19, 1910.

Mr. W. S. Southworth, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of July 8th I will say that while I have not marked your company as a heavy offender I have records of certain violations which are rather excessive, note of which I enclose, and to which I invite your attention.

As I have already explained to Mr. Wadleigh of the Merrimack, it is not the desire nor the policy of this office to persistently harass any corporation or individual, but to insist upon the observance of the smoke laws, by reasonable methods, within a reasonable period of time; nor is there any wish to resort to legal measures, though in the event of wilful and flagrant disregard of the requirements prosecution will follow.

In reply to your statement that you must either smoke as you are doing for some months to come or shut down your mills, I can only say that the elimination of smoke would prove a valuable asset to your company rather than a cause for any such extreme action as you suggest, for it is a well established fact that smoke represents an absolute loss of from 5 to 20 per cent of the heat energy of a boiler; therefore, you will realize that the enforcement of the smoke law is at the same time a considerable service to you.

Very truly yours,
Roy W. Greenleaf, Inspector.

IN POLICE COURT

Young Man And Two Girls Arrested in Vacant Shed

Constable John J. Cody of Tyngsboro made three arrests not far from Mountain Rock this morning when he found two young girls and a young man occupying a shed belonging to the Boston & Northern street railway company. The trio were sent to the station and gave their names as Paul Merrill, Leah King and Eunice King. They were charged with occupying a building that they had been ordered to keep away from. They were also charged with leading disorderly lives. All three were found guilty and the man was sentenced to two months in jail, and the two young women were sentenced to a term in the women's prison at Sherborn. Most of the testimony was of such a character that it could not be published, but according to Constable Cody there has been too many irregularities in the vicinity of Mountain Rock and Lakeview, and he and the other authorities are determined that these people must keep away from the towns of Tyngsboro and Dracut.

OTHER CASES

Judge Pickman presided over the session of the police court this morning, and found awaiting his attention several domestic difficulties which he quickly and satisfactorily adjusted.

Francis T. McMannon, found guilty of non-support of his wife at Wednesday's session of the court, was before Judge Fisher and fined $50. He appealed from this sentence, and was held in $200 for the superior criminal court.

FUNERALS

YOUNG—The funeral of Mrs. Nancy A. Young took place from the Old Ladies' Home, 520 Fletcher street, yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended by many friends. The services were conducted by Rev. N. T. Whitaker, D. D., pastor of the Central M. E. church, and there was singing by Misses Barney and Chase who sang "Home of the South" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." The burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. B. Currier Co.

GOING IN PRISON WOMAN MURDERED

Counterfeiters Said to be at Work in the State Prison

A Boston paper had the following story this morning:

An outfit for making counterfeit money and a lot of bogus half dollars ready for "showing" have been discovered in the Charlestown state prison. Amazed by the impudent daring of the gang of convicts who had set up their plant and were making and circulating the spurious money under the very noses of the prison officials, Warden Benjamin F. Bridges is having every inch of the prison buildings carefully searched. The material for making the alloy, the moulds and a number of the bogus coins have already been discovered.

When seen by a reporter last night the warden was much surprised to learn that any linking of the startling state of affairs had leaked outside the prison walls, but he refused to discuss the case in any way.

Frederick G. Pettigrove, chairman of the prison commission, declared over the telephone from his home in Dudley street, Roxbury, that it was "the height of impudence" to mention the matter to him, but finally admitted an investigation was being made, and that he expected a report from Warden Bridges.

Never before in the memory of the oldest officials at the Charlestown state prison have convicts serving time for various offenses against the law had the nerve to turn counterfeiters and start the manufacture of bad money in the very last place that secret service men would ever think of looking for it.

If any had the nerve it is not on record that any before have ever succeeded in smuggling the necessary outfit past the guards and starting operations in their cells.

How many, if any, of the spurious coins have passed the prison walls, and how long the counterfeiting was being going on, is unknown. No report has yet been made to the United States treasury officials. The chairman of the prison commission, it is understood, gave orders that a thorough investigation was to be made and the plot exposed in all its ramifications before the secret service should be notified or the news become public.

How many convicts were mixed up in the scheme, or the possibility of confederates outside the prison walls, or among the employees inside, is still a mystery.

A bet on the regular Saturday afternoon baseball game in the prison quadrangle exposed the counterfeiting. The loser paid his bet with a bad half-dollar. The winner didn't like the looks of his winnings. He bit the coin, sounded it and then made a complaint. One of the guards happened to hear the commotion and investigated. Amazed to find a counterfeit coin in the possession of a prisoner, he investigated still further. Finally he found a small pasteboard box full of bits of tin, zinc and a number of empty metal vials, such as tooth paste is sold in. The box was concealed in a prisoner's cell.

Plaster of paris moulds for casting half dollars and an outfit of crudely made apparatus for minting the coins from the alloy were also discovered. The inmates of the cell or cells where the stuff was found deny having seen it or knowing anything about it. The most rigid and persistent questioning has not broken down their denials.

In their chagrin over the curious state of affairs the prison officials refused to talk about their discoveries, but it is known that they have not yet succeeded in securing sufficient incriminating evidence to convict any of the prisoners of counterfeiting.

POLICE GUARD

FOR DELEGATES WHO DISCUSSED CHANGING NAME OF TOWN

EVARTS, Vt., July 21.—This village was thrown into no little excitement when it was learned that George Brothers, G. P. Eastman, D. K. Daley, J. H. Dunbar, A. G. Eastman, L. W. Gee, F. L. Gardner and E. W. Haley had quietly left town for Hanover, N. H., to consult President Nichols and Professor Worthen of Dartmouth college, who were appointed arbitrators to settle the controversy over changing the name of this village from North Hartford to Everts.

The delegation returned from Hanover last night under escort of the second constable, as it was feared a hostile movement would occur. However, as far as can be learned, no violence has been shown.

A meeting was held in the village hall last night and the case is still pending the decision of President Nichols and Professor Worthen. At that time the North Hartford advocates admitted a large majority were in favor of retaining the name Everts, but said the "better element" desired to restore the old name.

At present the name of village, railway station, express, telegraph and postoffice is Everts, and it remains to be seen whether the arbitrators will overrule the majority, public service commission and the postmaster general in approving the change.

At that time the North Hartford people that Congressman Plumley appointed Professor Worthen as an arbitrator.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In the development of the professions marching on with the progress of invention the aeroplane lawyer is about to appear. At the present rate of productivity in aeronautics the volume of litigation will be incalculable. There are now more than 140 applications for patents relating to automatic balance for aircraft and hundreds for patents for motors, propellers, propellers, slides and other essentials.

"From the present outlook," a patent lawyer said here today, "we will soon have in this country a new crop of aeroplane lawyers, who specialize in the law of the air, who will keep track of the aeroplane patents."

NEW YORK, July 21.—There is something more than a police mystery in the death of Mrs. John Herterich, found brutally murdered in a house at 6 Norman place, Brooklyn, for the identification of the body by her husband revealed the fact that she had left a home of luxury in Piermont, N. Y., to plunge into the squalor and wretchedness of the surroundings in which her body was found on Tuesday morning.

In many ways the case resembles that of Blaise Segal, who also came of a prominent family and a good home. Her husband almost fainted with the horror of the shock he received when the body of his wife was shown to him in the Brooklyn morgue. His wife had left her home a year ago, but there was nothing in her previous life to give any indication that she would drop headlong into the life she appeared to have been living just prior to her death.

In Piermont she had been known as a woman of high ideals, of a decided literary turn of thought and apparently devoted to her husband, her two children and to her church.

In Norman place she was the associate of Greek street peddlers and others of the lowest social stratum and was nicknamed by one of them, according to the theory of the police, in an outburst of jealous rage.

The body of the woman was found on Tuesday morning, but there was no one in the place who could tell anything concerning her. She was known in the house as May Hendricks, and also as May Vandenberg, but as those in the neighborhood are almost wholly foreigners of the poorer class, no attempt ever had been made to learn who or what she was.

The newspaper accounts of the murder, however, brought to New York her husband, John Herterich, who has been searching incessantly for his wife since her disappearance a year ago.

As soon as he had recovered from his collapse Mr. Herterich told the police the story of his wife's strange disappearance from the pier and precise life of the wife of a merchant in the country town to the squalid existence of Norman place.

His wife never had shown any inclination for life in New York city, he said, but about a year ago she started from home for a shopping trip to this city. As she kissed her two children good-by she told them she would return that evening.

She never returned. A short time before Mr. Herterich had sold a house and had banked the proceeds in all nearly $10,000, all of which she took with her when she left.

Just what course she followed after that can only be surmised. No one could be found who could remember how long she had lived at 6 Norman place, some asserting that she had been there nearly a year.

That she had spent all the money she had taken from Piermont was evident from the fact that many pawn tickets for pieces of jewelry and clothing were found in the room.

The clothing worn by the woman, although in poor condition, was excellent in material and make.

Several Greeks in the neighborhood had been in the habit of calling upon the woman frequently, and one of them, Stevia Pollmanakias, a peanut vender, was arrested as a material witness.

It was he who discovered the murder and informed the police.

CIRCUS POSTER

Was the Means of Uniting Lovers

MONTEPELIER, July 21.—When the advertising car of the Forepaugh & Sells Bros. circus was in Montpelier yesterday a romance developed from an ordinary circus poster, which today will be the means of uniting at Cleveland, O., a pair of lovers who have been separated 16 years.

In the posting crew was Dick Simpson, son of Paula, Kan. Ten years ago he and Miss Jennie E. Harris were sweethearts at Paula. They were engaged to be married, but she became jealous of him and they parted.

Later he learned that the parents of the girl had met with reverses and had moved to Cleveland, where Miss Harris, forced to earn her own living, had obtained employment with the Morgan lithograph company. Simpson said he would never return to her until she sent for him, but carried in his watch her faded picture.

While he was posting bills in this city, in opening a poster he came across this message in the handwriting he knew so well:

"Dick, come back. It was all my fault. Jennie E. Harris, 1317 East 3d street, Cleveland, O."

How the girl had learned that Simpson was on this car and how she smuggled her message on the poster which she hoped he would handle, Simpson did not stop to inquire. Dropping his paste brushes, he hurried to obtain from Harry B. Graham, the manager, a leave of absence, which was granted at once.

Simpson took the evening train for Cleveland, and said that before the sun went down on the day of his arrival there would be a wedding in which he and Miss Harris would be the central figures.

The 29 other billposters on the car gave Simpson a rough send-off and contributed a handsome sum to help him on his way.

APPEAL TO COURT

To Compel a Woman to Sell Him Ice

BOSTON, July 2.—A bill of complaint was filed in the superior court of courts at Cambridge yesterday by Edward Carr, a lawyer in Hopkinton, against Mrs. Abner Woods of the same town, asking for an injunction restraining her from refusing to sell him ice from any of the teams of the company of which she is proprietor. Carr claims that the men in the employ of Mrs. Woods have repeatedly refused to sell him any ice, even when they have been requested by him in person and after he has written letters of complaint to Mrs. Woods. He also claims that they have repeatedly hindered past his home when they have been signaled to stop, and have not come to a stop within 75 feet of his house. As the ice company owned by Mrs. Woods is the only one in the town, this greatly inconveniences him.

With the bill is inclosed a letter from Carr to Mrs. Woods, stating that if her employees refused to sell him ice any longer and that if he did not receive any before July 13, he would take legal action. Action was brought in the district court and is now pending. Carr asks for twenty-five pounds of ice every other day.

A fine program of sports was carried out and an excellent dinner was enjoyed.

THE CRIPPEN CASE

VERNET-LES-BAINS, France, July 21.—The police have received photographs of Dr. Hawley Crippen wanted in London in connection with the disappearance of his wife, Belle Elmore, and today submitted it to several persons who saw the stranger who stopped at a hotel here over Sunday night under the name of Henri Tarbot. In every instance those who saw the likeness declared Crippen and Tarbot were identical.

Hires

Means Health and Purity

Two questions alone are vital in the use of any beverage—Is it pure? Is it healthful?

The ingredients used in the manufacture of Hires are personally selected by its inventor, every one possessing a known health value. Many of them could be had at less than half their cost, but they would be less than half as good. The flavor—by which you judge—would be there, but the quality—by which we judge—would not.

Hires could not be made in cleaner vessels by cleaner methods—the tanks are glass-lined, the pipes are solid block tin, the water distilled and the workmen are clean—all under the constant supervision of a practical chemist—a graduate and formerly a professor in one of our foremost technical colleges.

Hires is pre-eminent in healthfulness and purity. It aids digestion and relieves indigestion. Without a trace of false stimulants or irritants such as soap bark, etc.

But don't ask for rootbeer—ask for Hires and thus be sure to get the only genuine rootbeer.

ANOTHER DROWNING

GORDON WILBUR MEETS DEATH, BY DROWNING

Gordon N. Wilbur Formerly of Lowell Drowned Near Lawrence

Gordon N. Wilbur, a clerk employed by the Hall Paint & Hardware company, 381 Essex street, Lawrence, was drowned in the Merrimack river about 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Cox's landing, about half a mile west of Glen forest.

Wilbur and a companion were spending the half holiday at a camp. They hired a boat and rowed out into the stream. After rowing around a while they decided to go in for a swim and returned to the shore. Wilbur, who could not swim, waded in and stepped into a hole and sank from sight.

Wilbur's companion, who remained in the boat, saw him come up once but could not reach him in time to save him.

The Methuen police were immediately notified and Harry Nimmo, Louis J. T. Dugdale, Arthur Connors and Harry Dowding hurried to the scene.

They sought for the body with the aid of grappling hooks and a net but without avail. At 3.20 o'clock the search was given up for the day but it was renewed this morning.

The deceased went to Lawrence from Lowell about a year ago. He is survived by his grandmother and an aunt in Lowell. He made his home in this city but had a room on Essex street, Lawrence, near his place of employment. He was about 26 years old. He came to Lowell from Amherst, N. B.

Mrs. Nell McPhail of this city is the grandmother of Gordon Wilbur, the young man who was drowned near Glen Forest yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McPhail is housekeeper for Dr. Bass in Tyler street, and it was but yesterday that she received a postal card from him, asking her to meet him in Lawrence today. Mrs. McPhail took a great interest in her grandson, and assisted him in many ways. The news of his sad and sudden death was a great shock to her. Mr. Edward Spaulding went to Lawrence this forenoon to arrange for the forwarding of the body to this city.

SUIT SETTLED

Defendant Asked For Sum of $10,000

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., July 21.—The $10,000 damage suit arising from an automobile accident of Luther H. Barber of Brattleboro against James N. White of the Wilcox & White company, musical instrument manufacturers of Groton, Conn., which opened before the U. S. district court at New-Haven before Judge James L. Martin yesterday morning, came to a sudden termination in the afternoon.

A counsel announced that a settlement had been effected whereby judgment would be ordered for the defendant with costs.

It is understood the insurance company in which the defendant carried a liability policy was to be made a defendant, and that the settlement was satisfactory to the company. No information is given of the amount.

Testimony was introduced at the morning session to show the condition of the automobile in which the plaintiff was riding with the defendant and Mrs. Burnett of Brattleboro, Vt., on May 10, 1909, when the accident occurred, near Berlin, Conn. In which Mr. Burnett was killed by the car turning over and Mr. Barber severely injured, including the puncturing of his left lung.

Mr. White, called as a witness by the plaintiff, testified that he had business dealings with Mr. Barber and that Mr. Barber went to Meriden, Conn., the day before the accident. He explained that he was taking Mr. Barber and Mr. Burnett on an automobile ride to Hartford, Conn., when the accident occurred.

Mr. White testified regarding the condition of his automobile and the steering gear, which the plaintiff declared was defective.

The defendant acknowledged that his son-in-law had charge of repairing the machine and told him that he would have the steering gear repaired. Witness said his chauffeur, Edward Ives, was about 21 or 22 years old. He knew him two years before the accident and had employed him about three months of that time.

Mr. White told of going all that he could for the welfare of Mr. Barber while he was in a hospital at Berlin, Conn., from May 13 to May 30. Witnesses were then taken and no more witnesses were called, the settlement followed ressembling in the afternoon.

MAN KILLED

HE WAS CRUSHED BY TONS OF ROCK

RUTLAND, Vt., July 21.—Ira Baker, 19 years old, unmarried, was killed last night at the quarry of the Clarendon Granite company, West Rutland, and the two men who were working with him, Elmer Powers and Edward Garry, were injured.

The men were working in the pit, when without warning 25 tons of rock fell from the side of the quarry. Baker was caught under the mass of stone, but the others got out of the way, and escaped with slight injuries.

The manager of the quarry put 25 men on to remove the mass of stone under which Baker's body lies.

There was dancing on the green, games were indulged in, refreshments were served and the good time continued during the afternoon and evening. Miss Gladys was the recipient of many beautiful birthday gifts, including an elegant gold watch from her brother George.

Among those present were Misses A. Lora Owen and Annie E. Riney of Cheshamford, Marion Goff, Marie J. C. O'Donnell, Helen E. Holey, Irene Wardell, Rhoda Witham and Florence E. Chittling of Lowell, and Miss Alice A. Sheehan of Fitchburg, Mass.

BOY IS DYING

He Was Hanged for Robber in Wild West Play

BOSTON, July 21.—Edward Trainor, aged 13, of 165 Bridge street, Cambridge, is believed to be dying at the Massachusetts General hospital as a result of hanging himself while playing "Wild West" near his home yesterday afternoon.

Trainor was playing in the yard in the rear of 123 Bridge street with a number of boys of his age. All the exciting adventures of the "Wild West" were tried out. Some one suggested that a "robber" be hung, at a time when the play dragged, and Young Trainor volunteered for the part of the robber. Standing upon a stone under a high crossbar in the back yard, he allowed his companions to tie him to the bar under his armpits with pieces of strong twine. Thinking this was not realistic enough, he tied the string around his neck too. While the boys were dancing around the captive in the stone, rolled from under Trainor's feet and he was suspended in air. The weight of his body broke the string under his armpits, but that around his neck held, and he swung too and from before the gaze of his frightened companions.

Their clamor called to the scene Mrs. Mary Sullivan. She thought the children were only playing, but when she saw Trainor hanging by his neck from the bar, she rushed to the spot and cut the string.

Trainor dropped apparently lifeless to the ground. An ambulance was summoned, and the boy was taken to the hospital. He was still unconscious at midnight.

BOARD OF TRADE

CONTINUES TO ADD TO ITS MEMBERSHIP

The board of trade is doing great work as was evidenced at the regular weekly meeting of the membership committee held at the Park hotel yesterday noon, when seven new names were added to the already large list of an up to date and flourishing membership. The total number added to the membership since the committee began work a few weeks ago is 60. It is purposed to finish up the summer campaign for new members at the annual outing Aug. 1, so that a list of work is necessary to bring the membership up to the number purposed at the beginning of the campaign before the date of the outing. Several members of the committee who have not attended the committee meetings, or offered excuses for being absent, were dropped from the committee and new names substituted. It was felt that this step was necessary in order to have those members of the committee who were doing the work. Each member of the committee will be urged to bring in at least two new names at each weekly meeting from now on. Following is a list of the names submitted yesterday:

D. Smith, 411 Middlesex street; Geo. L. Cady, Jr., 150 Mt. Vernon street; Wm. T. Wiggin, M. D., 616 Wyman's Exchange; Haven G. Hill, Esq., 11 Hill-dreth building; H. C. McOsker, 123 Central street; M. E. Adams, Coffey Bros.; John H. Burke, 32 Coburn street.

MILLIONAIRE JONES

Piloted His Horse to Victory in $10,000 Race

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 21.—Before 8000 spectators Frank G. Jones, the millionaire horse owner of Memphis, Tenn., made his debut here yesterday in driving for money by piloting his horse to victory in the Furniture Manufacturers' $10,000 stake, his recent purchase, Diddle Archdale, the little black mare with which he expects to sweep the Grand Circuit board.

The clever horseman, who has hitherto been known as one of America's foremost amateur reinmen, not only won the rich classic with his own mare, but he drove The Abbe to the front in the 2.16 pace, and landed Diddle Direct twice third in the fourth event.

Mr. Jones, who was so severely shaken up Tuesday from the hospital, yesterday morning, and he rode to the races in a carriage, from which he watched his horses as they were driven by his enthusiastic patron. He is still bandaged and very sore, but will soon resume his seat in the sulky.

It is doubtful if Jones could have done any better with his horses yesterday than did his substitute, for both Diddle Archdale and The Abbe had speed to spare and the going was fairly easy.

In the rich manufacturers' purse Diddle Archdale was the choice at $100. Bism was at $45, Gamar $35, Arlo Leyburn $25 and the field $40. When they got the word the little black mare rushed to the front and showed the way to a closely racing bunch.

Bism Tries Hard
Bism, the Allen farm product, had gotten away in the ruck and at the three-eighths pole was five lengths back. Here Cox began a drive and although obliged to go a long mile he was beaten by only a half length by Gamar for the place and was a length back of the Gears mare at the wire.

Bism got through earlier in the second heat, but after getting to the Archdale mare's wheel at the distance hung, and the little black mare won by a length.

In the final heat, after Arlo Leyburn had shot his bolt at the seven-eighths, Bism, finishing very fast, caught Diddle Archdale at the short flag and only the short distance to go saved the Gears entry, for the Bay State mare was fairly flying when she rushed under the wire with her nose at the winner's saddle.

Gamar and Don Labor, both highly touted horses before the race, were on a run in the second heat and were distanced.

By this race it would seem that Diddle Archdale is a more reliable horse than the one at Detroit, for she met yesterday's seasoned campaigners and a better class of trotters than will turn for the word in her class at Detroit.

The Abbe, a 2-to-1 choice, over his field, made good by fairly outpacing good lot. Only once did his course look rough, and that was in the final heat, when Sara Ann Patch showed the way far into the stretch, with Andy N. J. Nellie G and Lady Athol around her forming a barrier for the fast Chimes horse, but his amateur driver pulled wide and had Nellie G and the Pompano sprinter horse beaten at the draw gate.

Sonoma Girl was an even money choice over her small field with The Harvester and Bob Douglas drawn. Bob Douglas is not considered ready by McDonald, and Mr. Jones said that the Harvester is such a peevish horse that he did not dare to put a stranger driver behind him.

It looked to be an easy win for the Boston mare, but she broke badly at the quarter each heat, losing so much ground that it required all of her step to get inside the flag.

Margie showed the way most of the war, but the roan mare was not up to the clip, and "Knapp" McCarthy landed the veteran Oro twice, which gave him the long end of the purse.

King Cole made easy work of his field in the 2.08 pace, after Waverly had captured the first heat in a hard drive from W. A.

Diddle Not Strong on Looks
The talent, believing Mr. Jones would make it three straight victories for the day, played Diddle Direct strongly at even money over the field; but she broke badly in the pinches, and even her superior speed was of no avail.

Diddle Archdale is a most peculiar-looking mare. While she has speed galore and perfect manners she looks very frail, has little or no physical qualities to attract one, and, in fact, is what horsemen would call "very cheap looking."

The track yesterday was not fast and a very strong wind made fast time impossible. The summary:

ONE COSTLY SURPRISE
AURORA, Ill., July 21.—Two favorites brought home the money at the races yesterday when Darpa Reaper and Morning Light won the trotting events. The 2.16 pace proved a Waterloo for the favorite players, however, as Skiddoo, an outsider, proved the victor in the best race of the day.

Tushie and Kiawah were picked as best, but neither was ever in the hunt. One of the lines on Kiawah broke just after the word was given in the first heat and the horse ran into the fence and was pulled up, distanced.

Morning Light won the 2.24 trot and did not have to extend himself to do it. The drivers of Silver, Gratton and Auctioneer, the horses that stood best in the 2.10 pace yesterday, agreed to divide first and second moneys. All bets on the race were declared off. The summary:

CHINA'S REPLY A PEPPERELL WOMAN

To the Russo-Japanese Convention is Announced

PEKING, July 21.—China's reply to the announcement of the recently concluded Russo-Japanese convention was delivered at the legations of these two countries today. As had been expected the Peking government does not fail to point out its satisfaction at the expressed purpose upon the part of Russia and Japan to adhere to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty and over the mutual pledge for the maintenance in Manchuria of the status quo and the principle of the open door for commercial development. In this connection China lays special emphasis upon article III of the Portsmouth treaty which reads as follows:

(1) to evacuate completely and simultaneously Manchuria except the territory affected by the lease of the Liautung peninsula in conformity with the provisions of additional article I annexed to this treaty, and (2) to restore entirely and completely to the exclusive administration of China all portions of the territory above mentioned. The government of Russia declares that it has not in Manchuria any territorial advantages or preferential or exclusive concessions in impairment of China's sovereignty or inconsistent with the principle of equal opportunity.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two Men and Two Women Were Nearly Killed

MADISON, Wis., July 21.—Two men and two young women, the latter of New York city, had narrow escapes from death early today when the automobile in which they were returning to Guilford from a ride through the country struck the west abutment of the Hammond river bridge and landed bottom side up in shallow water. One of the men was carried down in the car and seriously hurt. The others either jumped or were thrown out and suffered only minor injuries. The party included Miss Elizabeth Harvey and her sister, Miss Ellen Harvey of New York, who are spending the summer with their parents at a cottage at Mulberry Point, Guilford, Robert Butler of Guilford and Burgess Starr, chauffeur for Frank Gorham of New York, owner of the automobile. Butler, who fell with the car and was pinned under it, was the most seriously injured. His leg was broken and he suffered severe bruises about the head and body.

Was Ordered Held for the Grand Jury

SANFORD, Me., July 21.—Mrs. Loreta Kimball, wife of Willis Kimball of East Pepperell, Mass., was before the municipal court here yesterday, charged with attempting to introduce a hacksaw into Alfred jail for the purpose of aiding Albert E. Bailey of Pepperell to escape.

Bailey is held at Alfred for the September term of the supreme court charged with breaking and entering and larceny at South Berwick.

Sheriff Charles O. Emery, who is also jailer, suspected from the correspondence between Bailey and Mrs. Kimball that a saw would be sent to Bailey in a newspaper. Last Thursday, in a parcel addressed to Bailey, a saw was found wrapped in a newspaper. The writing on the parcel and the letter which followed were similar.

The sheriff procured a warrant from Judge Hanson of the Sanford court, and when Mrs. Kimball appeared he placed her under arrest and she was held for a hearing yesterday.

Mrs. Kimball retained Ruggles S. Higgins as counsel, and in court admitted the authorship of the letter and also said that she sent the newspaper depositing it in the rural free delivery box at her home, but that it was in a different wrapper from that exhibited in court, and she denied all knowledge of the saw.

Mrs. Kimball said she was married and had six children, the oldest 26 and the youngest 10 years old, and that she had known Bailey since he was a child. She said he had been at her home frequently in the past three years and that he had got into trouble through drink.

Mrs. Kimball said she had taken an interest in the young man through sympathy and came here to cheer him up. She said that since he had written to her that he was in trouble, she had written him once a week.

Judge Hanson found probable cause and held her for the grand jury at the September term of the supreme court in the sum of $500. It is understood from Mrs. Kimball's counsel that bail will be furnished.

FALL RIVER MILLS

Sold Back $400,000 Worth of Raw Cotton to the Market

FALL RIVER, July 21.—It is stated that Fall River mills have sold and shipped to New York over 5000 bales of cotton within the past few days and that the receipts from these sales will exceed $400,000. This move is unprecedented in the history of the industry in this city, and only an unusual combination of circumstances could have made the disposal of so large an amount possible.

There were a number of mills which had purchased cotton enough to run their plants to October or November at a price which averaged low in comparison with present quotations. This cotton was not bought in a speculative way or in excess of the requirements of the mills, but for actual use in the intervening months, but prices for goods ruled so low that it became necessary to curtail the output of cloth, and as a consequence the consumption of cotton was proportionately reduced. Under normal conditions this cotton would have still been kept in the storehouses and used at a later time, but when the opportunity came to sell this cotton for spot cash at a profit of 2 and 3 cents a pound, there was no hesitation in taking advantage of the situation and selling as much as could be let out without the necessity of immediate buying to replace it.

These mills which were in a position to do this have procured a handsome profit and at the same time have a sufficient supply of cotton on hand to meet their requirements, which still shows on their books at an average price per pound of 2 to 3 cents below the present market. In other words they have lost none of the benefits of shrewd purchases made in the spring, and have at the same time an unexpected and very acceptable profit, which offsets in a large measure the losses in manufacturing.

JAPANESE FORCES BUSY

VICTORIA, B. C., July 21.—Further advices of the little war Japanese are waging against Fernoson aborigines were brought out by the steamer Awa Maru yesterday. The Japanese forces are now building 307 miles of entrenched lines with blockhouses. The fighting is mostly in thick forests and mountainsides. The Japanese forces went into action at thirty yards, the natives throwing themselves on the bayonets unaware what bayonets were and surprised that they could be placed on rifles. The natives used bullets of wood tipped with lead.

BROOKLINE, July 21.—The fourth day's play in the 20th annual Longwood Cricket club lawn tennis tourney started today with several leading players of the country meeting in matches that brought the singles to the semi-final stages. One of the most interesting matches this morning was between G. P. Touchard of New York and M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco. No upsets like that of yesterday, when William A. Larned, national singles champion, and W. G. Wrenn fell before Beals Wright and Raymond Little, were expected in the eastern doubles championship matches today.

POLICE DROP INVESTIGATION
CHICAGO, July 21.—The Chicago police have dropped the investigation into the death of Ira Rawn, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville railroad (Monon). Herman Schuetzler, acting chief of police, said today that he was satisfied that Mr. Rawn had committed suicide. He announced his decision after a long conference with the detectives, who had investigated the Winnetka tragedy. The police point to suicide, according to the detectives.

Despite the withdrawal of the Chicago police, the private detectives employed by the Rawn family continued their investigation and steadfastly declared that Mr. Rawn was killed by a burglar.

The suicide theory is believed to have been strengthened by the results of an investigation of Coroner Hoffman. While Mr. Hoffman has not announced his theory of Mr. Rawn's death it is said he tends toward the suicide theory. The bullet hole in Mr. Rawn's night garment has been carefully examined by the police and they said its appearance leads to the suicide belief. The hole is surrounded by bloodstains in which there are several particles thought to be powder marks. If they prove to be powder marks the police think there would be little doubt that Mr. Rawn killed himself.

While the private detectives announced yesterday that they expected to make an important arrest today no one was taken into custody.

JUVENILE COURT
Tomorrow morning there will be a special session of the juvenile court in the rooms of the second session. The court will convene at 10 o'clock and will be presided over by His Honor, Judge John J. Pickman. There are several youngsters under the age of 16 years who are accused of breaking glass, stealing fruit and flowers, and being stubborn children. These various complaints will be considered by the court and most of them will either be placed in the hands of the probation officer or allowed to go in charge of the state of affairs.

THE CITIZEN WHO STANDS AGAINST PROGRESS

The citizen who has no real live active interest in the city in which he lives is a clog upon the wheels of progress.

How often have we seen some laudable movement started for the benefit of the city only to be blocked by some kickler or some obstructionist who for selfish reasons stands out in opposition.

The first thing to be determined in such a case is, whether the object is one that will benefit the city as a whole, whether it will benefit the people of the entire city or even of a particular part of it.

We cannot afford to be sectional in such matters. Because a proposed public park would benefit one part of the city more than any other the city council defeated it. That action is sectional and unprogressive.

Let each section be provided for in turn. It is impossible to provide for all at the same time, but the member of the city council who defeats a good proposition for that purpose is injuring, rather than helping the city. There are too many of our city officials ready to pursue a policy of this kind to the detriment of the city. If they have any other good reason of a personal nature they should make it known. We understand the members of the common council urge as an excuse for their action the over officious conduct of a certain alderman. If they had any such reason they should have made it known to the public so that their action might not be misjudged.

The proposed auto races is another matter on which there seems to be unnecessary cavilling on some points. To those who go outside of Lowell it is plain that the auto races do Lowell more good than is generally supposed. There are citizens, however, standing upon technical rights who, it seems, should be satisfied if they be secured against all damages as a result of the races.

It would be a great boon to our city if all citizens could work together for the common good once they find a movement in progress that promises to help our city in any form.

The auto races of last year were not a great financial success because a vast amount was spent in improving roads, building bridges, fences and grandstands; but the city was greatly benefited by the reputation it gained outside, and if races are held this year the people will expect something almost as good as they saw last year. Thus the prestige established last year will help the races this year. These are some of the reasons why we regret that there is any opposition as it militates directly against Lowell in tending to spoil an opportunity to keep her name to the front and give her a reputation that she never could attain in any other way.

We stand greatly in need of a little public spirit and local pride that will shame the chronic growlers into support of a policy that will benefit the city as a whole and extend her good name at home and abroad.

SLEEPING IN THE OPEN AIR

The habit of sleeping outdoors is becoming quite common with physicians and others who understand its health preserving and curative qualities. We have many physicians in Lowell, including some of the oldest men in the profession, who sleep on their verandas at night. In this they set a good example, for it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the benefits to be derived from sleeping in the open air are very great.

What is known as the "open air treatment" has been found to be the only treatment that can be relied upon to check or cure tuberculosis in the early stages.

The benefits derived by the patients who are treated in the tuberculosis camp of the Lowell General hospital illustrate the advantages of sleeping in the open air. Of course the patients receive a general dietetic treatment at the same time; but this treatment given under other conditions would not have the beneficial effects shown when the patients sleep in the open air.

Sleeping outdoors is recommended by some of the best health authorities in the country. It is resorted to by those in good health in order that they may escape disease and by those who are sick that they may get well.

Dr. Carrington of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis says: "Outdoor sleeping is not a fad nor is it to be considered only as a means of curing disease. Thousands of healthy families have their sleeping porches in connection with their bed-rooms."

Many other eminent physicians give similar testimony to the health giving effects of outdoor sleeping. The people have not yet become sufficiently accustomed to it. In summer there are few difficulties connected with outdoor sleeping. All that is needed under a veranda roof is a little protection for the head and a fly netting. Many do not mind the netting, having no dread of bugs or moths. It is easy to rig up a bed outdoors. The cot bed is a favorite, the same clothing being used or a little heavier than would be required indoors. Those who have no piazza or who live in flats might use the roof of the house for this purpose in summer.

It is plain that this idea of sleeping outdoors will lead to a modification in the construction of our dwellings so as to make ample provision for sleeping outdoors in privacy and security.

The task in winter offers more difficulties as it is not entirely safe to sleep outdoors in all kinds of weather. There might be danger of freezing in bed, but this is avoided by sleeping indoors near an open window so that the full benefit of the fresh air can be obtained. There is a window tent which while it excludes the severity of the weather admits the fresh air about the head of the person who sleeps there, so that the advantages of the outer air are fully enjoyed without the cold, the rain or the blast. Women, owing to their heavier head protection, can risk the rigors of cold weather by sleeping at an open window even better than men.

Altogether this habit of sleeping in the open air is one that is to be encouraged as calculated to do good. Those who reside in the congested districts and cannot avail themselves of the advantages derived from this reversion to the natural condition of living will at least realize more forcibly the value and the necessity of fresh air as one of the first elements of life and health and may at least be expected to pay far greater attention to the important question of ventilation which in many cases has been woefully neglected.

SEEN AND HEARD

A CHANGE OF BAIT

A sun-burned kid, with a tattered lid and a coat a size too large, With a piece of twine for a fishing line, Sits fishing on a barge That's tied to a stake at the edge of the lake. Where the wavelets gently lap, It's a kind of a sin, but I sit and grin As I watch the little chap. Transfix a worm that will wiggle and squirm On the end of his fishing hook, Or a small green frog that he caught in the bog On the other side of the brook.

He's proud of the job of the floating bob That he's tied to his line with care; There's a sudden swish as he lands his fish. From the depths of its hidden lair: It is proudly viewed, and the bait renewed.

From the can where he keeps his store, Then he lets it drop with a sudden plop In his eager quest for more, And he waits, too, for they come to view. In the twinkling of an eye: And I'm clean outside, for never a one Will come where I'm sitting by.

For, much as I wish, there's never a fish Will rise to my tempting fly, And my brand-new reel, on my rod of steel I've never a chance to try.

For they pass my place to the freckled face Of the lad in the anchored punt— Keep swimming past as I make my cast.

In my vain and useless hunt, For a fish that will try to grab my fly And be tempted to its fate, So I go to the spot where the fish are caught.

And fish with a silver ball. —Red and Gun Magazine.

Patrons of the Royal Dairy Lunch were much amused one day last week, says the Salem News, to hear the comments of some Ohioans over the bill of fare and their guesses as to what this or that dish on the card was. "New England boiled dinner" attracted the eye of several, and it was amusing to hear them guess as to what it would be like when served. One man, when he saw corned beef, cabbage, beans, parsnips, etc., hardly knew what to think of it and was quite astonished to see the whole thing served to him on one dish. Those who gladly smiled at the thought of seeing a boiled dinner served with eight or ten small dishes each containing a different vegetable. That the Ohioan enjoyed the meal was quite apparent by the condition of his plate when time was called. He was one of those attending the big teachers' convention in Boston, and no doubt will remember that car-cabage dinner as one of the surprises of his Salem trip.

A young husband entered a department store and at last found the counter where women's handwear was displayed, and, approaching rather hesitatingly, remarked, "I want a pair of gloves."

"How long do you want them?" inquired the businesslike clerk. "I don't want to rent them; I want to buy them," answered the young fellow.

And then the question arose as to whether the joke was on the young hubby or on the clerk.

THE EARTH, THE MOON, THE COMET

The old Earth was sleepy, and rolled into bed, And the clouds were the pillows under his head; While the Moon, his old wife, stood by with her light, And tucked him up snugly and bade him "good-night."

But neither the Earth nor the Moon was aware There was coming a Star with a singular glare.

And a terrible fall, across their track, That wasn't set down in their almanac.

But the Moon soon awoke and discovered This Star plunging along through the night from afar;

She nudged her husband, and bade him look out, For a fiery monster was roaming about!

And nearer and nearer the Comet came, With his blazing head and tail of flame.

Some millions of miles in length they say, And the poor Earth trembled in sore dismay.

For the Comet was robed in fire and mist, And frowned and glared and doubled his fist.

'Till the Earth's round face grew long with fright, And the Moon in her terror let fall her light!

But all of a sudden their terror was gone, For the Comet wheeled by on his way to the sun;

And they waited to see him go tearing his hair Far away in the distance in rage and despair.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the Earth, and "Ho, ho!" cried the Moon, "I don't think you'll scare us again very soon."

You make a great show in the sky as you pass, But astronomers say you are nothing but gas!"

From St. Nicholas, October, 1874.

A member of the Brockton Ministers' association was telling of the caustic wit of a veteran minister of his earlier acquaintance, now gone to his reward. On one occasion, while traveling on a Sound steamer, a well known sharper, who wished to get into the minister's good graces, and who was known to have defrauded certain Plymouth county people, said:

"Sir, I should very much like to hear one of your sermons."

"Well," said the clergyman, "you could have heard me last Sunday if you had been where you should have been."

"Where was that, pray?" answered the minister, as he walked away.

RIGHTS OF PITTMAN (Brockton Times.)

William Pittman, the Bostonian, captured by the Maritz force while operating in the Nicaraguan hostilities, has been having a checkered time of it, but as thus been more fortunate than Groce and Cannon, the Americans who lost their lives through execution after capture. It was this act and the American investigation it caused which led to the fight of Zelaya, and the cause of his being an exile today. It is apparently the desire of those responsible as Zelaya's successors, and also those identified with Nicaraguan affairs in any way, to be more careful now they conduct themselves before official American eyes.

Immediately upon Pittman's capture, warning was given that the United States would not tolerate the beginning of anything likely to lead to a repetition of the Groce and Cannon case. More recently, when it was found that Pittman was being neglected in captivity, subjected to hunger, unwholesome surroundings and other hardships, notice was quickly given that the wrongs complained of be righted, and it is understood, under the surveillance of the American consul in the country, prompt heed has been given to Uncle Sam's demand.

Which is no more than right, whatever the status of the American under the laws of war as later to be found. Americans certainly don't want discoveries of rights of their fellow citizens to be made after it is too late for them to be availed of. Since the capture of Pittman, until his proper status can be justly and regularly established, is simply an ordinary act of prudence and justice, to be backed to the limit of American resources.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT—AND WHY (Johnstown Democrat.)

That there is a system in this country and that the republican powers in Washington are faithful servants of it has been borne out by facts for several years, but if the insurgents and demagogues of the next congress, as now seems assured, some relief from its criminal operations may confidently be expected. One relief may come in the postoffice department, where conditions are a disgrace to civilization.

We have before us the latest issue of La Jette's Washington, in which Herman D. Walker, a noted Washington correspondent, has a lengthy article, entitled "Why We Have a Postal Deficit."

Mr. Walker finds that last year the United States postoffice did business at a loss of about $17,500,000.

Keep the figures in mind. On American railroads today, mail and express cars are hauled in the same trains, and the government pays the railroads anywhere from three to five times as much for hauling the mail cars as the express companies pay for hauling express cars. This is not mere assertion. It is a notorious fact. It is a long-standing scandal.

Thus it is easy to account for the $17,500,000 deficit.

The Wells-Fargo Express company last year divided profits of $23,800,000 among its stockholders. In addition to paying an annual 10 per cent dividend of $800,000, the Wells-Fargo company, in 1909, paid an extra dividend of $60 per cent out of its surplus profits. This is the company's own report. It is official.

There is another fact: We carry magazines from New York to Chicago, by mail, for one cent a pound, and pay the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transportation. The express companies carry magazines, the same distance, at the same rate—one cent a pound—and pay the railroads less than half a cent a pound for transportation. To put it in another way, the railroads carry magazines for the express companies for less than half a cent a pound, but when magazines are sent by mail the railroads charge the government four and a half cents a pound for the same service!

The railroads make large profits in hauling magazines for express companies at less than half a cent a pound and the express companies, which charge an even cent a pound for hauling magazines, pay immense dividends to their stockholders. Yet in spite of all this the postoffice department pays the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transporting magazines! Thus a fraction more than four cents for every pound of such mail transported represents pure graft. The railroads get it and the government scented government at Washington is content!

It is not any wonder that there is an enormous postal deficit. And it is apparent that the deficit is the deliberate aim of the postal authorities, many of whom no doubt hold office through the influence of the railroad corporations and therefore are careful not to do anything to hurt the railroads.

Postal deficits are unknown in other great governments. Last year Great Britain cleared up a profit of $22,000,000 in its postal business. Germany made $15,000,000. Russia, the most despised monarchy in the world, also made a profit of $15,000,000 and France turned a profit to its account of $14,000,000. It is estimated by experts that the United States, if it should pay the railroads the same rate the express companies do for transportation, could very materially reduce postal rates and find itself at the close of each year from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 to the good. But this would mean that much less of the railroad interests—and there's the rub.

NEW MEN AND NEW METHODS DEMANDED [Lawrence American]

For many years we have urged the importance of a new system of municipal government for the city of Lawrence, calling attention to some of the inherent weaknesses of the present system, and the obsolete methods prescribed by the ancient city charter.

It has been urged by men who have apparently been opposed to innovations, that the present system is not at fault, but that it was the men and not the system that were responsible for all the shortcomings registered against the city government.

It is true that the human element enters into any system. If men are recreant to their trusts, then the best system of municipal government which could be devised would be no safeguard against graft and corruption. But, under a modern and up-to-date city charter, with the referendum and recall, there would be remedies which the citizens of Lawrence do not now possess.

In every case where modern city charters have replaced the old forms, improvement in the personnel of the city governments has been noticed.

It is recognized by good citizens generally, the necessity for a radical change in the methods of conducting the city's business.

Better methods will mean better men. Civic spirit must be aroused, for without it, nothing can be accomplished.

LIEUT. FLETCHER IS THE MARVEL OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The medical officers at the Presidio were astounded yesterday when it developed during the annual physical examination of officers that a new army record had been established by a young lieutenant of the 8th Infantry. Violating all laws of physical growth, Lieut. Robert R. Fletcher has in a single year grown four inches to his height and 45 pounds to his weight.

A year ago Lieut. Fletcher, at the age of 25, weighed 165 pounds, measured 31 inches around the waist and extended upward to an altitude of six feet. At this time his weight is 210 pounds, his waist measurement is 32 inches and the crown of his head extends to the ambitious elevation of six feet four inches.

Though the men of medicine and science are frankly puzzled, a number of reasons have been ascribed as a possible cause. One officer states that it is possible that a new army ration is responsible.

LAWN PARTY.

One of the prettiest lawn parties of the season was held last evening on the grounds of Miss Bessie Bent, 1275 Bridge street, by the Spindle City Lodge, I. O. G. T. The grounds were adorned by Japanese lanterns, artistically strung from tree to tree, and there were other decorations which made the grounds very attractive.

There was music for dancing on the green by hardy gurdy and games were played by the younger people, all present having a most enjoyable time. Another affair will probably be held some time in the middle of August for the benefit of the lodge. The committee in charge were Miss Edith Young, Mrs. Jennie Muck, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, Miss Alice McLean, Morton Davis, Fred Osgood, Stephen Taylor and R. Roberts.

TYPHOID FEVER

State Health Boards Take Steps to Suppress Its Ravages

BOSTON, July 21.—The importance of contact infection and "Modern Methods of Quarantine" were discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Massachusetts association of boards of health at Gallups Island yesterday afternoon. A committee of five members of the association was appointed to consider steps toward the stamping out of typhoid fever as one of the diseases spread by contact infection.

Shortly after 12:30 the health board vigilant left the foot of State street and carried the members directly to Gallups Island, where dinner was in readiness. There were 84 at table. At the business meeting Dr. Henry P. Wolcott, president.

Dr. Charles V. Chapin of Providence was unable to be present, but his paper upon "The Importance of Contact Infection" was read by Dr. Stack. Dr. Chapin pointed out that the term contact infection is somewhat hard to define, as it is not absolutely direct contact, but by infection of that sort is meant cases where the person transmitting the disease must be close to or have been in contact with something which later reaches the second person.

Many such cases of typhoid have had apparently no connection with other cases, but close investigation usually shows that there has been "contact." Much of the disease, like that typhoid fever is recognized as a preventable disease and it should be the business of the medical profession, not that of the laity, to see that it is stamped out. He made a motion that the association appoint a committee of five of its members to act for it in the matter of taking the proper steps and making such efforts as may be necessary to endeavor to stamp out typhoid fever in this state. Drs. Charles V. Chapin of Providence, George Denney of Brookline, Edwin D. Brough of Boston, Davis of Boston and Tobey of Clinton were appointed.

Dr. Brough of Boston said that he believed smallpox can be conveyed other than by direct contact, but he laid great stress upon the attention which should be given to mild cases of contagious diseases.

Quarantine Practice

Prof. Milton J. Rosenau of Boston spoke upon "Modern Methods of Quarantine," speaking from his experience in such work in both temperate and tropical zones and tracing the growth of the quarantine idea down to the present time. At present, he said, we have only six diseases—yellow fever, cholera, typhoid fever, plague, smallpox and leprosy—against which we enforce a quarantine, and then for a limited number of days instead of forty days or more as used to be the case.

He referred to the old-time fear of relapsing fever caused, and said that only recently a case of it had been received in one of the hospitals without objection. He told of modern science has shown of the work of rats and of mosquitoes in spreading diseases. He told briefly of the quarantines of various sorts and in different countries, and said he believed one of the most effective preventive of diseases is the forced inspection service, whereby passengers to this country are looked over by physicians before leaving foreign ports. He regretted that this valuable inspection is not so general as it was some years ago.

Old and New Methods. The quarantine officer he likened to a coast defense, although his work is against an invisible foe, the germ having birth in his mind, he said, because of the reports of the guns at Fort Warren, where the coast artillery was at practice with the small guns. In a clean city there can be no grave danger of serious outbreaks of disease, he claimed, and therefore the aim should be to keep the cities clean, so that long restrictive quarantines will become a thing of the past.

Dr. Samuel H. Durgin told of the history of the quarantine work in Boston from 1564, when he began the work, up to the present, illustrating the difference in methods then and now by pointing out the uses for which the shed, in which the dinner was served, had been built.

After the meeting the whole party steamed across the harbor to visit the U. S. S. Chicago, on which the naval reserves are having their summer service work.

LARGE INCREASE IN OUR FOREIGN COMMERCE DURING LAST TEN YEARS

Fruits and nuts valued at $68 million dollars have passed through ports of the United States during the last ten years. Of that amount, $25 million represents the value of imports from foreign countries, $15 million the value of exports to foreign countries, $13 million receipts from noncontiguous territories of the United States, and 5 million shipments to those territories.

The value of fruits and nuts imported into, and exported from the country in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1910, was in round terms $5 million dollars, of which about one-third represented exports. A compilation made by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor states the year's imports of fruits and nuts at $6 million and exports at $2 million dollars.

A study of the commercial movement during the last decade or two develops the fact that domestic production is rapidly supplanting certain classes of fruits, formerly imported in large quantities. This applies especially to raisins, grapes and oranges. Certain other lines, in which local production is still insufficient to meet home consumption, continue to increase in value of imports; notably bananas, figs, walnuts, coconuts and almonds.

Comparing the imports of the year just ended with those of a decade ago, imports of fruits and nuts as a whole have increased from 21 million dollars in 1900 and 19 million in 1909 to about 36 million dollars in 1910. Oranges, which in 1900 showed a total importation of 2 million dollars, had by 1909 decreased to 1 million and by 1910 to less than 100 thousand dollars in value. Raisins in 1900 were valued at 2 million dollars. Prunes showed in 1900 an importation of 1 1/2 million dollars; in 1909, 38 thousand dollars, and in 1910, an even less value. Lemons were imported in 1900 to the value of 1 1/2 million dollars; in 1909 were 3 1/2 million dollars; in 1910 were 3 1/2 million, but in 1909 decreased to 3 million, or less than the figures of 1900.

On the other hand, bananas, valued at 4 1/2 million in 1900, increased to 6 million in 1909, and nearly 12 million in 1910. Almonds, valued at less than 1 million dollars in 1900 and 1909, showed in 1910 imports to the value of more than 3 million dollars. Coconuts, in 1900 were imported to the value of 322 thousand dollars; in 1909, 703 thousand, and in 1910, 1 1/2 million dollars. Walnuts, first separately enumerated in 1903, have increased in value of imports from a little over 1 million dollars in that year to 3 1/2 million in 1910.

On the export side a far more rapid growth has occurred since 1900. In that year the total value of all fruits and nuts exported from the country was but 4 million dollars; in 1909 the total had increased to nearly 12 million, and in 1910, about 19 million dollars. The principal articles contributing to this growth are apples, prunes, oranges, raisins, apricots, canned fruits, and nuts. Exports of dried apples have increased from 1 million dollars in 1900 to 21 1/2 million in 1909 and 1910; apples in 1900 and 3 million in 1910; apples as a whole thus having increased from 2 to over 5 million in ten years. Oranges of domestic production increased value of exports from a quarter million dollars in 1900 to over 2 million in 1910; dried apricots, from 75 thousand dollars in 1902, the earliest year in which shown, to 1 million in 1910; prunes, from 1 1/2 million in 1900 to 4 million in 1909, and less than 3 million in 1910. The exports of nuts were $25,000 in 1900, and in 1909 were stated at only 156 thousand dollars, compared with about 400 thousand dollars in the year just ended. Of the latter class peanuts is the chief factor, the exports in the last five years having amounted to nearly 20 million dollars, valued at 1 1/2 dollars. Of foreign fruits consumed in the United States, bananas supply about one-third. The imported bananas come chiefly from Costa Rica, Honduras, and Panama in Central America; the British West Indies, and Cuba.

Italy supplies practically all the lemons imported into the country. Of currants, the Xante variety, produced in Greece, supplies most of the imports. Raisins, formerly coming in at the rate of 2 million dollars per annum, chiefly from Spain and Turkey in Asia, have practically disappeared as an article of importation, and, as above indicated, are now becoming an important article of export.

WOMEN BARRED AS STENOGRAPHERS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Women stenographers apparently no longer are wanted in the government service.

This announcement was made yesterday at the civil service commission in an effort to put a stop to a steadily increasing flood of letters from women throughout the country who seek information about an examination for stenographers to be held Tuesday in all the states and territories.

The examination is for the purpose of recruiting only men—stenographers and typists, the demand for whom the civil service commission has been unable to meet.

Practically all the various departments of the government are seeking to replace women stenographers with men, on the ground that the latter are more amenable to discipline, are more easily transferred to places where their services are needed and can more readily be drafted into other kinds of work.

After the regular forenoon meeting the delegates boarded a boat and sailed up the bay where one of the clam-bakes for which the state is famous was prepared for them. The morning session was a brief one. A paper by N. W. Littlefield of Providence, on "Commerce and the Bankruptcy Act" was read by Chester W. Barrows, his associate, the author being unable to attend because of illness. "Corporations as commercial collection agencies" was the subject of an address by Frederick Donnan of New York and E. M. SUICIDE STORY

In Case of Ira Rawn is Doubtful

CHICAGO, July 21.—The rumor late yesterday that Ira Rawn, late president of the Monon railroad, found fatally shot in his home here early yesterday morning was not killed by a burglar, as at first reported, but committed suicide. It is apparently contradicted by the fact that Mr. Rawn wrote, it was addressed to W. A. Gardner, vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern, asking him to handle his private car between Chicago and Clevelo lake next Saturday. Mr. Rawn's friends say that this letter is proof that he had no idea of taking his own life.

Monday afternoon a friend of Mr. Rawn related a long conversation with the late president of the road which bore upon the theory that Mr. Rawn was in splendid spirits.

"The talk was largely personal," said this friend, "and Mr. Rawn disclosed that he and Mrs. Rawn were arranging a 'honeymoon trip' to Europe late this fall and were keeping it a secret. He told me that when he was married he was too poor to take a wedding trip and that ever since his marriage he had been too busy to take one. Although Mrs. Rawn and I have had great opportunity for making trips," he said to me, "it dawned upon us suddenly that we had in reality never had a trip all alone. It seemed that on every occasion we had a guest or two and that we never had an old fashioned trip together. We agreed that it was about time that we had our honeymoon trip and decided to take it after all these years. So we have planned to steal away later in the fall after I have got the road in good shape, take a steamer in New York and go to Europe to wander around for a while with no one to molest us."

TAFT AT BAR HARBOR

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 21.—Another day of ideal weather called the president early ashore from the Mayflower this morning and before 9 o'clock he was on his way to the golf links of the Kebo valley club. Mr. Taft made a low score, 99, for the 18 holes in his first trial yesterday afternoon, but expected to lower his record today. Today's luncheon engagement for the Taft party was with the Nicholas Andersons of Washington. Mr. Taft will also hold a reception for the summer colony at the club this afternoon. Some time before midnight he expects to have a conference with Chairman Emery of the tariff commission.

The regular residents of the island here are keenly disappointed over the evident intention of the president to devote the three days' stay to the fashionable cottagers from New York. First Selectman Bunker, head of the town government, wired to Eastport the other day asking Mr. Taft if he would not consent to make a little speech to the townspeople.

MAYOR OF LAWRENCE

Question Whether Statute Bars
Jordan's Election

LAWRENCE, July 21.—The conduct of municipal affairs, so far as a chief executive is concerned, continues to devolve upon Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen, pending City Solicitor Murphy's opinion on the question of who is mayor. The legal aspect of the situation resulting from the commitment of Mayor William P. White to the house of correction for conspiracy to bribe in seeking to oust Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department is by no means an easy one to solve.

In its order requesting an opinion from the city's legal adviser the board of aldermen did not simply ask if the mayor had a right to continue to serve. They wanted to know upon whom the duties of chief executive devolved and, if upon the president of the board of aldermen, what were the extent and scope of his duties.

Provision is made that in event of death, resignation or inability of the mayor to serve, the president of the board of aldermen becomes acting mayor. This is only a temporary expediency, it would seem, as permanent appointive power is denied the acting mayor.

The city charter says that any member of the city council may be elected mayor when a vacancy may occur. In conflict with this, however, is section 26, chapter 26 of the public statutes, which sets forth that no member of the city council shall, during the term for which he is chosen, either by appointment or election of the city council, be eligible to any office, the salary of which is payable by the city.

This latter enactment was passed in 1886, many years subsequent to the adoption of the city charter. It is claimed that where the public statutes and the city charter are in conflict the former supercedes, and should this be the case in the present emergency it would seem to indicate that Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen is barred from being chosen mayor, should it be decided that Mayor White cannot continue. Jordan's friends are anxious to see him fill out the remainder of the term and they feel that he is the logical candidate. If the legal issue does not preclude.

"BLUE SKY CITY"

That's What Pittsburg Will Be

PITTSBURG, July 21.—On the roof of one of Pittsburg's skyscrapers these summer days is the chief smoke inspector, J. M. Searle. Searle's job is to locate and tabulate by means of a telescope he has with him every smoke-stack of Greater Pittsburg, from which he sees a column of smoke issuing. Pittsburg is determined to make itself a "Blue Sky City." Every smoke-stack Searle finds with smoke coming out of it offensively, he starts machinery in motion which results in the owner being fined. Baltimore and Ohio firemen who let smoke belch out of their engines in the city limits are suspended by their master mechanic for thirty days.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

REDDING, Cal., July 21.—News has reached this city that Marion Beckwith, manager of the United States Smelting & Refining company, a large copper mine in Mexico, is in jail there as the result of a conspiracy among the native employees. It is said. Recently he became unpopular because of his opposition to drinking.

NEGRO PROPHET

Said to Have Deluded Girls by
Divine Claims

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A curious case of fanaticism has come to light in the arrest of a negro preacher calling himself Rev. Jonah Sturdivant and the stubbornness of his white women followers is still believing in his divine powers.

Sturdivant came here last March from the south with four young white women who had bade themselves believe that he was a prophet and that it was their duty to obey his commands. The four young women are Addie Codding of Boston, Fredericka Nightingale, a West Indian girl; Gertrude Mosen and Hilda Johnston, both Norwegian girls.

Gertrude Mosen is in a hospital here, believed to be dying from pellagra, brought on by fasting and the nervous excitement under which she has lived. Hilda Johnston is the mother of a child of which Sturdivant is the father. The two other girls are still praying for the release of their leader.

Hilda Johnston appears to have been made a victim. A Jewish girl whose name is unknown and who has since disappeared, but who was at that time a member of the band, received a manifestation that Hilda must marry the prophet. This the girl did not want to do, but finally she was persuaded to become his wife as a sign of her humility and her love of God. She was married to the man and is still in the hospital, her child having been born only a few days.

After the Jewish girl had revealed her manifestations, she and the prophet had a disagreement and he proceeded to batter her up. For this he was arrested and sentenced to three years in prison for assault. It now turns out that he already had a black wife, and when he has served his sentence he will be tried for bigamy.

Mrs. Mary Barrett of Nantucket came to Washington in search of Gertrude Mosen. She found her in the hospital in a serious condition. She found Miss Codding in a negro home and took her away and implored her to return to Boston. She refused to go. She said she was waiting a call to go to Africa.

She has been doing missionary work among the negroes of Washington and has been practically destitute. Her baggage as well as that of the other girls was held at the station as the charges were not paid. Miss Codding still professes to believe in Sturdivant and that the prison doors will fly open to him. She says she is going to Africa as a missionary and that in due time the means will be provided.

Agents of the board of charities who argued with her to leave Washington were unable to shake her determination to remain here until the "call" comes.

COUNTING IN PRISON WOMAN MURDERED

Counterfeiters Said to be at Work in the State Prison

A Boston paper had the following story this morning:

An outfit for making counterfeit money and a lot of bogus half dollars ready for "showing" have been discovered in the Charlestown state prison. Amazed by the impudent daring of the gang of convicts who had set up their plant and were making and circulating the spurious money under the very noses of the prison officials, Warden Benjamin T. Bridges is having every inch of the prison buildings carefully searched. The material for making the alloy, the moulds and a number of the bogus coins have already been discovered.

When seen by a reporter last night the warden was much surprised to learn that any inkling of the startling state of affairs had leaked outside the prison walls, but he refused to discuss the case in any way.

Frederick G. Pettigrove, chairman of the prison commission, declared over the telephone from his home in 677 Dudley street, Roxbury, that it was "the height of impudence" to mention the matter to him, but finally admitted an investigation was being made, and that he expected a report from Warden Bridges.

Never before in the memory of the oldest officials at the Charlestown state prison have convicts serving time for various offenses against the law had the nerve to turn counterfeiters and start the manufacture of bad money in the very last place that secret service men would ever think of looking for it.

If any had the nerve it is not on record that any before have ever succeeded in smuggling the necessary outfit past the guards and starting operations in their cells.

Never many, if any, of the spurious coins have passed the prison walls, and now long the counterfeiting has been going on, is unknown. No report has yet been made to the United States treasury officials. The chairman of the prison commission, it is understood, gave orders that a thorough investigation was to be made and the plot exposed in all its ramifications before the secret service should be notified or the news become public.

How many convicts were mixed up in the scheme, or the possibility of confederates outside the prison walls, or among the employees inside, is still a mystery.

A bet on the regular Saturday afternoon baseball game in the prison quadrangle exposed the counterfeiting. The loser paid his bet with a bad half-dollar. The winner didn't like the looks of his winnings. He bit the coin, sounded it and then made a complaint. One of the guards happened to hear the commotion and investigated. Amazed to find a counterfeit coin in the possession of a prisoner he investigated still further. Finally he found a small pasteboard box full of bits of tin, zinc and a number of empty metal vials, such as tooth paste is sold in. The box was concealed in a prisoner's cell. Plaster of paris moulds for casting half dollars and an outfit of crudely made apparatus for minting the coins from the alloy, were also discovered. The inmates of the cell or cells where the stuff was found deny having seen it or knowing anything about it. The most rigid and persistent questioning has not broken down their denials.

In their ephemer over the curious state of affairs the prison officials refused to talk about their discoveries, but it is known that they have not yet succeeded in securing sufficient incriminating evidence to convict any of the prisoners of counterfeiting.

POLICE GUARD

FOR DELEGATES WHO DISCUSSED CHANGING NAME OF TOWN

EVARTS, Vt., July 21.—This village was thrown into no little excitement when it was learned that George Brothers, G. P. Eastman, D. K. Daley, J. H. Dunbar, A. G. Eastman, L. W. Gee, F. L. Gardner and E. W. Huley had quietly left town for Hanover, N. H., to consult President Nichols and Professor Worthen of Dartmouth college, who were appointed arbitrators to settle the controversy over changing the name of this village from North Hartford to Everts.

The delegation returned from Hanover last night under escort of the second constable, as it was feared a hostile movement would occur. However, as far as can be learned, no violence has been shown.

A meeting was held in the village hall last night and the case is still awaiting the decision of President Nichols and Professor Worthen. At that time the North Hartford advocates admitted a large majority were in favor of retaining the name Everts, but said the "better element" desired to restore the old name.

At present the name of village, railway station, express, telegraph and postoffice is Everts, and it remains to be seen whether the arbitrators will overrule the majority, public service commission and the postmaster general in approving the change. It was through the North Hartford people that Congressman Plumley appointed Professor Worthen as an arbitrator.

AEROPLANE LAWYERS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In the development of the professions marching on with the progress of invention the aeroplane lawyer is about to appear. At the present rate of productivity it is estimated the volume of litigation will be incalculable. There are now more than 140 applications for patents relating to automatic balance for air craft and hundreds for patents for motors, planes, propellers, skids and other essentials.

"From the present outlook," a patent lawyer said here today, "we will soon have in this country a new crop of aeroplane lawyers, who specialize in the law of the air, who will keep track of the aeroplane patents."

NEW YORK, July 21.—There is something more than a police mystery in the death of Miss John Herterich, found brutally murdered in a house at 6 Norman place, Brooklyn, for the identification of the body by her husband revealed the fact that she had left a home of luxury in Piermont, N. Y., to plunge into the squalor and wretchedness of the surroundings in which her body was found on Tuesday morning.

In many ways the case resembles that of Elsie Segal, who also came of a prominent family and a good home.

Her husband almost fainted with the horror of the shock he received when the body of his wife was shown to him in the Brooklyn morgue. His wife had left her home a year ago, but there was nothing in her previous life to give any indication that she would drop headlong into the life she appeared to have been living just prior to her death.

In Piermont she had been known as a woman of high ideals, of a decided literary turn of thought, and apparently devoted to her husband, her two children and to her church.

In Norman place she was the associate of Greek street peddlers and others of the lowest social status, and was murdered by one of them, according to the theory of the police, in an outburst of jealous rage.

The body of the woman was found on Tuesday morning, but there was no one in the place who could tell anything concerning her. She was known to the house as May Herterich, and also as May Faulkner, but as those in the neighborhood are almost wholly foreigners of the poorer class, no attempt ever had been made to learn who or what she was.

The newspaper accounts of the murder, however, brought to New York her husband, John Herterich, who has been searching incessantly for his wife since her disappearance a year ago.

As soon as he had recovered from his collapse Mr. Herterich told the police the story of his wife's strange lapse from the prim and precise life of the wife of a merchant in the country town to the squalid existence of Norman place.

His wife never had shown any inclination for life in New York city, he said, but about a year ago she started from home for a shopping trip to this city. As she kissed her two children good-by she told them she would return that evening.

She never returned. A short time before Mr. Herterich had sold a house and had banked the proceeds in his wife's name. There was in all nearly $10,000, all of which she took with her when she left.

Just what course she followed after that can only be surmised. No one could be found who could remember how long she had lived at 6 Norman place, some asserting that she had been there nearly a year.

That she had spent all the money she had taken from Piermont was evident from the fact that many pawn tickets for pieces of jewelry and clothing were found in the room. The clothing worn by the woman, although in poor condition, was excellent in material and make.

Several Greeks in the neighborhood had been in the habit of calling upon the woman frequently, and one of them, Stevis Polimnankas, a peanut vender, was arrested as a material witness.

It was he who discovered the murder and informed the police.

THE CRIPPEN CASE

VERNET-LES-BAINS, France, July 21.—The police have received photographs of Dr. Hawley Crippen wanted in London in connection with the disappearance of his wife, Belle Elmore, and today submitted it to several persons who saw the stranger who stopped at a hotel here over Sunday night under the name of Henri Tarbot. In every instance those who saw the likeness declared Crippen and Tarbot were identical.

CIRCUS POSTER

Was the Means of Uniting Lovers

MONTPELLIER, July 21.—When the advertising car of the Forepaugh & Sells Bros. circus was in Montpelier yesterday a romance developed from an ordinary circus poster, which today will be the means of uniting at Cleveland, O., a pair of lovers who have been separated 10 years.

In the posting crew was Dick Simpson of Paris, Kan. Ten years ago he and Miss Jennie E. Harris were sweethearts at Paola. They were engaged to be married, but she became jealous of him and they parted.

Later he learned that the parents of the girl had met with reverses and had moved to Cleveland, where Miss Harris, forced to earn her own living, had obtained employment with the Morgan Holograph company. Simpson said he would never return to her until she sent for him, but carried in his watch her faded picture.

While he was posting bills in this city, in opening a poster he came across this message in the handwriting he knew so well:

"Dick, come back. It was all my fault. Jennie E. Harris, 2317 East 3d street, Cleveland, O."

How the girl had learned that Simpson was on this car and how she smuggled her message on the poster which she hoped he would handle, Simpson did not stop to inquire. Dropping his paste brushes, he hurried to obtain from Harry B. Graham, the manager, a leave of absence, which was granted at once.

Simpson took the evening train for Cleveland, and said that before the sun went down on the day of his arrival there would be a wedding in which he and Miss Harris would be the central figures.

The 30 other billposters on the car gave Simpson a rousing sendoff and contributed a handsome sum to help him on his way.

APPEAL TO COURT

To Compel a Woman to Sell Him Ice

BOSTON, July 2.—A bill of complaint was filed in the office of the clerk of courts at Cambridge yesterday by Edward Carr, a lawyer in Hopkinton, against Mrs. Almira Woods of the same town, asking for an injunction restraining her from refusing to sell him ice from any of the teams of the company of which she is proprietor. Carr claims that the men in the employ of Mrs. Woods have repeatedly refused to sell him any ice, even when they have been requested by him in person and after he has written letters of complaint to Mrs. Woods. He also claims that they have repeatedly hurried past his home when they have been signalled to stop, and have not come to a stop within 75 feet of his house. As the ice company owned by Mrs. Woods is the only one in the town, this greatly inconveniences him.

With the bill is inclosed a letter from Carr to Mrs. Woods, stating that if her employees refused to deliver him ice any longer and that if he did not receive any before July 13, he would take legal action. Action was brought in the district court and is now pending. Carr asks for twenty-five pounds of ice every other day.

WENT TO CANADIAN LAKE

The employees of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation enjoyed an outing to Canobie Lake park yesterday. The party left on a special car at 7.15 o'clock and returned to Lowell at 11 o'clock last night. Supt. J. A. Hunkewell had general charge of the arrangements. A fine program of sports was carried out and an excellent dinner was enjoyed.

Hires

Means Health and Purity

Two questions alone are vital in the use of any beverage—Is it pure? Is it healthful?

The ingredients used in the manufacture of Hires are personally selected by its inventor, every one possessing a known health value. Many of them could be had at less than half their cost, but they would be less than half as good. The flavor—by which you judge—would be there, but the quality—by which we judge—would not.

Hires could not be made in cleaner vessels by cleaner methods—the tanks are glass-lined, the pipes are solid block tin, the water distilled and the workmen are clean—all under the constant supervision of a practical chemist—a graduate and formerly a professor in one of our foremost technical colleges.

Hires is pre-eminent in healthfulness and purity. It aids digestion and relieves indigestion. Without a trace of false stimulants or irritants such as soap bark, etc.

But don't ask for rootbeer—ask for Hires and thus be sure to get the only genuine rootbeer.

ANOTHER DROWNING

GORDON WILBUR MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING

Gordon N. Wilbur Formerly of Lowell Drowned Near Lawrence

Gordon N. Wilbur, a clerk employed by the Hall Paint & Hardware company, 381 Essex street, Lawrence, was drowned in the Merrimack river about 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon near Cox's landing, about half a mile west of Glen forest.

Wilbur and a companion were spending the half holiday at a camp. They hired a boat and rowed out into the stream. After rowing around a while they decided to go in a swim and returned to the shore. Wilbur, who could not swim, waded in and stopped into a hole and sank from sight.

Wilbur's companion, who remained in the boat, saw him come up once but could not reach him in time to save him.

The Methuen police were immediately notified and Harry Nimmo, Leavitt, J. T. Dugdale, Arthur Connors and Harry Dowling hurried to the scene.

They sought for the body with the aid of grappling hooks and a net, but without avail. At 8.30 o'clock the search was given up for the day but it was renewed this morning.

The deceased went to Lawrence from Lowell about a year ago. He survived by his grandmother and an aunt in Lowell. He made his home in this city but had a room on Essex street, Lawrence, near his place of employment. He was about 25 years old. He came to Lowell from Amherst, N. B.

Mrs. Neil McPhail of this city is the grandmother of Gordon Wilbur, the young man who was drowned near Glen forest yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McPhail is housekeeper for Dr. Bass in Tyler street, and it was but yesterday that she received a postal card from him, asking her to meet him in Lawrence today. Mrs. McPhail took a great interest in her grandson, and assisted him in many ways. The news of his sad and sudden death was a great shock to her. Mr. Edward Spaulding went to Lawrence this forenoon to arrange for the forwarding of the body to this city.

SUIT SETTLED

Defendant Asked For Sum of $10,000

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., July 21.—The $10,000 damage suit arising from an automobile accident of Luther E. Barber of Brattleboro against James L. White of the Wilcox & White company, musical instrument manufacturers of Groton, Conn., which opened before the U. S. district court at New-fine before Judge James L. Martin yesterday morning, came to a sudden termination in the afternoon when counsel announced that a settlement had been effected whereby judgment would be ordered for the defendant with costs.

It is understood the insurance company in which the defendant carried a liability policy was to arbitrate a defendant, and that the settlement was satisfactory to the company. No intimation is given of the amount.

Testimony was introduced at the morning session to show the condition of the automobile in which the plaintiff was riding with the defendant and Ira Burnett of Dummerston, Vt., on May 10, 1909, when the accident occurred, near Berlin, Conn., in which Mr. Burnett was killed by the car turning over and Mr. Barber severely injured, including the puncturing of his left lung.

Mr. White, called as a witness by the plaintiff, testified that he had business dealings with Mr. Barber and that Mr. Barber went to Meriden, Conn., the day before the accident. He explained that he was taking Mr. Barber and Mr. Burnett on an automobile ride to Hartford, Conn., when the accident occurred.

Mr. White testified regarding the condition of his automobile and the steering gear, which the plaintiff declared was defective.

The defendant acknowledged that his son-in-law had charge of repairing the machine and told him that he would have the steering gear repaired.

Witness said his chauffeur, Edward Ives, was about 21 or 22 years old. He knew him two years before the accident and had employed him about three months at that time.

Mr. White told of doing all that he could for the welfare of Mr. Barber while he was in a hospital at Berlin, Conn., from May 20 to June 20.

Recess was then taken and no more witnesses were called. The settlement followed reassembling in the afternoon.

MAN KILLED HE WAS CRUSHED BY TONS OF ROCK

RUTLAND, Vt., July 21.—Ira Baker, 19 years old, unmarried, was killed last night at the quarry of the Harrington Marble company, West Rutland, and the two men who were working with him, Elmer Powers and Edward Gurry, were injured.

The men were working in the pit, when without warning 25 tons of rock fell from the side of the quarry. Baker was caught under the mass of stone, but the others got out of the way, and escaped with slight injuries.

The manager of the quarry put 25 men on to remove the mass of stone under which Baker's body lies.

BIRTHDAY PARTY DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR IN HONOR OF MISS MEVIS

Miss Gladys W. Mevis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Mevis of 55 Methuen street, was 15 years old yesterday and the event was delightfully observed. The birthday observance took on the appearance of a lawn party and the scene was a very charming one. There was dancing on the green, games were indulged in, refreshments were served and the good time continued during the afternoon and evening.

Miss Gladys was the recipient of many beautiful birthday gifts, including an elegant gold watch from her brother George.

Among those present were Misses A. Lora Owen and Annie P. Blaney of Chelmsford, Marion Galt, Marie J. G. O'Donnell, Helen E. Hickey, Irene Wardell, Ruth Witham and Florence B. Cutting of Lowell, and Miss Alice A. Sheehan of Hingham, Mass.

BOY IS DYING

He Was Hanged for Robber in Wild West Play

BOSTON, July 21.—Edward Trainor, aged 18, of 165 Bridge street, Cambridge, is believed to be dying at the Massachusetts General hospital as a result of hanging himself while playing "Wild West" near his home yesterday afternoon.

Trainor was playing in the yard in the rear of 123 Bridge street with a number of boys of his age. All the exciting adventures of the "Wild West"

were tried out. Some one suggested that a "robber" be hung, at a time when the play dragged, and Young Trainor volunteered for the part of the robber. Standing upon a stone under a high crossbar in the back yard, he allowed his companions to tie him to the bar under his armpits with pieces of strong twine. Thinking this was not realistic enough, he tied the string around his neck too.

While the boys were dancing around the captive in gloe the stone rolled from under Trainor's feet and he was suspended in air. The weight of his body broke the string under his arms, but that around his neck held, and he swung too and from before the gaze of his frightened companions.

Trainor called to the scene Mrs. Mary Sullivan. She thought the children were only playing, but when she saw Trainor hanging by his neck from the bar, she rushed to the spot and cut the string.

Trainor dropped apparently lifeless to the ground. An ambulance was summoned, and the boy was taken to the hospital. He was still unconscious at midnight.

BOARD OF TRADE CONTINUES TO ADD TO ITS MEMBERSHIP

The board of trade is doing great work as was evidenced at the regular weekly meeting of the membership committee held at the Park hotel yesterday noon, when seven new names were added to the already large list of an up to date and flourishing membership. The total number added to the membership since the committee began work a few weeks ago is 60. It is purposed to finish up the summer campaign by adding to the membership up to the beginning of the fall. The members of the committee who have not attended the committee meetings or offered excuses for being absent were dropped from the committee and new names substituted. It was felt that this step was necessary in justice to those members of the committee who were doing the work. Each member of the committee will be urged to bring in at least two new names at each weekly meeting from now on. Following is a list of the names submitted yesterday:

D. Smith, 411 Middlesex street; Geo. L. Cady, Jr., 150 Mt. Vernon street; Wm. P. Wagon, 215 Wymann's Exchange; Haven G. Hill, Esq., 11 Hildreth building; H. C. McOsker, 123 Central street; Al. E. Adams, Coffey Bros., John H. Burke, 32 Coburn street.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

Passenger Service Restored But Freight is Tied Up

BOSTON, July 21.—With the passenger service restored on practically every line in New England the officials of the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont railroads are today turning their attention to the moving of freight trains and the relieving of the congestion which the stoppage has caused at terminal and junction points.

One freight train of twenty cars loaded with beef is on its way to Portland and other trains are being made up at various points ready to start out as soon as the crews can be gotten together. The railroad officials declare that with the strikebreakers and the men who remained with them they will have little or no difficulty in making such trains as they desire to start out today. No effort will be made to run freight trains on the customary schedule, but several through trains will probably be started out before the day is over.

Already the tying up of the freight business on the Central Vermont road has caused the closing down of one mill, a big worsted and woolen establishment in Monson and other establishments are in danger of being compelled to close for lack of supplies.

The condition in Portland was as serious as at any point on the Grand Trunk system. Portland and its neighboring suburbs depend on the Grand Trunk to haul their beef supply from Chicago and the west and the stopping of the freight trains threatened a beef famine. A hurry call for help was sent to Chicago and the packers were making preparations to send a train loaded by some other road when it was announced from Montreal that a beef train was on its way to Portland.

The train left Montreal at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon arriving at Island Pond, Vt., last evening. There the train was delayed for re-loading and was due to start again for Portland this morning.

Because of the strike the German steamship Rheingraf will sail from Mystic wharf this morning with only a portion of the cargo which was booked. Ten carloads of soaked oats, 12,000 bushels of wheat to have made up a part of their cargo, are stalled at White River Junction, Vt., and will not arrive in Boston for a day or two at least.

Reports of desertion on the part of some of the imported strikebreakers are being received from some points but are not being taken too seriously and the railroads claim that they have more applicants for positions than they can care for.

MONTREAL, July 21.—"Freight" continued to be the slogan and the problem in the Grand Trunk railroad strike today.

The five thousand striking conductors and trainmen continued to be absent from public view. Their leaders, speaking for them, reaffirmed that all are quietly awaiting an expected time when the railroad will find resumption of its freight business impossible.

At company headquarters, however, there was optimistic persistence in high pressure work in freight crew construction, freight yard clearance and betterment of the local suburban passenger service partially resumed yesterday and it was stated that the strikers had been eliminated wholly from the situation. A bird's eye view from the Grand Trunk's four thousand mile system from Portland, Me., to Detroit and in New England showed distinct improvement in conditions. It was said, with the freight problem, however, admittedly slow in solution.

From the viewpoint of many cities and towns affected the freight situation is increasingly serious. Ice companies are unable to get ice. The Canadian Pacific is avoiding possible trouble by refusing to run ice cars on Grand Trunk sidings. Much perishable freight is being piled up and seems doomed to destruction. At Stratford, Ont., 200 men have been thrown out of work by the closing down of packing and milling companies.

Lawyer William H. Bent, senior counsel for Napoleon Rivet, who has been sentenced to death for causing the murder of Joseph H. CHINA'S REPLY A PEPPERELL WOMAN

To the Russo-Japanese Convention Was Ordered Held for the Grand Jury

PEKING, July 21.—China's reply to the announcement of the recently concluded Russo-Japanese convention was delivered at the legations of these two countries today. As had been expected the Peking government does not fall to point out its satisfaction at the expressed purpose upon the part of Russia and Japan to adhere to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty and over the mutual pledge for the maintenance of Manchuria of the status quo and the principle of the open door for commercial development. In this connection China lays special emphasis upon article III of the Portsmouth treaty which reads as follows:

(1) to evacuate completely and simultaneously Manchuria except the territory affected by the lease of the Liao-tung peninsula in conformity with the provisions of additional article I annexed to this treaty, and (2) to restore entirely and completely to the Japanese or Russian troops with the exception of the territory above mentioned. The government of Russia declares that it has not in Manchuria any territorial advantages or preferential or exclusive concessions in impairment of China's sovereignty or inconsistent with the principle of equal opportunity.

SANFORD, Me., July 21.—Mrs. Loretta Kimball, wife of Willis Kimball of East Pepperell, Mass., was before the municipal court here yesterday, charged with attempting to introduce a hacksaw into Alfred jail for the purpose of aiding Albert E. Bailey of Pepperell to escape.

Alfred is held at Alfred for the September term of the supreme court, charged with breaking and entering and larceny at South Berwick. Sheriff Charles O. Emery, who is also jailer, suspected from the correspondence between Bailey and Mrs. Kimball that a saw would be sent to Bailey in a newspaper. Last Thursday, in a parcel addressed to Bailey, a saw was found wrapped in a newspaper. The writing on the parcel and the letter which followed were similar. The sheriff procured a warrant from Judge Hanson of the Sanford court, and when Mrs. Kimball appeared he placed her under arrest and she was held for a hearing yesterday. Mrs. Kimball retained Ruggles S. Higgins as counsel, and in court admitted the authorship of the letter and also said that she sent the newspaper depositing it in the rural free delivery box at her home, but that it was in a different wrapper from that exhibited in court, and she denied all knowledge of the saw.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two Men and Two Women Were Nearly Killed

MADISON, Wis., July 21.—Two men and two young women, the latter of New York city, had narrow escapes from death early today when the automobile in which they were returning to Guilford from a ride through the country struck the west abutment of the Hammond river bridge and landed bottom side up in shallow water. One of the men was carried down in the car and seriously hurt. The others either jumped or were thrown out and suffered only minor injuries. The party included Miss Elizabeth Harvey and her sister, Miss Ellen Harvey of New York, who are spending the summer with their parents at a cottage at Mulberry Point, Guilford, Robert Butler of Guilford and Burgess Starr, chauffeur for Frank Gerish of New York, owner of the automobile. Butler, who fell with the car and was pinned under it, was the most seriously injured. His leg was broken and he suffered severe bruises about the head and body.

FALL RIVER MILLS

Sold Back $400,000 Worth of Raw Cotton to the Market

FALL RIVER, July 21.—It is stated that Fall River mills have sold and shipped to New York over 5000 bales of cotton within the past few days and that the receipts from these sales will exceed $400,000. This move is unprecedented in the history of the industry in this city, and only an unusual combination of circumstances could have made the disposal of so large an amount possible.

There were a number of mills which had purchased cotton enough to run their plants to October or November at a price which averaged low in comparison with present quotations. This cotton was not bought in a speculative way or in excess of the requirements of the mills, but for actual use in the intervening months but prices for goods ruled so low that it became necessary to curtail the output of cloth, and as a consequence the consumption of cotton was proportionately reduced. Under normal conditions this cotton would have still been kept in the storehouses and used at a later time, but when the opportunity came to sell this cotton for spot cash at a profit of 2 and 3 cents a pound, there was no hesitation in taking advantage of the situation and selling as much as could be let out without the necessity of immediate buying to replace it. Those mills which were in a position to do this have procured a handsome profit and at the same time have a sufficient supply of cotton on hand to meet their requirements, which still shows on their books at an average price per pound of 2 to 3 cents below the present market. In other words, they have lost none of the benefits of shrewd purchases made in the spring, and have at the same time an unexpected and very acceptable profit, which offsets in a large measure the losses in manufacturing.

JAPANESE FORCES BUSY

VICTORIA, B. C., July 21.—Further advances of the little war Japanese are waging against Formosan aborigines were brought out by the steamer Awa Maru yesterday. The Japanese forces are now building 307 miles of entrenched lines with blackhouses. The fighting is mostly in thick forests and mountainsides. The Japanese forces went into action at thirty yards, the natives throwing themselves on the bayonets unaware what bayonets were and surprised that they could be placed on rifles. The natives used bullets of wood tipped with lead.

POLICE DROP INVESTIGATION
CHICAGO, July 21.—The Chicago police have dropped the investigation into the death of Ira Rawn, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville railroad (Monon). Herman Schuetter, acting chief of police, said today that he was satisfied that Mr. Rawn had committed suicide. He announced his decision after a long conference with the detectives, who had investigated the Winnetka tragedy. The detective who had been assigned to the investigation of the Rawn case, according to the police, had been killed by a burglar.

The suicide theory is believed to have been strengthened by the results of an investigation of Coroner Hoffman. While Mr. Hoffman has not announced his theory of Mr. Rawn's death it is said he tends toward the suicide theory. The bullet hole in Mr. Rawn's night garment has been carefully examined by the police and they said its appearance leads to the suicide belief. The hole is surrounded by bloodstains in which there are several particles thought to be powder marks. If they prove to be powder marks the police think there would be little doubt that Mr. Rawn killed himself.

While the private detectives announced yesterday that they expected to make an important arrest today no one was taken into custody.

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

THE CITIZEN WHO STANDS AGAINST PROGRESS

The citizen who has no real live active interest in the city in which he lives is a clog upon the wheels of progress.

How often have we seen some landable movement started for the benefit of the city only to be blocked by some kicker or some obstructionist who for selfish reasons stands out in opposition.

The first thing to be determined in such a case is, whether the object is one that will benefit the city as a whole, whether it will benefit the people of the entire city or even of a particular part of it.

We cannot afford to be sectional in such matters. Because a proposed public park would benefit one part of the city more than any other the city council defeated it. That action is sectional and unprogressive.

Let each section be provided for in turn. It is impossible to provide for all at the same time, but the member of the city council who defeats a good proposition for that purpose is injuring, rather than helping the city. There are too many of our city officials ready to pursue a policy of this kind to the detriment of the city. If they have any other good reason of a personal nature they should make it known. We understand the members of the common council urge as an excuse for their action the over officious conduct of a certain alderman. If they had any such reason they should have made it known to the public so that their action might not be misjudged.

The proposed auto races is another matter on which there seems to be unnecessary cavilling on some points. To those who go outside of Lowell it is plain that the auto races do Lowell more good than is generally supposed. There are citizens, however, standing upon technical rights who, it seems, should be satisfied if they be secured against all damages as a result of the races.

It would be a great boon to our city if all citizens could work together for the common good once they find a movement in progress that promises to help our city in any form.

The auto races of last year were not a great financial success because a vast amount was spent in improving roads, building bridges, fences and grandstands; but the city was greatly benefited by the reputation it gained outside, and if races are held this year the people will expect something almost as good as they saw last year. Thus the prestige established last year will help the races this year. These are some of the reasons why we regret that there is any opposition as it militates directly against Lowell in tending to spoil an opportunity to keep her name to the front and give her a reputation that she never could attain in any other way.

We stand greatly in need of a little public spirit and local pride that will shame the chronic growlers into support of a policy that will benefit the city as a whole and extend her good name at home and abroad.

SLEEPING IN THE OPEN AIR

The habit of sleeping outdoors is becoming quite common with physicians and others who understand its health preserving and curative qualities. We have many physicians in Lowell, including some of the oldest men in the profession, who sleep on their verandas at night. In this they set a good example, for it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the benefits to be derived from sleeping in the open air are very great.

What is known as the "open air treatment" has been found to be the only treatment that can be relied upon to check or cure tuberculosis in the early stages.

The benefits derived by the patients who are treated in the tuberculosis camp of the Lowell General hospital illustrate the advantages of sleeping in the open air. Of course the patients receive a general dietetic treatment at the same time; but this treatment given under other conditions would not have the beneficial effects shown when the patients sleep in the open air.

Sleeping outdoors is recommended by some of the best health authorities in the country. It is resorted to by those in good health in order that they may escape disease and by those who are sick that they may get well.

Dr. Carrington of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis says: "Outdoor sleeping is not a fad nor is it to be considered only as a means of curing disease. Thousands of healthy families have their sleeping porches in connection with their bed-rooms."

Many other eminent physicians give similar testimony to the health giving effects of outdoor sleeping. The people have not yet become sufficiently accustomed to it. In summer there are few difficulties connected with outdoor sleeping. All that is needed under a veranda roof is a little protection for the head and a fly netting. Many do not mind the netting, having no dread of bugs or moths. It is easy to rig up a bed outdoors. The cot bed is a favorite, the same clothing being used or a little heavier than would be required indoors. Those who have no piazza and who live in flats might use the roof of the house for this purpose in summer.

It is plain that this idea of sleeping outdoors will lead to a modification in the construction of our dwellings so as to make ample provision for sleeping outdoors in privacy and security.

The task in winter offers more difficulties as it is not entirely safe to sleep outdoors in all kinds of weather. There might be danger of freezing in bed, but this is avoided by sleeping indoors near an open window so that the full benefit of the fresh air can be obtained. There is a window tent which while it excludes the severity of the weather admits the fresh air about the head of the person who sleeps there, so that the advantages of the outer air are fully enjoyed without the cold, the rain or the blast. Women, owing to their heavier head protection, can risk the rigors of cold weather by sleeping at an open window even better than men.

Altogether this habit of sleeping in the open air is one that is to be encouraged as calculated to do good. Those who reside in the congested districts and cannot avail themselves of the advantages derived from this reversion to the natural condition of living will at least realize more forcibly the value and the necessity of fresh air as one of the first elements of life and health and may at least be expected to pay far greater attention to the important question of ventilation which in many cases has been woefully neglected.

SEEN AND HEARD

A CHANGE OF BAIT

A sun-burned kid, with a tattered lid and a coat a size too large, With a piece of twine for a fishing line, Site fishing on a large That's tied to a stake at the edge of the lake, Where the wavelets gently lap, It's a kind of a sin, but I sit and grin As I watch the little chap Transfix a worm that will wiggle and swim.

On the end of his fishing hook, Or a small green frog that he caught in the bog On the other side of the brook. He's proud of the job of the floating bob That he's tied to his line with care; There's a sudden swish as he lands his fish From the depths of its hidden lair; It is proudly viewed, and the bait renewed From the can where he keeps his store.

Then he lets it drop with a sudden plop In his eager quest for more, And he gets them, too, for they come to view In the twinkling of an eye; And I'm clean outdone, for never a one Will come where I'm sitting by.

For, much as I wish, there's never a fish Will rise to my tempting fly, And my brand-new reel, on my rod of steel I've never a chance to try. For they pass my place to the freckled face Of the lad in the anchored punt— Keep swimming past as I make my cast.

In my vain and useless hunt, For a fish that will try to grab my fly And be tempted to its fate, So I go to the spot where the fish are caught, And fish with a silver bait.

Patrons of the Royal Dairy Lunch were much amused one day last week, says the Salem News, to hear the comments of some Ottomans over the bill of fare and their guesses as to what this or that dish on the card was. "New England boiled dinner" attracted the eye of several, and it was most amusing to hear them guess as to what it would be like when served. One man, when he saw corned beef, cabbage, beans, parsnips, etc., hardly knew what to think of it and was quite astonished to see the whole thing served to him on one dish. Those who last nearly smiled at the thought of seeing a "boiled dinner" served with eight or ten small dishes such as "new England boiled dinner." That the Ottomans enjoyed the meat was quite apparent by the condition of his plate when time was called. He was one of those attending the big teachers' convention in Boston, and no doubt will remember that "cabbage dinner" as one of the surprises of his Salem trip.

A young husband entered a department store and at last found the count where woman's handwear was displayed, and, approaching, rather hesitatingly, remarked, "I want a pair of gloves."

"How long do you want them?" inquired the businesslike clerk. "I don't want to rent them; I want to buy them," answered the young fellow.

And then the question arose as to whether the joke was on the young hubby or on the clerk.

THE EARTH, THE MOON, THE COMET

The old Earth was sleepy, and rolled into bed, And the clouds were the pillows under his head; While the Moon, his old wife, stood by And tucked him up snugly and bade him "good-night."

But neither the Earth nor the Moon was aware There was coming a Star with a singular glare, And a wailing tail, across their track, That wasn't set down in their almanac.

But the Moon soon awoke and discovered this Star Plunging along through the night from afar, And she nudged her husband, and bade him look out, For a fiery monster was roaming about!

And nearer and nearer the Comet came, With its blazing head and tail of flame, Some millions of miles in length they say, And the poor Earth trembled in sore dismay.

For the Comet was robed in fire and mist, And frowned and glared and doubled his fist, 'Till the Earth's round face grew long with affright, And the Moon in her terror let fall her light!

But all of a sudden their terror was gone, For the Comet wheeled by on his way to the sun; And they laughed to see him go tearing his hair Far away in the distance in rage and despair.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the Earth, and "Ho, ho!" cried the Moon, "I don't think you'll scare us again very soon. You make a great show in the sky as you pass, But astronomers say you are nothing but gas!"

RIGHTS OF PITTMAN (Brockton Times.)

William Pittman, the Bostonian, captured by the Madrid forces while operating in the Nicaraguan hostilities, has been having a checkered time of it, but as thus been more fortunate than Groce and Cannon, the Americans who lost their lives through execution after capture. It was this act and the American indignation it caused, which led to the flight of Zelaya, and is the cause of his being on exile today. It is apparently the desire of those responsible as Zelaya's successors, and also those identified with Nicaraguan affairs in any way, to be more careful how they conduct themselves before critical American eyes. Immediately upon Pittman's capture, warning was given that the United States would not tolerate the beginning of anything likely to lead to a repetition of the Groce and Cannon case. More recently, when it was found that Pittman was being neglected in captivity, subjected to hunger, and who were surrounded and other hardships, notice was quickly given that the wrongs complained of be righted, and it is understood, under the surveillance of the American consul on the ground, prompt heed has been given to Uncle Sam's demands. Which is no opinion at all, what ever the status of the American under the laws of war as later to be found. Americans certainly don't want discoveries of rights of their fellow citizens to be made after it is too late for them to be availed of. Safeguarding then of Pittman until his proper status can be justly and regularly established, is simply an ordinary act of prudence and justice, to be backed to the limit of American resources.

THE POSTAL DEFICIT—AND WHY (Johnstown Democrat.)

That there is a system in this country and that the republican powers in Washington are faithful servants of it has been borne out by facts for several years, but if the insurgents and democrats control the next congress, as now seems assured, some relief from its crushing onerousness will be expected. One relief may come in the postoffice department, where conditions are a disgrace to civilization.

We have before us the latest issue of La Polle's Weekly in which Herman B. Walker, a noted Washington correspondent, has written an article entitled "Why We Have a Postal Deficit." Mr. Walker finds that last year the United States postoffice did business at a loss of about $17,500,000.

Keep those figures in mind. On American railroads today, mail and express are carried on the same trains, and the government pays the railroads anywhere from three to five times as much for hauling the mail cars as the express companies pay for hauling express cars. This is not mere assertion. It is a notorious fact. It is a long standing anomaly.

Thus it is easy to account for the $17,500,000 deficit. The Wells-Fargo Express company last year divided profits of $24,800,000 among its stockholders. In addition to paying an annual 10 per cent. dividend of $2,480,000, the Wells-Fargo company, in 1909, paid an extra dividend of $60 per cent out of its surplus profits. This is the company's own report. It is official.

Here is another fact: We carry magazines from New York to Chicago, by mail for one cent a pound, and pay the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transportation. The express companies carry magazines, the same distance, at the same rate—one cent a pound—and pay the railroads less than half a cent a pound for transportation. To put it in another way, the railroads carry magazines for the express companies for less than half a cent a pound, but when magazines are sent by mail the railroads charge the government four and a half cents a pound for the same service!

The railroads make large profits in hauling magazines for express companies at less than half a cent a pound and the express companies, which charge an even cent a pound for handling magazines, pay immense dividends to their stockholders. Yet in spite of all this the postoffice department pays the railroads four and a half cents a pound for transporting magazines! Thus a fraction more than four cents for every pound of such mail transported represents pure graft. The railroads get it and the sweet-scented government at Washington is content!

It is not any wonder that there is an enormous postal deficit. And it is apparent that the deficit is the deliberate aim of the postal authorities, many of whom no doubt hold office through the influence of the railroad corporations and therefore are careful not to do anything to hurt the railroads.

Postal deficits are unknown in other great governments. Last year Great Britain cleaned up a profit of $22,000,000 in its postal business. Germany cleaned up $15,000,000. Russia, the most despised monarchy in the world, also made a profit of $15,000,000 and France turned a profit to its account of $14,000,000. It is estimated by experts that the United States, if it should pay the railroads the same rate for carrying mail as the express companies do for transportation, could very materially reduce postal rates and find itself at the close of each year from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 to the good. But this would mean that much less for the railroad interests—and there's the rub.

NEW MEN AND NEW METHODS DEMAND

[Lawrence American] For many years we have urged the importance of a new system of municipal government for the city of Lawrence, calling attention to some of the inherent weaknesses of the present system, and the obstacles to the progress of the city government. It has been urged by men who have apparently been opposed to innovations, that the present system is not at fault, but that it was the men and not the system that were responsible for all the shortcomings registered against the city government.

It is true that the human element enters into any system. If men are recreant to their trusts, then the best system of municipal government which could be devised would be no safeguard against graft and corruption. But, under a modern and up-to-date city charter, with the referendum and recall, there would be remedies which the citizens of Lawrence do not now possess.

In every case where modern city charters have replaced the old forms, improvement in the personnel of the city governments has been noticed. It is recognized by good citizens generally, the necessity for a radical change in the methods of conducting the city's business.

Better methods must mean better men. Civic spirit must be aroused, for without it, nothing can be accomplished.

LIEUT. FLETCHER

IS THE MARVEL OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The medical officers at the Presidio were astounded yesterday when it developed during the annual physical examination of officers that a new army record had been established by a young lieutenant of the 8th infantry. Violating all laws of physical growth, Lieut. Robert R. Fletcher has in a single year added four inches to his height and 45 pounds to his weight.

A year ago Lieut. Fletcher, at the age of 25, weighed 165 pounds, measured 31 inches around the waist and extended upward to an altitude of six feet. At this time his weight is 210 pounds, his waist measurement is 42 inches and the crown of his head extends to the ambitious elevation of six feet four inches.

Though the man of medicine and science are frankly puzzled, a number of reasons have been ascribed as a possible cause. One officer states that it is possible that a new army ration is responsible.

LAWN PARTY

One of the prettiest lawn parties of the season was held last evening on the grounds of Miss Bessie Pent, 1275 Bridge street, by the Spindle City lodge, I. O. G. T. The grounds were adorned by Japanese lanterns, artistically strung from tree to tree, and there were other decorations which made the grounds very attractive. There was music for dancing on the green by hurdy gurdy and games were played by the younger people, all present having a most enjoyable time. Another affair will probably be held some time in the middle of August for the benefit of the lodge. The committee in charge were Miss Edith Young, Mrs. Jennie Mack, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, Mrs. Alice McLean, Alerton Davis, Fred O'good, Stephen Taylor and R. Roberts.

TYPHOID FEVER

State Health Boards Take Steps to Suppress Its Ravages

BOSTON, July 21.—"The Importance of Contact Infection" and "Modern Methods of Quarantine" were discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Massachusetts association of boards of health at Gallups island yesterday afternoon. A committee of five members of the association was appointed to consider steps toward the stamping out of typhoid fever as one of the diseases spread by contact infection.

Shortly after 12.30 the health boat Vigilant left the foot of State street and carried the members directly to Gallups island, where dinner was in readiness. There were 84 at table. At the business meeting Dr. Henry P. Wolcott presided.

Dr. Charles V. Chapin of Providence was unable to be present, but his paper upon "The Importance of Contact Infection" was read by Dr. Stack.

Dr. Chapin pointed out that the term contact infection is somewhat hard to define, as it is not always absolutely direct contact, but by infection of that sort is meant cases where the person transmitting the disease must be close to or have been in contact with something which later reaches the second person.

Many such cases of typhoid have been reported recently in connection with other cases, but close investigation usually shows that there has been "contact." Much of the disease, like a frightful wreck of train, automobile or buggy may cause cuts, bruises, abrasions, sprains or wounds that demand Bucklen's Arnica Salve—earth's greatest healer. Quick relief and prompt cure results. For burns, boils, sores of all kinds, eczema, chapped hands and lips, sore eyes, corns, it's supreme. Seal-tite cure. 25c at A. W. Dows & Co.

that typhoid fever is recognized as a preventable disease and it should be the business of the medical profession, not that of the laity, to see that it is stamped out. He made a motion that the association appoint a committee of five of its members to act for it in the matter of taking the proper steps and making such efforts as may be necessary to endeavor to stamp out typhoid fever in this state. Dr. Charles V. Chapin of Providence, George Denney of Brookline, David D. Brough of Boston, David of Boston and Tobey of Clinton were appointed.

Dr. Brough of Boston said that he believed smallpox could be conveyed other than by direct contact, but he laid great stress upon the attention which should be given to mild cases of contagious diseases.

Quarantine Practice.
Prof. Milton J. Rosenau of Boston spoke upon "Modern Methods of Quarantine," speaking from his experience in such work in both temperate and tropical zones and tracing the growth of the quarantine idea down to the present time. At present, he said, we have only six diseases—yellow fever, cholera, typhoid fever, plague, smallpox and leprosy—against which we enforce a quarantine, and then for a limited number of days instead of forty days or more as used to be the case.

He referred to the old-time fear of relapsing fever caused, and said that only recently a case of it had been received in one of the hospitals without objection. He told of what modern science has shown of the work of rats and of mosquitoes in spreading diseases. He told briefly of the quarantines of various sorts and in different countries, and said he believed one of the most effective preventives of disease is the foreign inspection service, whereby passengers to this country are looked over by physicians before leaving foreign ports. He regretted that this valuable inspection is not so general as it was some years ago.

Old and New Methods.
The quarantine officer he likened to a coast defense though his work against an invisible foe, the simle having birth in his mind, he said, because of the reports of the guns at Fort Warren, where the coast artillery was at practice with the small guns. In a clean city there can be no grave danger of serious outbreaks of disease, he claimed, and therefore the quarantine should be to keep the cities clean, so that long restrictive quarantines will become a thing of the past.

Dr. Samuel H. Durgin told of the history of the quarantine work in Boston from 1864, when he began the work up to the present, illustrating the difference in methods and now by pointing out the uses for which the shed, in which the dinner was served, had been built.

After the meeting the whole party steamed across the harbor to view the U. S. S. Chicago, on which the naval reserves are having their summer service work.

LARGE INCREASE IN OUR FOREIGN COMMERCE DURING LAST TEN YEARS

Fruits and nuts valued at 458 million dollars have passed through ports of the United States during the last ten years. Of that amount, 285 million represents the value of imports from foreign countries, 156 million exports to foreign countries, 12 million receipts from non-tariff duties territories of the United States, and 5 million shipments to these territories.

The value of fruits and nuts imported into, and exported from the country in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1910, was in round terms 65 million dollars, or about one-third of the represented exports. A compilation made by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor states the year's imports of fruits and nuts at 36 million and exports at 19 million dollars.

A study of the commercial movements during the last decade or more develops the fact that domestic production is rapidly supplanting certain classes of fruits, formerly imported in large quantities. This applies especially to raisins, prunes, and oranges. Certain other lines, in which local production is still insufficient to meet home consumption, continue to increase in value of imports; notably bananas, figs, walnuts, coconuts and almonds. Comparing the imports of the year just ended with those of one and two decades ago, imports of fruits and nuts as a whole have increased from 31 million dollars in 1890 and 19 million in 1900 to about 36 million dollars in 1910. Oranges, which in 1890 showed a total importation of 2 million dollars, had by 1900 decreased to 1 million and by 1910 to less than 100 thousand dollars in value. Raisins in 1890 were valued at 2 million dollars, in 1900 at 1 million and in 1910 at 100 thousand dollars. Prunes showed in 1890 an importation of 1½ million dollars; in 1900, 48 thousand dollars, and in 1910, an even less value. Lemons were imported in 1890 to the value of 3 1-3 million dollars, in 1900 were 2 2-3 million, but in 1900 decreased to 2 million, or less than the figures of 1900. On the other hand, bananas, valued at 4 2-3 million in 1890, increased to 6 million in 1900, and nearly 12 million in 1910. Almonds, valued at less than 1 million dollars in 1890 and 1900, showed in 1910 a value of the value of more than 3 million dollars. Coconuts, in 1890 were imported to the value of $22 thousand dollars; in 1900, 703 thousand, and in 1910 were about 1 1-3 million dollars. Walnuts, first separately enumerated in 1903, have increased in value of imports from a little over 1 million dollars in that year to 3½ million in 1910.

On the export side a far more rapid growth has occurred since 1890. In that year the total value of all fruits and nuts exported from the country was but 4 million dollars; in 1900 the total had increased to nearly 12 million, and in 1910, about 19 million dollars. The principal articles contributing to this growth are apples, prunes, oranges, raisins, apricots, canned fruits and nuts. Exports of dried apples have increased from 1 million dollars in 1890 to 2 1-4 million in 1900 and a little over 2 million in 1910; apples, green or ripe, from less than 1 1-4 million in 1890 to 1 1-2 million in 1900 and 3 million in 1910; apples as a whole thus having increased from 2 to over 5 million in 20 years. Oranges of domestic production increased in value of exports from a quarter million dollars in 1890 to over 2 million in 1910; dried apricots, from 78 thousand dollars in 1890, the earliest year in which shown, to 1 million in 1910; prunes, from 1 2-3 million dollars in 1910; and less than 3 million in 1900, and less than 3 million in 1900. The exports of nuts were $28,000 in 1890, and in 1900 were stated at only 156 thousand dollars, compared with about 400 thousand dollars in the year just ended. Of the latter class peanuts is the chief factor, the exports in the last five years having amounted to nearly 20 million pounds, valued at 11 1-3 dollars.

Of foreign fruits consumed in the United States, bananas supply about one-third. The imported bananas come chiefly from Costa Rica, Honduras, and Panama in Central America, and the British West Indies, and Cuba.

Italy supplies practically all the lemons imported into the country. Of current, the Xante variety, produced in Greece, supplies most of the imports. Raisins, formerly coming in at the rate of 2 million dollars per annum, chiefly from Spain and Turkey in Asia, have practically disappeared as an article of import, and are now becoming an important article of export.

WOMEN BARRED

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Women stenographers apparently no longer are wanted in the government service.

This announcement was made yesterday at the civil service commission in an effort to put a stop to a steadily increasing flood of letters from women throughout the country who seek information about an examination for stenographers to be held Tuesday in all the states and territories.

The examination is for the purpose of recruiting only men stenographers and typists, the demand for whom the civil service commission has been unable to meet.

Practically all the various departments of the government are seeking to replace women stenographers with men, on the ground that the latter are more amenable to discipline, are more easily transferred to places where their services are needed and can more readily be drafted into other kinds of work.

COMMERCIAL LAW LEAGUE

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., July 21.—Only one session was held today by the Commercial Law League of America which is holding its 16th annual convention here today. After the regular forenoon meeting the delegates boarded a boat and sailed up the bay where one of the clambers for which the state is famous was prepared for them. The morning session was a brief one. A paper by N. W. Littlefield of Providence on "Commerce and the Bankruptcy Act" was read by Chester W. Barrows, his associate, the author being unable to attend because of illness. "Corporations as commercial collection agencies" was the subject of an address by Frederick Demman of New York and E. M. Sloman of Detroit.

spoke on the topic "Lawyers' Clubs."

Tomorrow the convention will close with the election of officers and the selection of a place for the next convention. A close contest is expected for the office of president between A. V. Cannon and J. Howard Rober of Philadelphia. President Henry Deutsch is not a candidate for re-election.

U. S. FLOUR, 75c Bag

$3.00 100 Lb. Bbl. $6.50 Wood Bbl.

You have heard of this brand of flour before, but the question is, have you tried it? If you have not, you should, for those of our customers who have given it a trial claim that it is superior to other brands which they had been buying at a price much higher than the price we are asking for this particular brand. This flour is blended and milled by a process which lends to it a flavor that cannot be found in other flours. The bread it produces is palatable and does not require one-half of the attention while baking that most brands need.

There have been so many inferior brands of butterine exposed that most people are inclined not to consider it at all for use on the table. Butterine and the "Vermont Brand Butterine" are as different as it is possible to differ products, and then again most of the mixtures which bear the name of butterine are manufactured and sold illegally. This, however, is not the case in "Vermont Brand Butterine," as it is compounded, rendered and prepared for delivery under the inspective board of the government and each and every tub is labelled with a seal which guarantees its purity.

WANTED! AND WANTED BADLY!

MAYOR OF LAWRENCE

Question Whether Statute Bars
Jordan's Election

LAWRENCE, July 21.—The conduct of municipal affairs, so far as a chief executive is concerned, continues to devolve upon Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen, pending City Solicitor Murphy's opinion on the question of who is mayor. The legal aspect of the situation resulting from the commitment of Mayor William P. White to the house of correction for conspiracy to bribe in seeking to oust Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department is by no means an easy one to solve.

In its order requesting an opinion from the city's legal adviser the board of aldermen did not simply ask if the mayor had a right to continue to serve. They wanted to know upon whom the duties of chief executive devolved and, if upon the president of the board of aldermen, what were the extent and scope of his duties.

Provision is made that in event of death, resignation or inability of the mayor to serve, the president of the board of aldermen becomes acting mayor. This is in only a temporary expediency, it would seem, as permanent appointive power is denied the acting mayor.

The city charter says that any member of the city council may be elected mayor when a vacancy may occur. In conflict with this, however, is section 27, chapter 25 of the public statutes, which sets forth that no member of the city council shall, during the term for which he is chosen, either by appointment or election of the city council, be eligible to any office, the salary of which is payable by the city.

This latter enactment was passed in 1886, many years subsequent to the adoption of the city charter. It is claimed that where the public statute and the city charter are in conflict the former supercedes, and should this be the case in the present emergency it would seem to indicate that Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen is barred from being chosen mayor, should it be decided that Mayor White cannot continue. Jordan's friends are anxious to see him fill out the remainder of the term and they feel that he is the logical candidate, if the legal issue does not preclude.

"BLUE SKY CITY"

That's What Pittsburg Will Be

PITTSBURG, July 21.—On the roof of one of Pittsburg's skyscrapers these summer days is the chief smoke inspector, J. M. Searle. Searle's job is to locate and tabulate by means of a telescope, he has, with him every smoke-stack of Greater Pittsburg from which he sees a column of smoke issuing. Pittsburg is determined to make itself a "Blue Sky City." Every smoke-stack Searle finds with smoke coming out of it offensively, he starts machinery in motion which results in the owner being fined. Baltimore and Ohio firemen who let smoke belch out of their engines in the city limits are suspended by their master mechanic for thirty days.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED
REDDING, Cal., July 21.—News has reached this city that Marion Beck, manager of the United States Smelting & Refining company, a large copper mine in Mexico, is in jail there as the result of a conspiracy among the native employees. It is said. Recently he became unpopular because of his opposition to drinking.

NEGRO PROPHET

Said to Have Deluded Girls by
Divine Claims

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A curious case of fanaticism has come to light in the arrest of a negro preacher calling himself Rev. Jonah Sturdivant and the stubbornness of his white women followers is still believing in his divine powers.

Sturdivant came here last March from the south with four young white women who had had themselves believed that he was a prophet and that his duty to obey his commands. The four young women are Addie Couding of Boston, Frederica Nightingale, a West Indian girl; Gertrude Monsen and Hilda Johnston, both Norwegian girls.

Gertrude Monsen is in a hospital here, believed to be dying from pellagra, brought on by fasting and the nervous excitement under which she has lived. Hilda Johnston is the mother of a child of which Sturdivant is the father. The two other girls are still praying for the release of their leader.

Hilda Johnston appears to have been made a victim. A Jewish girl whose name is unknown and who has since disappeared, but who was at that time a member of the band, received a manifestation that Hilda must marry the prophet. This the girl did not want to do, but finally she was persuaded to become his wife as a sign of her humility and her love of God. She was married to the man and is still in the hospital, her child having been born only a few days.

After the Jewish girl had revealed her manifestations, she and the prophet had a disagreement and he proceeded to batter her up. For this he was arrested and sentenced to three years in prison for assault. It now turns out that he already had a black wife, and when he has served his sentence he will be tried for bigamy.

Mrs. Mary Barrett of Nantucket came to Washington in search of Gertrude Monsen. She found her in the hospital in a serious condition. She found Miss Couding in a negro home and took her away and implored her to return to Boston. She refused to go. She said she was waiting a call to go to Africa.

She has been doing missionary work among the negroes of Washington and has been practically destitute. Her baggage as well as that of the other girls was held at the station as the charges were not paid. Miss Couding still professes to believe in Sturdivant and that the prison doors will fly open to him. She says she is going to Africa as a missionary and that in due time the means will be provided.

Agents of the board of charities who argued with her to leave Washington were unable to shake her determination to remain here until the "call" comes.

SUICIDE STORY

In Case of Ira Rawn
is Doubtful

CHICAGO, July 21.—The rumor late yesterday that Ira Rawn, late president of the Monon railroad, found fatally shot in his home here early yesterday morning was not killed by a burglar, as at first reported, but committed suicide, is apparently contradicted by the last letter Mr. Rawn wrote. It was addressed to W. A. Gardner, vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern, asking him to handle his private car between Chicago and Cisco lake next Saturday. Mr. Rawn's friends say that this letter is proof that he had no idea of taking his own life.

Monday afternoon a friend of Mr. Rawn related a long conversation with the late president of the road which bore upon the theory that Mr. Rawn was in splendid spirits.

"The talk was largely personal," said this friend, "and Mr. Rawn disclosed that he and Mrs. Rawn were arranging a 'honeymoon trip' to Europe late this fall and were keeping it a secret. He told me that when he was married he was too poor to take a wedding trip and that ever since his marriage he had been too busy to take one. Although Mrs. Rawn and I have had great opportunity for making trips," he said to me, "it dawned upon us suddenly that we had in reality never had a trip all alone. It seemed that on every occasion we had a guest or two and that we never had an old fashioned trip together. We agreed that it was about time that we had our honeymoon trip and decided to take it after all these years. So we have planned to steal away later in the fall after I have got the road in good shape, take a steamer in New York and go to Europe to wander around for a while with no one to molest us."

TAFT AT BAR HARBOR

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 21.—Another day of ideal weather called the president early ashore from the Mayflower this morning and before 9 o'clock he was on his way to the golf links of the Kebo valley club. Mr. Taft made a low score, 99, for the 18 holes in his first trial yesterday afternoon, but expected to lower his record today. Today's luncheon engagement for the Taft party was with the Nicholas Andersons of Washington. Mr. Taft will also hold a reception for the summer colony at the club this afternoon. Some time before nightfall he expects to have a conference with Chairman Emery of the tariff commission.

The regular residents of the island here are keenly disappointed over the evident intention of the president to devote the three days' stay to the fashionable cottagers from New York. First Selectman Bunker, head of the town government, wired to Eastport the other day asking Mr. Taft if he would consent to make a little speech to the townspeople.

GREAT LAWYER

Of the Sacred Heart Parish on the Church Grounds

Slide for Life the Thriller of Evening and General Amusements Were Provided to Meet the Tastes of All

There was a great outpouring of the members and friends of the Sacred Heart parish at the lawn fete on the church grounds yesterday afternoon and evening. Anybody who attended could see that the most elaborate arrangements had been made for the success of the event and the attendance was probably the largest seen at any gathering of the kind in the history of the parish.

Very few who were unacquainted with the environment of the church grounds realized that there is such a large and beautiful park in and near the church. It is almost as large as Columbus park in Belvidere, but it has the disadvantage of being in the rear of the church instead of in front. It is, nevertheless, a very beautiful spot and has a number of flower beds that indicate the skill and attention of some devotee of flower culture.

The decorations last evening were quite elaborate and consisted of lines of electric lights from the school building on the north side of Moore street crossing the street and then extending from the church down the avenue to the grounds. There were vari-colored lights so mingled that they produced a striking effect and the lines of Japanese lanterns and other decorations on the grounds added greatly to the brilliancy of the scene. In one corner of the grounds a dancing pavilion had been constructed and the waxed floor was as smooth as that of any hall in Lowell. Music for dancing was furnished by the Colonial orchestra. In another corner was located an auto merry-go-round in which the young people took great delight. Its use and the music attending to their love of excitement. In a third corner was constructed an open-air theatre and here John X. Payne conducted a minstrel show with features of his own creation that were well worth the price of admission. Mr. Payne's talent as an entertainer is well known and the program he presented in the afternoon and evening, while of a lighter vein than the ordinary, was still highly entertaining and enjoyed to the utmost by all who attended.

Arranged at suitable intervals on the grounds were various tables of refreshments. There was a candy table, a tonic and lemonade table, together with several games that assisted the people in keeping up a continual round of amusement.

The main attraction in the line of excitement was the aerial feat, or slide for life, by Prof. Hochsahner. A strong rope had been suspended from the highest portion of the school building on Moore street and descending to the rear of the grounds near the dancing pavilion. On the rope a kind of pulley by his teeth and afterwards turning head downwards and swinging by his feet, the pulley passing very rapidly along the rope. During his descent he carried lights that swung around him and made him appear much like a comet of flames. The feat was performed in the afternoon and again in the evening without any serious mishap.

A feature of Mr. Payne's minstrel show was a boxing match given by Joseph Stowell and Charles Gallagher.

Impersonating Jeffries and Johnson, the title of the sketch given was "Down on the Swampy River." Those who took part were as follows: William O'Connell, Thomas Higgins, John X. Payne, Arthur McCan, Fred Chapin, O'Connell Brothers, Joshua Chapin, Hugh Downey and Miss Mary E. Whiteley, the latter as accompanist.

The management of the affair was under the personal supervision of Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., and he was assisted by the following committee:

Mortimer Sheehan, James Scott, George Jordan, Martin Flahy, John McManis, William Keller and Timothy Keefe.

The general fee was in charge of the ladies of the Holy Rosary and Children of Mary Sodality, the following officers of which acted as a general committee: Mrs. Isabelle Kennedy, Miss Mary E. Wood, presidents; Mrs. Patrick Gookin, Mrs. James Patrick, Miss Lillian Holden, Miss Elizabeth Atskella, Miss Nellie Murphy.

The completeness of the arrangements and the general success of the evening's work were due to the management and the various committees, while the attendance proved that the parish is ready to turn out to any event of the kind projected by Rev. Fr. Smith in the interest of the church.

The ice cream table was in charge of the following ladies: Mrs. Isabelle Kennedy, matron, assisted by Mrs. Pat-

WOMEN MADE BALD

By Taking Too Many Trips in Automobiles

According to a dispatch in the New York Journal on March 14, 1910, a distinguished dermatologist says: "Among other things, that motoring is bad for women's hair, and that they must 'either cut down the number of auto trips, or run the awful chances of becoming bald.' The quantity of dust, dirt and disease germs that settle upon the head and hair while riding in automobiles is something dreadful, as every rider knows. There is really but one thing to do, and that is to wash the scalp and hair thoroughly. Don't use ordinary soaps or shampoos, because they often contain too much alkali, and that makes the hair fall out. Use Birt's Head Wash for cleansing the head, and use it just as often as you can. It is the finest and best preparation known for this purpose. It is made of refined Soap, Coughin Coconut Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. It not only removes every vestige of dirt, dust and germs, but stimulates the scalp, removes dandruff and leaves a glossy, silky sheen on the hair. You have no idea how refreshing and delightful Birt's Head Wash has been used. It is now put up in 25c tubes for the accommodation of automobilists and travellers, as well as in the regular 50c jars. At all druggists.

A.O.H. DELEGATES

Send Messages to Pope and President

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—The New England delegation to the A. O. H. convention is in a fever of enthusiasm. They led the mighty burst of applause that greeted the presentation of a message to the pope and the president made by President Matthew Cummings in his report, and expressed a conviction that the pronouncement will go far toward unifying the Irish of all countries and bring nearer the ideals of a world-wide Hibernianism and the ultimate independence of Ireland.

They gave particular approval of the president's words: "I believe that 95 per cent of the membership of all Irish organizations are sick and tired of the bickering and squabbling going on continually between certain leaders of Irish societies. The whole race has been humiliated and scandalized before the world by the constant newspaper warfare that has continued for years by certain Irishmen on both sides the Atlantic. We have wasted and practically destroyed our influence here in America. Use such methods; instead of fighting England, our only enemy. We have spent all our time fighting one another."

It is conceded that President Cummings' official recommendation that a commission be appointed to confer with the United Irish league and Clan Na Gael leaders, was well received. It is also conceded that the report will have the effect of clinching Cummings' re-election, that he may superintend the working out of his projects for unification and race liberty.

The New Englanders are having the time of their lives. Many from New England people have called upon them and the whole town has united in their entertainment. They are leaders in convention work and yet are not letting opportunity for personal enjoyment go by.

Among the prominent Massachusetts delegates to the convention is A. G. McCarthy of the Hibernian uniform rank in America. He is easily one of the most popular men here. Massachusetts also hosts the two young delegates in her representation of 33. These are James P. Cross and John J. McCarthy, aged 18 and 19, both from Fall River.

The convention yesterday ordered that telegrams of devotion to the flag and institutions of the United States be sent to President Taft and telegrams of love and loyalty to the pope.

PRISON SYSTEM

Mr. Churchill Outlines Sweeping Reforms

LONDON, July 21.—In the house of commons last night Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, outlined intended sweeping reforms in the prison system, which were to be inaugurated partly by administrative order, and partly by new bills in parliament.

In an impassioned speech, which greatly impressed the house, he is to treat criminals with more humanitarian methods and, as far as possible, to avoid their degradation in prison life. Briefly, he wishes to give longer time for the payment of fines and to prevent imprisonment for their nonpayment, and to substitute disciplinary or punitive methods for imprisonment in order to allow political and minor offenders to enjoy political and suffragette, various privileges, such as for conver-

BADLY INJURED

Man Met With Serious Accident

Herbert Francis, aged 35 years, and employed as a carpenter at the Pratt & Forrest Lumber company, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon about 5.30 o'clock. In some unaccountable manner he was struck with a board, causing an injury to the abdomen. He was taken to St. John's hospital, where an examination showed that he was suffering from internal injuries. He resides at 85 Fourth street.

LAKESIDE THEATRE

Some one said "Master and Man" should be popular. It is popular since it tells a thrilling heart story with more than ordinary dramatic strength and ability and is further enhanced by picturesque settings. The crowds have steadily increased and the play this week is perhaps the best liked bill of the season so far.

Mr. James Thatcher plays the part of "O'Neil," and plays it far above harsh criticism, as does Miss Florence Parr, who has the role of "O'Neil's sweetheart and plays the part so as to quench any doubt as to her ability to portray any role she may be called upon to enact in a capable manner. The play itself is a dainty little love story of beauty and charm, and brings back up all the memory of the days when we were sweet sixteen and have twenty-one and life had a kiss waiting for us somewhere at the close of the long summer day.
